

Dr. Graham To Visit City

Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, 1950-59, and United Nations Representative for India and Pakistan since 1951 will be a speaker on the program, June 29, for the Tercentenary celebration in Boone.

Dr. Graham, former defense manpower administrator in the United States Department of Labor, was a public member of the National War Labor Board, North Carolina Senator, 1949-50, and the first chairman of the Board of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Research.

Banners for the celebration, which will close with the presentation of Horn in the West June 29 and 30, will be displayed in town next week. Chairman of the celebration, Herman W. Wilcox says that many thousands are expected to attend and that representatives from the newspaper, television and radio media will be on hand to cover the event.

The Carolina Charter Tercentenary Celebration committee urges everyone in the local stores to dress in costumes of the 1603 era, in honor of the State's birthday. Mrs. Boyce Brooks may be contacted at AM 4-8827 regarding availability of costume materials.

The celebration program will go on sale next week in several local stores and will be sold on the street and at the Horn in the West stadium during the parade and program there.

Painting this weekend?

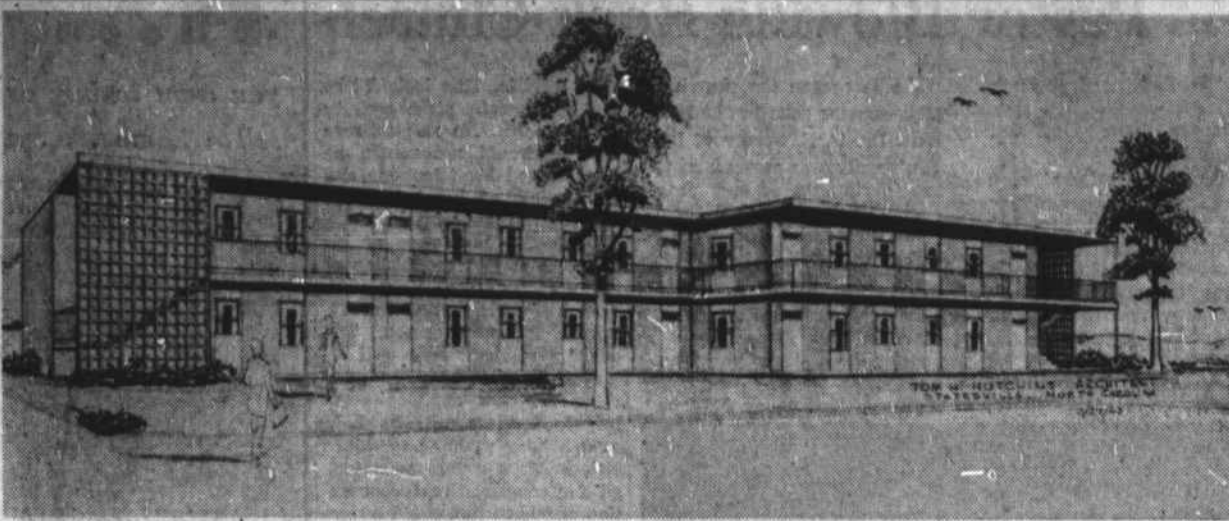

This is the label to look for. It's around the paint that washes, washes and washes

It's Dutch Boy's remarkable Nalplex. The latex flat wall paint that's not only just washable, it's odorless. Quick-drying. And covers in just one coat. More important, Nalplex doesn't change color. Which means your walls stay looking fresh and bright. Which is what you want. Right?

New Apartments

Pictured above is an architect's drawing of a new apartment house being constructed on the corner of Pine and Woodlawn Drive in Boone. When completed, the structure will have eight one-bedroom, one two-bedroom, and one three-bedroom apartments, including kitchens and furniture. A completely fire-proof building, it will be ready for occupancy by September 1, according to the owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Campbell of Route 4, Statesville.

Family Of Five Injured In Crash

Jaypee Bill Is Introduced By Holshouser

Raleigh—A 1937 law requiring justices of the peace in Watauga County to practice only in their own townships would be repealed under a bill introduced by Rep. J. E. Holshouser Jr. of Watauga at the request of Jaypees in Watauga.

Holshouser said repeal of the old regulation would give the Jaypees authority to perform certain duties in any part of Watauga.

Eisenhower bids youth regain lost rights.

A vacationing Burlington family of five was hospitalized Monday following a head-on collision with the car of a Watauga woman as the latter pulled into their lane of traffic, attempting to enter her driveway near Brushy Fork, according to George Baker of the State Highway Patrol.

Baker stated Mrs. Blanche Greene Hayes of Vilas, operator of a 1962 Rambler, was traveling east on 421. She was following a transfer truck, the officer said.

When she pulled across the opposite lane of traffic near the entrance to her drive, her car and a 1951 Ford collided head-on. The Ford was demolished; the Rambler sustained about $500 damage.

The Burlington family was listed as that of Mr. and Mrs.

Clyde Allen Hatchel. Injured greatest was four-year-old Terry who received a neck injury and, according to her physician, will remain hospitalized for several days.

Also in the hospital at the time of this publication were Mrs. Hatchel who received some lacerations and some internal injuries, and Mrs. Hayes who was suffering from multiple bruises and contusions.

Discharged from Watauga Hospital Tuesday were Mr. Hatchel, bruises; and Timmy Hatchel, age 8, small lacerations. Another daughter of the Hatchels was not injured in the crash.

No charges had been made as of Tuesday, pending the outcome of investigation continuing at that time.

All Night Sing On Saturday

An all-night singing will be held at the courthouse in Boone Saturday June 15, for the benefit of the Foscoe Christian Church.

Stars of tv, stage and recording artists will be present, including the Sunshine Girls, Wilson Family, Clyde Townsend, and the Gospel Heralds.

Tickets are being sold on a money back guarantee. The sponsors say if you don't think you got your money's worth, cash will be refunded on the spot.

College Library Designated As Depository Of U. S. Government

The Dauphin Disco Dougherty Memorial Library of Appalachian State Teachers College was designated May 15 a United States Government Depository to receive publications under the selective plan of distribution, according to announcement this week by Dr. W. H. Piemmons, president of Appalachian.

The Honorable James T. Broyhill, Congressman from this district, was instrumental in getting ASTC included under the expanded depository program created by Public Law 87-579. The Congressman said that the ASTC library will begin receiving the publications this summer after Congress has completed its actions on the pending appropriations bill, and funds are available for the additional libraries.

Congressman Broyhill said, "I am glad to know that Appalachian will now receive these documents since I am certain they will be useful and that they are needed by the student body and the residents of the area."

William Leonard Eury, ASTC librarian, said that Appalachian is most fortunate in being designated as a U. S. Government Depository. Until Public Law 87-579, only land grant colleges received publications under the depository plan.

Acting as the duly appointed head of the ASTC library, Mr. Eury accepted for the library the designation of this institution by Congressman Broyhill to be a depository for the United States Government publications.

Eury said, "In consideration of the privilege of selecting and receiving those series of United States Government publications made available to depository libraries by the Superintendent of Documents best suited to the needs of the patrons of this library, it is hereby agreed that this library and its staff will abide by the law governing depository libraries, and such regulations and instructions as have been or may be issued by the Superintendent of Documents in administering the law."

"It is further agreed that reasonable care will be exercised in selecting publications to be furnished to this library so as to prevent waste of Government funds appropriated for distribution of depository publications."

Carper W. Buckley, superintendent of documents for the United States Government Printing Office, said that he had received Eury's statement of acceptance and informed the local library that it has qualified as an official depository for Government publications.
