JOHNSON WOULD TAKE OVER

By terms of an agreement between President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson, the President will decide—if he is able to—that he can't carry out his duties and ask Johnson to take over until he recovers.

But if he should be stricken to the point where he couldn't advise Johnson, the Vice President has agreed to consult with Attorney General Kennedy and other cabinet members before he assumes the top job.

Know The Weather

By E. H. SIMS

In summer, what can you learn by noting the height of the early morning clouds?

The height of summer cumulus clouds gives you an important weather clue. During the remaining summer days you might want to take advantage of this weather omen in making the day's plans.

If the morning's early clouds are low, that means there is a considerable amount of moisture in the air, because the day's updrafts or thermals are not rising very high before they turn into visible moisture droplets.

Chances of rain are better (from thunderstorms) than if the clouds form at a great height, which will be an indication that there is not as much moisture in the air—since condensation is not taking place as quickly.

JULY SETS JOB RECORDS

A total of 53,198,000 persons had regular wage or salary paying jobs last month, a record for July. This was 14,000 above the number in July of last year.

The Labor Department reported this and said increased defense spending would spur continued moderate gains in employment.

Labor Day Traffic Will Bring Tragic Accidents

The annual "big push" of motorists to enjoy summer's last long holiday weekend — extending through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4—will bring tragic death to at least 23 persons in traffic accidents on North Carolina's streets and highways, predicts the N. C. State Motor Club.

Highway fatalities will be counted from 6 p. m. Friday through midnight Monday, a 78-hour period. The state's Labor Day traffic toll last year added up to 21, but the motor club increased its estimate in view of the fact that national highway death records were shattered this year for both the Memorial Day and Fourth of July holidays.

Thomas B. Watkins, president of N. C. State Motor Club and the National Automobile Association, warned that the vast flow of traffic—traditionally the greatest of the year—will clog roads leading to the mountains, seashore and other resorts, and most of the state's two million motor vehicles will be on the road.

Urging motorists to exercise extreme caution, he declared, "Our motor club is joining wholeheartedly with the State Highway Patrol in sponsoring the special 'Light Your Pledge For Safety' campaign. Motorists are urged to drive with their headlights on—both day and night—during the holiday period as a pledge that they will drive safely."

The Highway Patrol's entire 622 troopers will be out in full force over the weekend in an effort to hold down the traffic deaths.

Information For Veterans

Overpayments of GI benefits to veterans are subject to recovery by the government, Lionel Ward, Watauga county Veterans Service Officer, said this week.

But veterans can prevent overpayments by promptly reporting changes in their income or dependency status, the county officer pointed out.

Overpayments to veterans receiving service-connected disability compensation are generally made because the veterans fail to report changes in marital status or number of dependents. Prompt reports of divorce, remarriage, or death, enable the Veterans Administration to keep its records current and prevent overpayments, Mr. Ward said.

Permanently and totally disabled veterans receiving non-service connected pensions for service in World War I, World War II, or the Korean Conflict may be overpaid if they fail to keep the Veterans Administration informed about their other income. The regulations provide that the amount of the pension check vary with the amount of income the veteran receives. A veteran with dependents may not receive pension if his income exceeds $3,000.00. If the veteran is single, his income may not exceed $1,800.00.

For further information contact Mr. Ward, who is located in the Watauga County Courthouse Annex, or Robert F. Currence, District Officer, North Carolina Veterans Commission, Frye Building, Hickory.

Fashion News

Belts are very good this year if we are to trust the news from Paris designers. Wide belts of suede in harmonizing color were used on many of their fall creations.

A beaded evening suit of net featured long sleeves — chiffon dresses were shown for evening—one with the petticoat several inches shorter than the short skirt —ball gowns of chiffon left one shoulder bare.

The flared skirt was favored but it had a different cut from that of last season. There were godets, spiral seams and wrap arounds to give it a new look.
