

Wataugans At Work

Two employees of the Town of Blowing Rock are Red Miller (left) and Lester Bradshaw, both residents of the summer-resort town. The pair was doing general repair work and painting at the Blowing Rock swimming pool last week as the town readies itself for the 1963 summer trade. Miller is married to the former Miss Iva Underwood and is the father of two children. Also the father of two children, Bradshaw is married to the former Miss Sylvia Cheek. The two men have been working with the city (Blowing Rock) for more than a year each.

Monument To Founders Of Belk's Constructed

Lancaster, S. C.—A monument to the late William Henry Belk and Dr. John M. Belk, founders of the Belk Brothers Stores, will be unveiled at their birthplace here June 2.

The unveiling will be sponsored by the Lancaster County Historical Society.

The unveiling will be by N. C. Sen. Irvin Belk of Charlotte, and by John Belk Daughtridge of Charleston, S. C., the oldest great-grandson of Dr. John M. Belk.

The Belk stores began in 1888 in Monroe, N. C. Within five years they had opened their first branch store in Chester, S. C., and begun their huge chain of stores.

Detour In Effect In Blowing Rock

A section of US 321-Business in the town of Blowing Rock is closed for a period of four weeks, beginning Wednesday, May 22, 1968. Traffic will be detoured over 321-Bypass, town streets and US 321-Business.

The detour is necessary due to the installation of a sewer line by the town of Blowing Rock.

DeGroat To Head School-Camp

Appalachian State Teachers College will offer an elementary school-camp for white boys and girls in grades 5 through 8 at Broadstone Camp, Valle Crucis, June 9-July 20.

Broadstone Camp, one of the most unique school-camps in the nation, mixes physical and mental exercises for boys and girls during the summer months.

Eric DeGroat, assistant professor of physical education at ASTC, will direct the camp. He is considered one of the outstanding summer camp directors in the southeast. He has served as program director of Camp Swannanoa and Camp Millstone; camp director of Camp Schaub and Camp Tsali; assistant director of Camp Sequoyah, Inc., and director of camp craft at Camp Sea Gull.

The elementary boys and girls live and play at beautiful Broadstone Camp. In the morning the boys and girls attend classes in English, science, reading and band. At the same time they lasso their share of summer fun in activities like swimming, hiking, tennis, basketball and wrestling during the afternoon.

REA Scholarship Is Won By Miss Henson

Officials of Blue Ridge Electric Membership Corporation announced today that Judith Ann Henson, a senior at Cove Creek High School, is the recipient of a $600 scholarship. This is one of four such scholarships being awarded this year by the cooperative to outstanding seniors in its eight-county area.

held many offices and actively participated in various school activities including varsity basketball. She has won honors in the county, district and state 4-H Club talent shows, dairy foor demonstrations, and has been an active member in that organization.

Judith Ann is very active in the work of her church also. She is a member of the church choir, president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, and assists with the Kindergarten and Bible School classes. Her plans are to enter Appalachian State Teachers College in September, pursuing a degree in English and French. Later her hopes are to obtain a Masters Degree in this or related field.

Blue Ridge Electric Membership Corporation's scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement, need for financial assistance, the desire to obtain a college education, and a willingness to put forth the effort and make the sacrifices necessary to achieve this objective.

Plans are to continue and possibly expand this scholarship program in the future. It is an expression of Blue Ridge Electric Membership Corporation's interest and concern for the educational needs of the youth of this area.
