

Speaking Of Golf

By JOE MAPLES

The local area was well represented in the Carolinas Junior Golf Tournament played last week in Greensboro at the Country Club. Seven Boone juniors made the trip and out of that group, five made the finals in the different flights. Out of the thirty finalists, five were from Boone which is a pretty good percentage any way you look at it.

Austin Adams qualified with a 76 and made the championship round but did well in his flight, winning without too much trouble. Southpaw Sam Adams shot one of his better scores in one of his last matches, turning in a fine 77. Sam was runner-up in his flight as were Ronnie Hunt, Jimmy Cottrell and H. J. Cottrell. We understand that little H. J. put on quite a putting show for some of his victims, so much so that one boy that he beat got to the point that he wouldn't even look when H. J. putted. Our other player in the tournament was Junior Wilcox who lost in the first round. He was two down to his man early in the final nine holes but made a good come back to get his man two down with only two to go. The wheel ran off however and he lost on the 19th hole.

We should all be proud of these young men, they represented us in a fine way and made a good showing in the tournament, and are all a credit to the game of golf. The big winner in the blind bogey tournament held on Saturday was Dr. Bob Sumner of Rock Hill, S. C. His score of 70 was drawn and he won a nice golf bag. During this round, it is interesting to note that he made an eagle two on the par four 12th hole. The following players were in a nine way tie for golf balls and won one each: Jim Duncan, Ernest Hayes, Junior Wilcox, Mrs. O. K. Richardson, Steve Masten, Ralph Buchanan, Roland Eller, Jack Groce and Dr. Roy Blanton.

A total of 53 players entered the tournament and the lowest gross score was 70 turned in by D. C. Elkins who played so good that he shot himself out of it.

In the blind bogey held on Sunday, Glen Andrews was the lucky winner, shooting a net score of 75. He was tied with Bill Williams of Blowing Rock and Tom Winkler of Boone and won on a draw. Bill and Tom each won one golf ball.

A reminder to all players, the week end coming up will be a big one and will be extended by the fourth of July holidays, so plan ahead and secure your starting times for these days while they are still available. Starting times will be required from Saturday through Tuesday the fourth. Also remember that this will be a big week end for our out of town guests and be as considerate of them as possible when selecting your time.

Bill Greene, a well known and well liked young man around these parts, is serving as assistant professional at the Boone Golf Club this summer. He is putting in some part time work at ASTC in the mornings but is available for lessons by appointment most every afternoon. Bill has done this work before, working some at the Blowing Rock Club and is well qualified to instruct anyone from those just starting the game, right on up. Bill and myself are both available and if one of us can't serve you, the other can and will be glad to. Bill and his wife are living in Blowing Rock this summer and present plans call for them to return to Fort Pierce, Florida where he teaches in the school system there during the winter.

TARGET-TOURISTS

The House has passed by a vote of 305 to 104 its bill designed to attract more visitors to the United States. The measure seeks to promote better understanding of the country and its international objectives and to improve the flow of dollars into the country.

RCA SELECTED

The Radio Corporation of America has been selected to build the government's first experimental communications satellite capable of relaying telephone calls and television programs across the Atlantic.

The satellite is scheduled to be launched in mid-1962 to test the feasibility of using satellites for trans-oceanic telephone, telegraph and television communications.

Bryson Will Head Panel

DR. JOSEPH E. BRYSON

Among other attending the two-day conference are Allan S. Hurlbert, professor of education, Duke University; E. Edmund Reutter, Jr., professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University; Vester M. Mulholland, director, educational research, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh.

Newton Edwards, professor emeritus of education, University of Chicago; Marion A. McChehey, specialist in school law, U. S. Office of Education; William H. Cartwright, chairman, department of education, Duke University; Harry N. Rosenfield, attorney, Washington, D. C.; and Raymond K. Rhodes, consultant, health and physical education, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh.

ON ASIAN COUNTRIES

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, speaking recently before a conference of United Press International editors, said the United States will not surrender the free people of Asia to communism "without putting up a fight." Johnson said the countries he visited on his recent trip have a population of 606,000,000 and do not include other countries such as Japan, Indonesia and Afghanistan. The Asian countries have "the will, the manpower and the resources to make their resistance effective," and all they need "is an equal determination on our part, plus some help and advice," the Vice President reported.

FLAG TO HONOR MARINES

President Kennedy has ordered the United States flag flown 24 hours a day at the Marine Corps Memorial. The proclamation raised to five the number of places where the flag is flown permanently. The Marine Corps Memorial, across the Potomac River from Washington, portrays the raising of the Stars and Stripes over Mt. Suribachi during the battle of Iwo Jima in World War II.

Comment On Sports

By PETE FRITCHIE

Washington, D. C. — The New York Yankees have finally come alive in the American League and there are signs the Pittsburgh Pirates are trying to awaken but the world champion Pirates—like the Yankees—are suffering from pitching troubles.

The champs have deeper trouble at the moment than the Yankees, whom they defeated in the 1960 World Series. Both Bob Friend and Vernon Law, their one-two punch in 1960, are ailing. Unless these two can get back on the winning trail this year the Pirates might have to settle for less than the best.

The Yankees, plagued with pitching trouble for years, have shown some recent improvement and it allowed them to move into first place on June 15th. In Terry, Stafford Sheldon and Coates the New Yorkers have developed a good and young staff.

Bob Turley and Art Ditmar did not have it for the league champions early in the season and so Ditmar was traded away for Bud Daley. Daley—a lefty—is one of the good young pitchers in the league and why the A's parted with him for Ditmar is a good question, especially in view of the fact that the new owner of the A's had only recently said he would never swap with the Yankees. If Yankee pitching holds up it will take them to the pennant. But it may or may not go the route. Cleveland seems to have a great young pitching staff and Detroit has three top flingers. With a fourth, to match Lary, Mossi and Bunning, the Tigers would probably go all the way.

Cleveland pitching is probably the best in the league right now. Baltimore, still hoping to get it, should have the best, if the young fireballers get going, but they haven't kicked off to the rushing start they displayed a year ago.

The only team which might beat the Yankees, by beating the Indians, is Detroit. But in past years the Tigers couldn't beat the lesser teams, even though they did well against the Bombers. They have improved on this weakness this year but one must wait and see if the Bengals can play consistent winning ball, through an entire season.

Both the Tigers and Indians have showed signs of jitters in recent weeks. The pressure has affected some of the Tiger and Indian hitters and has been responsible for a number of errors on the clubs.

One thing is certain: to win a pennant, the winning team must be cool and tough in the clutch. That is a traditional asset of the New York Yankees.

New Carolina Movie Is Now Near Completion

Covering vacation attractions and diversified industry from the Great Smokies to the Outer Banks islands, a new movie entitled "North Carolina" is now near completion and advance reservations for showings are being accepted by the Department of Conservation and Development's State Advertising Division in Raleigh.

Director Hargrove Bowles, Jr., said the new picture illustrates the explosive development of industry against a background of cultural and recreational resources that make North Carolina the stand-out southern state.

The new "North Carolina" movie is replacing "The Tar Heel State" film which has been seen by millions of people since its release in 1951. It is a 16mm film in full color and sound. It runs approximately 25 minutes. The picture was produced by International Sound Pictures, Inc., with the cooperation of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. Cameramen covered thousands of miles in North Carolina last year filming the State from spring to autumn, and the editing process has gone on during the last six months.

Among vacation attractions pictured are the highest mountains in Eastern America, including the Black Mountain range with Mt. Mitchell, soaring 6684 feet above sea level. Fishing scenes include famed "Gamefish Junction" at Cape Hatteras, and there is golf on the world-renowned Mid-South resort courses.

Close-ups of North Carolina's nation-leading textile, tobacco and household furniture industries blend with views of its vigorous new electronics and other modern science industries. The Research Triangle, linking vast scientific of Duke University, the University of North Carolina and N. C. State College, is highlighted.

The camera lingers at Kitty Hawk, near where the Wright Memorial marks the site of man's first powered flight, and on Roanoke Island, where the first English colonists landed nearly 400 years ago.

Ship To List Those Who Died

Raleigh—Among several "honor rolls" aboard the U. S. S. North Carolina will be a list of 6,063 Tar Heel servicemen who died in combat during World War II.
