

Distinction List Is Released At AHS

The second period sophomore English class gave a burlesque version of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" Wednesday morning, April 3, in assembly.

The production of the play was almost exclusively student-directed. Scripts, programs, costumes, and rehearsals were taken care of by the students themselves.

Before dividing into groups to rewrite the play, the class studied it in its regular form. Production of the play was carried out in addition to regular English work. Miss Doris Jones, sophomore English teacher, acted as advisor to the group.

The student body and faculty thoroughly enjoyed the humorous presentation.

Beta Convention

Asheville was a beehive of activity last week end as 3,348 delegates from 400 North Carolina Beta clubs met for the 25th annual State Beta Club Convention. These students took part in a talent show, club reports, campaigning, and the election of state officers.

Campaigning was the order of the day on Friday; reams of literature listing qualifications of candidates were passed out to the delegates as they arrived from far and near. Dozens of attractive posters decorated the hotel lobbies, the elevators, and the auditorium.

At the first general session Friday evening, Betas heard a keynote address by State President Steve Burns of East Mecklenburg High School. This was followed by campaign speeches by the nine candidates for state offices and a talent program.

One of the highlights of the convention was the annual Beta Ball with the music of Ray Finkhouse and his orchestra from 8:00-11:00 Saturday evening. This followed the banquet at which the new state officers were installed.

New officers who were elected by the delegates attending the convention were Buddy Wester of Rockingham, president; Jerry Woods of Pittsboro, vice-president; and Rande Hamrick of Crest High School, Boiling Springs, secretary.

Patty Oland, Appalachian's candidate for vice-president, came in second, trailing by only 62 votes.

Others from the AHS Beta Club who attended the convention were Maria Erneston, Kay Greene, Ronnie Hunt, Alton Johnson, Mackie Mast, Beverly Meekins, Patty Oland, Jerry Ray, Becky Russell, Mickey Seaward and Johnny Stacy.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Randall accompanied the group.

Mrs. Randall commented, "Although we did not win the election, nominating Patty for vice-president was a valuable experience for our members. Through their campaign activities, they met and talked with many students whom they would not otherwise have met."

A high honor was paid to Mrs. Randall, sponsor of the local chapter, when she was chosen

John Ward Is Teaching First Aid At Bethel High

John Ward, an employee of the Blue Ridge Electric Membership Corporation, and qualified first aid instructor, has been conducting first aid classes at Bethel High School for the past two weeks. About 20 members have been enrolled from Bethel and the Beaver Dam community, this number including the future school bus drivers for the year 1963-64.

Mrs. Goldie C. Fletcher, Red Cross secretary, feels that Mr. Ward's volunteer services in this field of training is going to be beneficial both to the Bethel School and to the community. She expresses appreciation to him for his services and to the Bethel School faculty and the patrons for their cooperation in promoting these classes.

Mrs. Fletcher says it is the purpose of the Red Cross to continue the classes in this community, and perhaps in other communities, so that more adults may be trained in first aid practices. It is also proposed to follow up with home nursing training for the women of the county. This is described as a very worthwhile program, and it is hoped that volunteers may be trained who may devote some time to the hospital, bloodmobile, and other worthwhile programs in the county.

About 250 insects in North Carolina are pests, according to George Jones, extension entomology specialist at North Carolina State College.
