Three Thousand At Lowe's Opening

More than three thousand persons visited Lowe's store during their Thursday, Friday, Saturday opening event, according to Mr. Clifford Edmisten, manager of the store.

Trade was brisk for an opening crowd, he said, and Appliance Manager Hoyt Edmisten reported unusually heavy appliance buying for an opening event. "We were delighted with the traffic," he said, "and were surprised at the number of people who came to our opening for the purpose of making a purchase."

"Major appliances are not bought on impulse. Most purchasers require a budget payment plan. Some came with the mistaken impression that we had no such plan. Actually, of course, we have a very good budget payment plan, comparable to any good modern merchandising firm, and we want people to understand that."

INFLUENCING WEATHER

Two Government agencies have confirmed what most people have known for some time—there's little you can do about the weather except talk about it.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it may not be able to do much about the weather, but the fancy satellites it plans will enable weather men to predict its behavior with greater accuracy.

Fifty per cent of the water used in this country is used for agricultural purposes.
