

Rutherfordwood Is Winner Avery-Watauga Playoff

Rutherfordwood won the Avery-Watauga League play-off championship in two straight games over the Crossnore Highlanders. Eddie Critcher, veteran right-hander, pitched the Rutherfordwood team to a 6-7 victory in the first game. Fourteen year old Jim Barringer worked masterfully on the mound for the Highlanders.

Rutherfordwood had little trouble in the second game as Les Grimes held the Highlanders in check as Rutherfordwood pounded out an 8-2 win. Lyle Cook and Herman Triplett left hit for the circuit to lead the batting for Rutherfordwood.

Trophies were presented to Rutherfordwood and the Crossnore All-Stars as play-off and regular season winners. Much interest was shown in voting for the winner of the sportsmanship trophy. In a tight race, the team from Rich Mountain was judged to be the winners. Robert Ragan accepted the trophy. Exceptional sportsmanship was evident throughout the entire baseball season.

Livestock Exhibits To Spark State Fair

The growing importance of livestock to the state's economy will be the theme of a special series of 30 graphic exhibits depicting the story of "Food Meats—from Farm to Table" at the N.C. State Fair, October 15 through 19.

Featuring food meats and the livestock industry this year is a continuation of the big fair's program of highlighting each year a major element of the state's rural economy.

In past years, tobacco, small grains and dairying have been featured. And now the state's fastest growing farm activity will have its story told from breeding and raising of the cow or hog on the farm, through the steps of marketing, processing and distribution to the preparation of food meats for the table.

Only recently a leading banker-farmer of the state astounded a group of listeners by declaring that livestock production would surpass tobacco as the principal money crop for the North Carolina farmer within the next ten years. In preparing his listeners for this statement, M. Edmund Aycock, managing director of the agricultural division of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Raleigh, explained that the money value of the state's poultry production had already passed that of cotton and the value of all food meat animals and poultry this year would be nearly one-third of the total farm income.

Rev. Mr. Hutchins is a native of Charlotte, and received his B.A. degree from Davidson College. He has done post graduate work at Emory University.

Besides the speakers, the program will include daily sing-spirations, seminars, and dormitory discussion in both the men's and women's dormitories. The speakers will engage in discussions with the students.

The Religious Council is composed of students from the various church in Boone, which seek to give the students a Christian outlook on their college life.

Religious Week Begins At ASTC

"Are You a Hitchhiker?" will be the general theme of Religious Emphasis Week as it is celebrated by college students September 29-October 3. The Religious Council of Appalachian State Teachers College sponsors the annual event.

Guest speakers for the occasion will include the Right Reverend M. George Henry, D.D., Dr. Carl W. McMurray, and the Reverend Orion N. Hutchinson.

Mountaineers

Except for Justice, the same starters will again be ready on Saturday night. John Ponis and Cal Burleson will be at the end positions, Jim Conger and Bob White at the tackles, Jerry Dunn and Phil Triplett at the guards, and Dick Roberte at center. The backfield will be made up of Midkiff at fullback, Dean Upton and Glenwood Wilson at the halfbacks, and Glendenning at the quarterback position.

Although Western Carolina's two previous starts have ended in defeat, the Cullowhee boys are expected to prove a formidable foe for the Apps. They will be out to change the total games won in their favor in the Appalachian-Western Carolina series. They have won only two games in the last twelve starts with the Mountaineers.

Child Labor Laws Are Cited By Welfare Dept.

The county department of public welfare is concerned about children working during school hours and other possible violations of State and Federal child labor laws, according to a statement by Dave P. Mast, county superintendent of public welfare.

The county welfare department is responsible for issuing of labor permits under the direction of the State Department of Labor for persons seeking compliance with the provisions of the child labor laws. Violations of the child labor laws are reported to the State Department of Labor.

Some of the laws applicable to children: children under fourteen years of age may not be employed in any occupation other than working for their parents or guardians, except in rare instances.

Sixteen years of age is the minimum age for most occupations. However, children may gain employment at fourteen if the situation meets the approval of the county welfare department and no hazards are involved in the occupation.

One point of concern to welfare officials and public school officials as well is the employment of minor children during school hours. Children under sixteen years of age may not under any circumstances be employed during school hours. A child from fourteen to sixteen may work not more than three hours on school days and not more than eight hours other days. Children of this age may work not more than eighteen hours a week during school weeks and not more than forty hours a week during summer and vacation periods, according to the provisions of the law.

Her form of exercise is still dancing, which she does quite well. When she has time she likes to go to Martha Graham's Studio, but if there is not time she "reaches for the stars." Stretching, she thinks, is the best form of exercise for women.

Her domestic arts are limited primarily to the chafing dish. She impresses people with her trick of emptying things from the can into a pan and then into the chafing dish, a touch that requires no skill but always makes people think something very "special" is being prepared.

Miss Luce, returning this month from a visit to Italy, will appear at Appalachian in her interpretation of Aldous Huxley's essay "Fashions in Love." Tickets for admission to the performance may be purchased at the door of the Physical Education Building on the night of the performance.

Warns Against Check Flashers

The State Merchants Association has warned of three different persons cashing bad checks in North Carolina recently, said Stanley A. Harris, manager of the Boone Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

The first has used the name of J. M. McGhee. He presents an Esso credit card and a drivers license as identification. They, too, are fraudulent.

The second is Nathan F. Daniels, who has drawn checks on Jack Stacy. They are forgeries.

The third is Walter Crain, who tried to "pull big one" on the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company at Wilmington. He had large checks on American National Bank at Kimball, Nebraska, and a fraudulent cashier's check for $5,700 from a bank in Texarkana.

Mr. Harris said notice had been received from the post office this week that Frank Burton Frilot and Milton S. Mermell, both notorious criminals, are passing stolen money orders from a post office in Idaho.

Two men cashing checks on McLean Motor Lines, Johnson Motor Lines, and Chrysler Corporation have been captured.

The Merchants Association of Boone and Watauga County urges all of its members to be sure they cash no checks unless they know the person getting the money.

BIG PLASTIC ROOF

Concord, N.H.—A New Hampshire manufacturer recently announced that he had built a plastic roof large enough to cover three football fields. The roof will be shipped to Brussels and used for the United States pavilion at the 1958 Brussels World Fair.

Pullet Show Called Best Yet

The sixth annual 4-H Pullet Show and Sale that was held Thursday, September 19th, is considered the best show to date.

Eight club members exhibited blue ribbon pullets, one received a red ribbon and one a white ribbon.

These winning blue ribbons were: Burl Norris, Larry Richardson, Janice Tesler, Russell Swift, Ronald Swift, Jerry South, and Harold Keller. The red ribbon was won by Bobby Glenn and the white ribbon went to Wilma Haga-

The pullets averaged $2.39 per bird which is the highest average price in six years.

The show is sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Paul said to Mr. Ed:

FIGHTING SPIRIT

The tall, dignified man joined the crowd in front of a bargain counter, in an attempt to get a very special pair of hose for his wife. He inched his way patiently but was buffeted here and there by the women and made no progress.

Suddenly he lowered his head, stretched out his arms, and barged through the crowd.

"Can't you act like a gentleman?" inquired a cold feminine voice at his elbow.

"I've been acting like a gentleman for the past hour," replied the man, still charging forward. "From now on I'm going to act like a lady."
