Miss Henson, Mr. Lutz Are Married

MRS. REGINALD LUTZ

The Henson's Chapel Methodist Church, Sherwood, was the scene of a wedding of beauty and simplicity at 3 o'clock Sunday, February 10, when Miss Dora Jane Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Henson, became the bride of A3c Rufus Reginald Lutz, son of Mrs. Martha Lutz McRary and stepson of Mr. Mac McRary of Lenoir.

Reverend W. H. Key, pastor of the church, and the Reverend Paul J. Hopkins, pastor of the groom, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The vows were spoken before a Bible-centered altar decorated with seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers, baskets of white gladioli and sprays of green ferns.

The wedding music was presented by Jerry L. Jones, vocalist, and Mrs. Robert G. Shipley, organist.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin featuring a lowered back waistline, short train, pleated skirt and long sleeves. Her waist-length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls, crystallized teardrops and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a yellow-throated orchid. Mrs. Henson created her daughter's wedding gown.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Judy Putnam of Kings Mountain, who wore a red velvet dress with matching shoes and headpiece and carried a heart-shaped nosegay of red and white carnations. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert McRary and Miss Agnes Gray Shipley, wore dresses identical to that of the maid-of-honor and carried identical nosegays.

Mr. Lutz had his paternal grandfather, W. C. Lutz, as best man. Serving as ushers were Lewis B. Henson and Fred Henson, brothers of the bride, Bob Glasgow and Robert McRary.

The bride's mother wore a beige crepe sheath dress with brown accessories and a brown orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark green velvet sheath dress with matching hat and shoes and a green orchid corsage.

Mrs. R. L. Hartley, maternal grandmother of the groom, wore a plum-colored dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. W. C. Lutz, paternal grandmother of the groom, wore a blue wool suit with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall. The red motif was used in the decorations and the lace-covered table was centered with a floral arrangement. After the bride and groom cut the first piece of the wedding cake, Mrs. Albert Henson served cake to the guests.

Mrs. Caine Benfield poured punch and Mrs. Paul Prestwood presided at the guest register. Assisting at the reception were Misses Judy Henson, Jane Shipley, Mary Ned Glenn, Dorothy Combs and Mrs. Larry McBride.

Following the rehearsal on Saturday night, the wedding party was entertained by Miss Jane Henson at her home.

Later the couple left on a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a beige sheath with antique brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

JEAN'S PERSONAL COLUMN

Dear Jane And Rachel:

By JEAN L. RIVERS

February started off with a bang! On the first we were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Taylor Adams to meet their son Lee, a Navy Captain, who is en route from California to Washington, D. C., where his family will establish their home. Lee's daughter, Punky... whose real name is Clarita, is spending the winter with her grandparents and is a senior at Appalachian High. She's a doll! Punky plans to enter the University of North Carolina next fall. She has a sister who is a sophomore at Duke University. We haven't met her yet, or the two younger children in the family, but have met Lee's wife. Dr. Adams is a native of Missouri and he practiced dentistry in Sweet Springs, Mo., and West Palm Beach, Florida, before retiring in Boone. We are mighty happy to have the Adamses here.

Taylor) of Washington, D. C. It was so good to hear from all of them.

On Tuesday night Jewel (Mast) and I went to see "Angel Street", Little Theatre's first production in Boone, and it was exceptionally good. Joanne Aldridge turned in a professional job of acting, and Bill Ross and David Culler were very good, as were other members of the cast. I hope this venture succeeds in Boone.

The following night your daddy and I were guests of the Kelleys (Maude and Richard) at a dinner party they gave for Dr. and Mrs. Adams and Lee at the Lenoir Country Club in Lenoir. Ten congenial people in such a lovely place... with mounds of delicious food... added up to a most enjoyable evening.

In addition to the above mentioned activities, I managed to enjoy a table of bridge on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, and am just now finishing a wrap-around skirt for you, Rachel. Will try to finish this afternoon and get it in the mail.

Forgot to tell you that Dot (Tugman) sent us a delicious congealed salad last Monday. We enjoyed it so much and appreciate her thoughtfulness.

Love, Mom.

Fashion News

Wasp waists are coming back in so we are told by news from Paris. And there will definitely be hips.

Some of the shops are featuring long dresses for home entertaining but the short dress is still favored for informal party wear.

Young girls are wearing their hair in very simple and becoming styles. The odd hair-dos are for models and very formal adult affairs.

About Your Home

You may think that you don't need an engagement calendar. You probably feel that you don't go out enough that you can't keep track of dates.

However, you don't have to be in a social whirl to need an engagement calendar. Have you ever hunted furiously for a dentist's appointment card or wondered whether it was Tuesday or Wednesday night Mrs. Smith was having her sewing class?

Any calendar which blocks off the days and is roomy enough for a few words of writing will serve the purpose. If there is a pencil handy by the calendar you will be more likely to jot down the necessary information. Searching for a pen is pretty discouraging in a lot of homes, so keep one anchored for convenience.

Note appointments with dentists, doctors, and hairdressers. Parties and evenings out should be marked down.

You can use your calendar as a reminder to do such things as defrost the freezer, call the repair man, or have the car greased.

Most state garden clubs sell a date and calendar book each year as a money-making project that is perfect for this type of thing.
