Miss Troutman is Bride Of Mr. Cook

MRS. WILLIAM BUNTON COOK

At the First Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, on June 11, at seven o'clock in the evening, Miss Peggy Kees Troutman and Mr. William Bunton Cook were wed by Reverend Robert Marshburn. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edgar Troutman of Route 7, Statesville, and he is Mrs. William Cook's son, Route 1, Boone, and the late Mr. Bernard Cook.

Virginia Campbell of Troutman, organist, presented a program of organ music prior to the ceremony. Soloist Millie Elliott of Shelby sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and closed with a selection entitled, "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of her own making, a floor length dress of peau de soie, with re-embroidered Alencon lace around the neckline and cap sleeves. Over the skirt of triple box pleats was a detachable train overlain by tulle and outlined with Alencon lace. The tulle was covered with appliques of lace, and a flat bow formed the soft bustle. The fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a coronet of pearls and the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias centered with a white orchid. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond-studded, cultured pearl pendant.

Maid of honor was her sister, Miss Dorothy Troutman. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hall, Mrs. Thomas Pierce, and Miss Sue Ellen Goodwin. The flower girl was Miss Loretta Goodwin. The bridesmaids wore floor length dresses of brocade taffeta in pink with cap sleeves, triple box pleated skirts, and bows at the back of the waists. The head pieces were bows made of the dress fabric, covered with a short veil. They carried sprays of spider mums in shades of pink and rose; the flower girl carried a basket of rose petals.

Best man was Edsel Cook of Boone; the ushers were Lyle Cook, Kyle Hodges of Boone, and Jimmy Troutman of Statesville.

The bride's mother wore a sheath dress of ashes of roses lace over satin with a hat and bag of the same fabric. Both the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother wore corsages of cimbidium orchids. Mrs. William Cook wore a sheath dress of pink and white with a lace jacket and bone accessories. The grandmothers wore white spider mums corsages.

Miss Troutman, a 1958 graduate from Troutman High School, is a rising senior at Appalachian State Teachers College, majoring in home economics. Mr. Cook, who graduated from Appalachian High School with the class of 1958, is also a rising senior at Appalachian State Teachers College and is a math and science major.

After the wedding, the bride's parents gave a reception at their home. The home was beautifully decorated with regal lillies, magnolia blossoms, easter reed daisies, babies' breath and pink roses, bells of Ireland, pink glads, white spider mums, and gardenias.

Greeting the guests at the door and presenting them to the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thompson. Mrs. William Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Troutman, and the wedding party constituted the receiving line. Miss Millie Elliott presided at the bride's register. Miss Louise Goodwin and Mrs. Marshall Goodwin poured

Cake Cutting Given Friday

Mrs. Len Hagaman, Mrs. J. P. L. Turner and Mrs. Marshall Hargrave entertained the wedding party of Miss Jo Ellen Brooks and Mr. Richard Byron Godfrey at a cake-cutting Friday evening following the rehearsal.

The table was covered with a cut-work cloth, and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses, daisies and baby-breath in a silver epergne. The crystal punch bowl was placed at one end of the table and the wedding cake at the other. The five-tiered wedding cake was decorated with spun sugar orchids and lilies of the valley, the top tier supported by four cupids and topped with a cluster of white orchids. After the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice the cake was served by Mrs. Hubert Boney of Teache, and Mrs. Walter Wash of Midway, Kentucky.

Miss Anne Sharpe of Greensboro, and Miss Jane Hart of High Point presided at the punch bowl. Miss Sarah Hagaman, Miss Marsha Hargrave and Miss Pam Hamby of Boone assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. L. Turner of Greensboro said goodbyes.

The wedding party and out-of-town guests for the Godfrey-Brooks wedding were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Ranch Motel on Saturday at 12:00 noon by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Godfrey of High Point, parents of the bridegroom. The mantle and tables were decorated with native mountain foliage and flowers. The bride and groom's places at the table were marked with a corsage and a boutonniere. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey greeted guests at the door.

Beaver Dam Club News

The Beaver Dam Community Club met June 7 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Swift.

The meeting was opened by the vice president. For devotion, Mrs. May Robinson read the 8th chapter of Luke. Mr. Robinson led in prayer.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The report was made that the floor in the community building had been cleaned. It is now ready to paint.

Miss Childers showed some slides and made an interesting talk on them. Mr. Richardson also attended.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Davis. The next meeting will be Wednesday, June 21, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Robinson.

Piano Workshop Starts Monday Under Direction Freundlich

The Music Department of Appalachian State Teachers College announces its 1961 Piano Workshop which begins Monday in the Fine Arts Building. The workshop will be under the direction of Irwin Freundlich, member of the Piano Department at Juilliard School of Music, and the coordinator of the workshop will be Earny P. Hotard, Jr., piano and organ instructor of the Music Department at the college.

Mr. Freundlich conducted a workshop on the Appalachian campus last summer. He has taught at Juilliard since 1936. He has conducted Master Classes on the campus at Bennington College in Vermont since 1953, and has done much writing and lecturing on music.

Mr. Freundlich collaborated with James Friskin on "Music for the Piano," a comprehensive manual to the repertoire from 1500 to 1952—a book which is used widely throughout the United States.

On Thursday evening, June 22, Mr. Freundlich will present a recital in the Fine Arts Auditorium, and the following Thursday evening, June 29, another recital will be presented by his wife, Lillian, pianist, who is active in New York City teaching piano and concertizing.

Warehousemen Told That Political Alertness Needed

French Lick, Indiana, June 12.—Burley warehousemen from seven states were told by their president, Albert G. Clay, that "never before has political alertness been more important." Clay's remarks were made in his annual report which opened the convention of the Burley Auction Warehouse Association at the French Lick-Sheraton Hotel. The election of directors and adoption of resolutions were events scheduled to follow Clay's address.

B. A. W. A.'s president told his membership that in the months ahead they must "... be on guard to prevent further government restrictions and regulations that would work to the detriment of our free enterprise system." To prevent this, he said, "We must keep the warehouse industry healthy and above reproach."

He recommended that future goals should be "... farmer confidence in the warehouse industry, positive leadership on matters of policy affecting the tobacco program and improved public relations with all segments of our tobacco economy."

At the afternoon session, the group was scheduled to hear Dr. James Ralph, assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Ronnie Thomas Captures Carolina's Open; 'Largest' Purse Paid In Event

Ronnie Thomas, in his first year as a professional and entered in his first Carolinas Open, walked away with top honors and first money last week at Boone Golf Club, scene of the 1961 Carolinas Open.

Thomas was assisted by a smile from Dame Fortune, a 15th hole Nemesis for Billy Joe Patton, and his own final round 5 under par 66, giving him the winning 209 score, 3 strokes in front of Billy Joe Patton's 212, second best score in the event.

It was reported to be the largest Carolinas Open in the history of the event, starting 130 players, and paying the largest purse ever paid in a sectional tournament.

The event was strengthened by the entry of such colorful and popular golfing figures as Mike Souchak, Billy Joe Patton and Dave Smith.

Souchak's entry necessitated his driving 14 hours non-stop to arrive here from Memphis, Tenn., where he took second place in the tough Memphis Open last week.

It was Souchak's first appearance on the Boone course, a handicap that he never overcame insofar as being a real competitor for first place, despite the fact that he was widely regarded as the best player entered. Souchak turned in a good score, despite his first round 4 over par 75. Ironically, his big trouble came from a poor shot on the 10th, rather than from the disadvantage of not knowing the course. It still stands as a tribute to his golfing ability that despite this poor start he still tied for 4th place money.

But it was Ronnie Thomas' day — and his tournament, and his ability stands unchallenged with the only 66 turned in from a field of 130 players in three days of play. Here is how he did it: He took a par on Number One; was on Number Two with 2 shots, sinking a long putt to give him a 3. He followed with a birdie on Number 3, took a par on Number 4, repeated the birdie shot on Number 5. This brought him to the dangerous 6th, with a 4 under par.

He played this trouble-maker safe — took a par on the next three to finish the front nine still 4 under. Thomas started the back side with a par on 10 and 11, taking a birdie on 12 to give him a five under par. He then took a par on 13, birdied the 14th for a 6 under, took a par on the 15th, a bogey on the 16th, taking par on the final

Guard Goes Best Strawberries Sold For Ten Dollars

National Guardsmen of the Watauga county area are among the 8,000 soldiers of North Carolina's 30th Division training in summer maneuvers at Fort Bragg this week.

Approximately 40 men, under their commanding officer, Lt. David G. Bynum, left Boone Sunday morning for a two-week encampment. The local guard unit is the 120 Infantry, Co. C, 2nd Battle Group.

They joined troopers from all over North Carolina, as far west as Sylva, and northeast as Elizabeth City.

Various units were divided into schools Monday morning. Some of the troopers reported for driver training in armored personnel carriers. Some began lessons with tanks, some began learning crash procedures and fire fighting; others took up machine gun firing and rocket launcher training.

The training is an annual event, when guardsmen go to Fort Bragg for two weeks of training in the latest fighting methods.

The best crate of strawberries in the Rotary Club's strawberry show and sale last week brought ten dollars. Lester Matheson had the top berries and was winner in the show which had ten exhibitors. The sale was held immediately after the show in front of Kirk's Restaurant Friday afternoon.

Five 4-H Club boys showed their berries, and four adult growers entered the event. This year is the first time adults were allowed to display strawberries.

More than a hundred gallons of strawberries were sold in the sale.

Blue and red ribbons were given the exhibitors. Matheson, Joe Moody and Johnny Hicks were blue ribbon winners in the 4-H group, and Ralph Davis and Glen Fox the red ribbon winners.

Raynor Matheson, father of Lester, was winner in the adult division, but was unable to top the berries brought in by his son. He and Sanford Creed received blue ribbons and red ribbons was given to Conrad Dancy and David Richardson.

The show and sale is held annually and is sponsored by the
