

Wake Forest, Apps Are Still Undeclared

In a year of upsets and football surprises two North Carolina teams have survived the first five weeks and are still ranked among the unbeaten teams of the nation.

Wake Forest College's Demon Deacons have captured three games and tied one, while Appalachian State has captured four and tied one in the North State Conference.

Wake Forest, with a smashing triumph over North Carolina last Saturday, 13-7, and Clemson Tigers of South Carolina are the only members of the Southern Conference listed among the unbeaten column although the season has not reached the half-way mark.

Clemson has won four straight victories and has a perfect record to date.

The Deacons and Boston College played to a 7-7 tie in the season's opener and then Coach D. C. Walker's eleven ran through Richmond, 43-0, and William and Mary, 47-0, and defeated Carolina, 13-7.

The Deacons still have George

Washington, Clemson, Duke, N. C. State and South Carolina on schedule.

Appalachian State has won from Guilford, Western Carolina, Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba and played a 14-14 tie with Elon, the preseason favorites in the North State League race.

The Mountaineers still have games to play with High Point, Tampa, Eastern Carolina, Presbyterian and Atlantic Christian College.

Dr. A. P. Kephart, owner-director of Camp Yonahlossee, who attended the fourth annual ACA Workshop on Camping at Bynden Wood, Penn., October 12-15, has been appointed a member of the division on Program Research and Studies, which has been named to make recommendations to the American Camping Association in that field.

The Workshop has been set up

Under the auspices of the American Camping Association to redefine the administrative functions of ACA for the next several years. Three main areas are being studied: Administration, Program, and Finances.

SCREEN RESERVISTS

Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, has suggested that no one—not even a congressman—should hold a commission in the active reserves unless he can be ready for service when needed. A method should be set up, he declares, to transfer reservists drawing drill pay to the inactive reserve unless they are available for service when called upon.
