for the school. This work is being supervised by the superintendent's office and is under the direction of John Gibson, guidance director, and Albert C. Bickley, graduate assistant at Appalachian State Teachers College. Students in grades 6, 7, 8, and 9 are being counseled regarding future high school plans. "The various proposed subject areas of our new school will be explained to the students," Mr. Angell said.

As soon as the study is completed, summaries of courses desired will be made available as pertinent information to further point out the need for expanding high school offerings in the county, the report stated.

A special census of all school patrons is planned by the superintendent's office during this month. Purpose is to obtain a complete census of all school patrons living with in the county. A special form will be made available to all teachers in the county, and names and addresses obtained will be of valuable assistance to the board of education in the distribution of materials and vital information relative to the overall school program.

Mr. Angell said an effort will be made to obtain a record of every person listed as the head of a household, regardless of whether he or she may have children in school.

The superintendent also said plans have been completed for the presentation of the educational phase of the consolidated program to schools, civic clubs, and other interested groups within the county. He will welcome the opportunity to discuss the program in all communities prior to the close of the current school term.

A second phase of the program will be presented after July 1, and this will include detailed information on individual tax cost if the consolidation becomes a reality. Mr. Angell explained this information will not be available until after firm property valuations and tax rates have been established for the fiscal year 1963-64.

In the report, Mr. Angell said the increased enrollment and the overcrowded conditions at Appalachian High School continue to pose a major problem for the board of education and officials of the college. "This building was originally designed to house 350-400 students and our projected enrollment for this school in 1965 indicates that we will have approximately 730 students living in the present Appalachian High School District," Mr. Angell said. "Our present high school facilities in the county cannot adequately care for this increase without providing for additional facilities."

INELIGIBLE

Memphis—The second grade rooms at Avon School were about to hold an election.

"Now, children," their teacher beamed, "we're going to do this in a democratic way."

Down fell the face and up shot the hand of Beasley Wellford. "Then I can't vote," he announced unhappily. "I'm a Republican."

SAFETY OF DRUGS

New regulations on drugs, carrying out the tighter drug laws passed by Congress last year, now have been published by the Food and Drug Administration.

GUNBOATS RECEIVED

Saigon, S. Vietnam—United States Ambassador Frederick Nolting recently presented five American-made gunboats to the Vietnamese Navy for use in coastal waters.
