Garden Club Meets With Mrs. VanNopen

The Blue Ridge Garden Club met on Wednesday May 16th for a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. J. J. Van Noppen with Mrs. James Winkler as co-hostess. Twelve members were present.

Mrs. B. W. Stallings reported on the inspection of the Model Mile and that the planting had been done and the markers placed along the highway.

Mrs. R. W. Watkins was in charge of the program and gave an interesting talk on "Conservation of our Natural Resources", birds, trees and flowers. Mrs. Van Noppen showed the members her interesting wild flower garden.

The Hodges Gap Club Holds Meeting

The Hodges Gap Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Frank J. Brown May 18. There were twelve members present.

Mrs. Betty Edwards presented a very helpful program on canning and how to care for your pressure canner. She gave everyone a list of the seven basic foods and a chart showing the amount of foods needed for one individual for a year. These charts are to aid a person in the amount of each different food they can, and to save work also. Mrs. Brown served very delicious and colorful refreshments.

Any Time Is Open Season for Moths

Most of us think that summer is the moth season. This is not true, however, for moths can breed at temperatures as low as fifty-five degrees. For this reason, it is important to keep moth crystals that kill by gas asphyxiation in closets, chests and garment bags the year around.

Household items such as mattresses, wall-to-wall carpeting and upholstered furniture should be sprayed several times a year with a reliable insect spray.

Moths and silverfish, the rayon and paper-eating insect, are not killed by unpleasant odors. They are killed by direct contact with sprays and by gas as crystals evaporate in air tight places.

Silver-fish breed around bathroom tile and cement. Ordinary bathroom cleansers have no effect on them, so a spray should be used here, too.

The proper amount of nuggets or crystals is about one pound for every one hundred cubic feet of space. The gases do not rise, so the crystals should be placed at the top of the garment bag and folded in with each fold of blankets or draperies.

Most modern vacuum cleaners have spray attachments which can be filled with crystals and do an excellent spraying job.

The best way to go about storing clothes and household articles is to first make sure the garments are perfectly clean. Then—sun them for a couple of hours, if possible. Next—spray them and place in airtight storage bags with a generous supply of crystals or nuggets at both the top and bottom of the bag.
