Civic Group Fights Plan Of Parkway

Elkin.—The Northwest Development Association set in motion last week the machinery with which it hopes to oppose the building of any motels or restaurants by the Federal government along the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Meeting for the first time this year, the association instructed a committee to prepare a resolution to the National Park Service expressing the association's opposition to any federal building along the parkway.

The committee had been appointed earlier to look into the proposed parkway building plan.

"This is the first time the association has gone on record as being completely opposed to a building plan in its area," a spokesman said.

The reasons given by the association for the opposition were because there are existing facilities off the parkway for the tourist trade and because, once the federal plan was carried out it would deal a crippling blow to all tourist development off the parkway and present owners would suffer.

Members of the association said they felt it was the responsibility of the federal government to erect signs and print maps along the parkway indicating tourist areas nearby.

The association also named heads for its four divisions; agriculture, industry, travel and recreation, and community development.

They are: Agriculture, Wayne Corpening of Winston-Salem; industry, R. G. Chatham Jr., of Elkin; travel and recreation, Stanley A. Harris of Boone; and community development, Mrs. Charles Gough of Yadkin county.

During the meeting, the question of a possible division in the judging of this year's community development judging contest was raised.

It was contended that the placing of small towns and rural communities together in judging was unfair.

Members of the association said they hoped a separation of the types of localities could be worked out.

The opening session of the year was presided over by Association President Herman Coe of Dobson.

Younce Named Man Of Year

Lenoir, Jan. 18.—Charles Lee Younce, sales manager of Lenoir Mirror Company of East Harper School, was crowned Lenoir's outstanding young man of 1956 at the Lenoir Moose Lodge last night.

The second annual award is a project of the Lenoir Junior Chamber of Commerce and was inaugurated last year when Edd Perdue, local insurance agent, was the recipient of the honor.

At last night's Junior Chamber Ladies' Night banquet, Perdue was presented a plaque for being selected as the outstanding Jaycee member of the year. The plaque for the outstanding new Jaycee went to Leslie (Sonny) Hines.

Dr. Cordon To Sing For College

Dr. Norman Cordon, North Carolina's first Metropolitan opera star, will present a series of four opera broadcasts, especially for Appalachian State Teachers College. These broadcasts will originate in station WMIT at Mount Mitchell over FM radio, the first one being presented Sunday, January 27, at 2:15 p. m.

The opera to be presented in the first broadcast will be "Aida," one of Giuseppe Verdi's most perfected operas because of its spectacle and nobly passionate music. "Aida" is an absorbing music drama in Italian.

There will be a special FM unit set up in the Fine Arts Auditorium this Sunday afternoon. The broadcast is on tape with Dr. Cordon as commentator. Dr. Cordon will also be here in person to make introductory comments. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Britain is building a military airfield in the Maldives Islands in the Indian Ocean to protect her strategic air routes to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East.

PLAYGROUND FENCING of this type will be installed around the Boone Elementary School paved playground by the Parent Teachers Association. The fence will be placed at the north and south ends of the field to protect the children from passing cars on the north end and to keep them from tumbling down the steep embankment on the south end. Plans for raising the money to purchase the fence were discussed Monday night at a meeting of several members of the association, with April 15 set as the date for finishing the installation. Cost will be $950.00. Two five foot gates will be included in the north section of the fence, with none needed in the lower end.

Annual Band Clinic To Be Held Friday And Saturday

Appalachian State Teachers College and the town of Boone will be hosts again this year to the annual Band Clinic which is being held on campus Friday and Saturday, January 25 and 26.

Approximately one hundred band students from 23 schools are expected to participate in the band this year which will be directed by Bernard Fitzgerald from the University of Kentucky.

Registration for the clinic will start at 8:45 on Friday morning in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building. The various band directors will again assist in the section rehearsals which will follow at 9:30. Full band will begin at 10:30. After a full morning and afternoon of rehearsal the students will go to their places to stay for the night. The boys will be housed in the men's gym housing facilities while the girls will be housed by the various people in town who have volunteered to keep them.

Saturday's schedule will include rehearsals in the morning and afternoon in preparation for the concert which will be given that night at 7:30 o'clock in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

The schools represented with their band directors are as follows: Appalachian, J. Perry Watson; Drexel, Kathryn Siphers; Glen Alpine, Ted Orr; Granite Falls, K. R. Little; Hildebran, Edison Day; Kernersville, Mrs. McMahon; King, Charles Driver; Glen, John Heaton; Elkin, David Gentry; Marion, Bernard Hirsch; Morganton, M. T. Cousins;

Welfare Effort Lays Stress On Prevention

Public Welfare in Watauga county enters 1957 with continued stress on preventive, protective and rehabilitative services for individuals and families.

The public welfare program and public assistance grants have remained consistent during 1956 in their reflection of economic trends and change in county population.

The number of old age assistance and aid for dependent children recipients is remaining substantially the same, but the number of aid for the permanently and totally disabled recipients is steadily increasing.

Non-financial services which do not involve money payments are now making a major contribution to solving problems and meeting needs. Public assistance grants of money are a part only, but a vital part, of the resources relied upon by county departments of public welfare to help people work out their own problems. A variety of other services supplement these grants.

A monthly average of about 530 persons, currently receive financial assistance through Watauga county department of public welfare. Some of these receive other types of services as well. Approximately 200 persons receive each month, services which do not include money payments.

For December 1956, public assistance grants in Watauga county were given as follows: old age assistance to 324 persons, an average monthly payment of $33.80; aid to dependent children to 471 persons, an average monthly payment of $18.20; aid to permanently and totally disabled to 73 persons, an average monthly payment of $30.30. Federal funds provided about 75 per cent of these payments and State and county money supplied the remainder.

On a monthly average about 13 other persons were given general assistance averaging $10 per month per person wholly from county funds.

During the past fall welfare staff members have attended a number of professional meetings: The Southeastern Conference of the American Public Welfare Association at Asheville, a meeting on adoptions in Morganton, a meeting on Juvenile and Domestic Relations Courts at Morganton and a caseworker's meeting at Sparta.

On a monthly average about 13 other persons were given general assistance averaging $10 per month per person wholly from county funds.

Dairy Meeting To Be Held

A special dairy meeting will be held at the County Courthouse in Boone on Tuesday, January 29, at 7:00 p. m. to discuss the dairy program in Watauga county.

Mr. J. D. George and Mr. Guy Parsons, Extension Dairy Specialists, will be with us to discuss dairying in our county. All dairymen are invited to attend.

Dublin Theatre Group To Appear

DERMOT McNAMARA and HELENA CARROLL

Dermot McNamara and Michael Conaree, young actors connected with the Dublin (Ireland) Theatre, will appear in sketches and cuttings from modern Irish drama at the College Auditorium on Monday evening, January 28, at 8 o'clock.

Both of the young actors are native Irishmen and are graduates of drama schools in Ireland. They have not only had experience with the Dublin Theatre but have also played with the Abbey Theatre and have toured Great Britain. As foreign-born actors growing up in one of the greatest theatrical environments produced in modern times, they should bring an unusual show to this locality.

The pair in "Curtains Up!" will present the fourth in the series of public programs at the college for this season. Their skillful acting and their authentic style in interpreting great modern Irish drama have delighted stage and television audiences wherever they have gone.

Only college students who show their ID cards and faculty members and townspeople who possess season tickets will be admitted to the show.

Mrs. Church Is Contributor To N. C. Journal

Laura F. Church, teacher in the Valle Crucis School, has written an article which is one of the feature stories in the January issue of the North Carolina Education Journal.

The article is entitled "A Chronicle of the Olden Days," which is a perusal of a hundred-year-old register from New Hanover County.

This issue of the magazine is the Centennial issue of the Journal, commemorating the first one hundred years of the existence of the teaching profession as an organization in the state.
