STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
STATE STREAM SANITATION COMMITTEE
STATE DEPARTMENT OF
WATER RESOURCES
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Section 143-215, General Statutes of North Carolina, that a public hearing will be held by the State Stream Sanitation Committee concerning applications filed requesting reclassification of certain waters in the Yadkin-Pee Dee River Basin. The hearing is scheduled to be held in the Records Courtroom, 2nd Floor, Town Hall, North Wilkesboro, North Carolina, beginning at 10:00 A. M., EST, Wednesday, January 30, 1963.

The streams to be considered during the hearing for reclassification are Yadkin River (W. Kerr Scott Reservoir including tributary streams below Elevation 1030) from Class "C" to Class "B" and Yadkin River from W. Kerr Scott Dam to Moravian Creek from Class "C" to Class "A-1". In addition, consideration will be given to adding the "trout waters" designation to the classifications assigned and proposed for Yadkin River and its tributaries including Reddies River and its tributaries and W. Kerr Scott Reservoir below Elevation 1030 but excluding those streams entering the reservoir on the south side. These streams border on or flow through Caldwell, Wilkes, and Watauga Counties.

All persons interested in the proposed reclassifications of the above described waters are invited to attend the hearing and take part in the discussion. Persons desiring to be heard should notify the Committee in writing on or before the date of the hearing. Written statements concerning the proposed action may be presented at the hearing or filed with the Committee within thirty (30) days following the conclusion of the hearing.

Additional information relative to the proposed action may be obtained upon request from the Division of Stream Sanitation and Hydrology, State Department of Water Resources, P. O. Box 9392, Raleigh, North Carolina.

School And Your Child

By JOHN COREY
Education Department, ASTC

Report cards tell much about Junior's work in school, but they can't touch what face-to-face chats with his teachers reveal.

Earl L. Pretrey, assistant principal of the laboratory elementary school on the campus of Appalachian State Teachers College, endorses this statement.

A personal talk (called "conference" by school folks) brings to surface details about your youngster's progress which make for clearer understanding, says veteran Schoolman Pretrey.

Is Junior's "C" in reading, for instance, based on his being in a fast reading group or an average one? The grade has more meaning when you learn from the teacher which section he's in.

What does Junior's "B" in conduct mean? Why didn't he make an "A"? Has he undesirable behavior habits you don't know about?

Answers to these and other questions are obviously easier to give in private conference than on report cards. That's why every mother and father should have at least one person-to-person talk with teacher each year.

Most teachers welcome and many actually solicit your visit. After school is a good conference time.

And when you go, be sure to exhibit an attitude that will elicit clear words from the teacher. Aware that children are largely reflections of parents, she may be too tactful with unfavorable comments about Junior and soft-pedal her words to the extent that you don't get a sharp appraisal.

In this case, set the stage for clear communication. Indicate that you're objective-minded and prefer straight language without sweetening for your own ego.

For further depth appraisal, you might help by making sure these pertinent questions, listed in the National Education Association booklet, "Conference Time," are answered:

—Is my child working up to his ability?
 —What ability group is he in, and why?
 —How does he get along with other children?
 —Does he obey? In what ways does he or doesn't he?
 —Does he respect rights and property of others?
 —How can I help at home? (Ask for specifics.)
 —What is my child's IQ?
 —Does he get to class on time?
 —Does he eat his lunch?
 —Does he have any special interests, aptitudes, or abilities?
 —What is the school's grading system?
 Frank questions and answers like these between parents and professional teacher bring invaluable information. It can help you and the teacher do your job—which is to help the child.

Americans who once owned property in Cuba aren't likely to get it or their money back soon. About the only thing they can do is report to the State Department and perhaps deduct some losses in figuring their United States tax bill.
