About Your Home

There are countless small and large things that go to make up a happy and beautiful home. The cornerstone is the family itself. Every member of the family should love the home and think it is important.

This love for home has nothing to do with the house the family lives in. We all know that some of the most unhappy homes and many broken homes are found in the upper income level.

Try to develop a feeling of comradeship and unity among the different members of the family. One way this can be accomplished is to give small household chores to each member right down to the youngest child.

It is also very important to make each member feel completely at home. If Dad wants a comfortable reading chair that may be no beauty but that just fits him, he should have it.

The children should have a place in the home to call their own, no matter how small. In many homes this place is a playroom. Make the children responsible for keeping their playroom fairly clean and their toys in some kind of order. Don't overdo this last thing or you will
