

Speaking Of Golf

By JOE MAPLES

Some exciting shots were made on the local courses this past week, one by Ansel Adams and the other by Bob Masten. Adams holed out a 3 iron on the 381 yard 10th hole for an eagle three on his way to shooting a one under par score of 70. Masten holed his second shot, a 9 iron on the 18th the same afternoon for an eagle two.

Austin actually missed his shot. He was trying to hit the ball up to the right of the green and let it roll off the bank onto the putting surface, instead he pulled the shot enough to make it land on the green where it went into the cup. Just proves the old saying, "it ain't how, but how many that counts."

The golf team match that was scheduled for November 5th with the Oakwood Country Club of Wilkesboro has been postponed for one week, to Nov. 12. We now have enough players to make the team, since it was limited to 32 players, but anyone that would like to play should let me know in case we have any drop outs. Just as soon as the pairings and starting times are made up, they will be posted at the golf shop and will also be listed in this column. We hope to have this sometime next week.

The date for the match was put off a week because it conflicts with the fourth annual Carolinas Cup matches which will be held in Morganton on the 4th and 5th of November. I was notified the other day by a member of the selection committee that I would play for the twelve man professional team which goes against the top twelve amateurs of the two Carolinas in this annual event.

In the past three matches, the teams were made up of the twenty top pros and amateurs of the two states but the pros won these matches so easily that the teams were reduced in number to twelve, which more than evened it up. In fact, it may give the advantage to the amateurs. They are: Charlie Smith and Billy Joe Patton, both members of the US Walker Cup team; Dale Morey, a former Walker Cupper; Dave Smith Pat Foy Brady, Bobby Chapman, Bob Galloway, Bill Harvey, Demos Jones (SC amateur champ); Sam Marsh, Dillard Traynham, and Harry Welch. Traynham was low amateur in the recent Blue Ridge Pro-am with 70 and 72.

This is a strong team of players and they will be out to avenge the defeats they have taken from the pros in the previous matches. It will be interesting to watch and everyone is welcome to go down and watch these fine players in action.

The twelve man professional team includes Carolinas Open Champion Ronnie Thomas, Carolinas PGA champ Wayne Haley, Al Smith, Joe Cheves, (team captain), Charlie Prentice, Mack Briggs, Dick Tiddy, Tom Case, Dave Tinsley, Thorne Wood, Joe Worrell and myself.

Reservations are now being taken for the annual awards banquet to be held Monday night, November 8th at the Daniel Boone Inn. The time, 7:30. Make your reservations at the Golf Shop and bring the family. Everyone interested in the game is welcome. You did not have to play in the tournament in order to attend the banquet. We will have some films taken during the Carolinas Open, also some taken of some of the players in the local tournament. In order to plan for the meal, we are asking that all reservations be made no later than Friday, November 8th and any cancellations must be made by that time also. This should be an entertaining event, so make plans now to attend.

Comment On Sports

By PETE FRITCHE

Washington, D. C.—The football season is proving again that there is no substitute for brains. We're speaking of the college football season but that would also hold true concerning the pros.

We see such affirmation of this when we see Michigan State's hustlers whip Michigan, as usual. And we see it when Georgia Tech tops Duke, again, in a key game. We see in a rebounding Alabama.

The reason for these basic trends is coaching. The coach at Michigan State, at Georgia Tech, and the new Alabama regime, is directly at the cause of these trends.

A lot of coaches say they don't do much—that it's the boys or the material they get or inherited. Good material is fine to have. It can make a difference. But the really top coaches, wherever they go, build good teams. Look at Tom Nugent at Maryland.

And look at Iowa. Coaching is the real key. That's why Arkansas is tough, after many so-so years. That's why Mississippi is so tough.

In short, there is just no substitute for brains. And the smart coaches often have another quality, which seems to help. Most of them love the game so much it becomes infectious.

College players are very susceptible to this rah-rah, this love of the game stuff. In the pro leagues, it's more of a business.

And the boys have to love it to do their best, because twenty youngsters have already been killed this year playing football. Hundreds have suffered permanent, injury. Thousands have lost teeth or injured knees, etc., injuries

Apps Meet EC In Battle For Conference Lead

Appalachian State's grid Mountaineers will be battling for the top spot in the Carolinas Conference Saturday when they go against East Carolina. Kickoff time is 8 p. m. on College Field in Hickory.

At present the ECC Pirates hold the lead in the eight-team league with a sparkling 4-1 mark. Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne are tied for second with 3-1 records. Thus a win by the Mountaineers over the Pirates would give them the league lead.

Lenoir Rhyne plays outside the conference Saturday, meeting Wittenberg College of Ohio.

Appalachian State turned in one of its best defensive showings of the year in defeating Carson-Newman, 22-7, last Saturday. The Apps limited the Eagles from Tennessee to only 70 yards rushing and 48 yards passing. At the end of the first half, Carson-Newman had only 28 yards rushing and none through the air.

The Apps combined a running and passing game to score 15 points in the first half. The final touchdown came early in the fourth period.

Don Gardiner, senior halfback from Silver Springs, Md., scored all three touchdowns for the winners. Gardiner is now the leading scorer in NAIA District 28 with 39 points.

The first touchdown came midway the opening period following a 58-yard drive by ASTC. Key play in the drive was a pass from Eugene Styles to Oval Jaynes which covered 30 yards. Gardiner scored on a 13-yard end sweep.

In the second quarter, Appalachian State drove 54 yards in eight plays for another touchdown. A pass from halfback Bill Bradley to end Joe Hightower set up the touchdown. Gardiner plunged over from one yard out.

A pass from Styles to Jaynes was good for the two-point conversion.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Apps struck suddenly in the early moments of the fourth period. Styles faded back and spotted Gardiner racing down the right sideline. The quarterback fired a 30-yard pass which Gardiner took on the 11-yard line and carried into the end zone. The pass came on the second play of the quarter.

Mike Chandler booted his second of two placements to put the Apps ahead, 22-0 with 14:10 remaining.

Carson-Newman moved 58 yards in three plays for its touchdown late in the game. A pass from quarterback Jim Reeves to end Dan Carter resulted in the lone score for the visitors.

Leading the ground gainers for Appalachian was Bill Bradley, who netted 50 yards in eight carries. Fullback Jim Hayes picked up 42 yards in 14 tries.

MRS. K. SAYS NO SHELTERS

Moscow—Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev told a group of Western "peace marchers" that the Soviet Union is not building shelters.

She informed the group they were not making any plans for building shelters because, "There is no defense in a nuclear war."

Speculation is that the Soviet Union is building shelters of this type.

Happy-medium size—guaranteed not to shrink!

Some cars play a cute little trick: They look nice and big from outside with plenty of length, big trunk lines and all—but the minute you try to get inside they seem to shrink. Not so the 1962 Buick Special. This great car is exactly what it was built to be—America's happy-medium size car. And it's guaranteed not to shrink when you get in or when you fill it with people and cruise all day long. This Buick Special is designed for six adult people—with hats, with hips, with shoulders and with a great desire for quiet comfort and smooth going. For 1962 there are eight Buick Special models including the wonderful new convertible, every one a Buick, through and through. You can have your choice of power plants, all with the kind of gas miserliness that wins economy awards. A Buick Special shrinks just three things: Miles, operating cost and parking space—never your comfort, your power or your quality.
