Dear Jane And Rachel

Another very busy week has gone by. The remodeling project in two of the apartments (over the Democrat office) is progressing. The baths are in, the painting is done and the floors in the front apartment have been sanded and finished. I hope I can report that the entire job is finished by this time next week.

Mr. Mack Luttrell (our neighbor) had surgery at Johnson City Eye Hospital in Johnson City, Tennessee last Tuesday. He is getting along real well and might get to come home this Thursday. Mrs. Luttrell says he will go back for further surgery if he decides to come home this week. I'm glad he is doing so well!

Among the notable improvements I have seen in my recent travels are the paved parking areas at Thrift Food Center, Builders' Super Market, entire lot back of Appalachian Theatre and a large lot at the Mountain Market. Congratulations, all!

Had a note from the Bucklands who are spending 2 months in Alma, Oklahoma, where Dr. Buckland is teaching in a National Science Institute at Northwestern State College. Mrs. Buckland is taking an art workshop, and Janie is vacationing. Mrs. Buckland enclosed a Chamber of Commerce folder of that area, which I appreciated very much. The farms are large, average is 600 acres, and some have oil wells. Wouldn't that be convenient?

Ruby Akers, who is now assistant professor of English at Appalachian College, left Saturday on the first leg of her journey to Norway. . . and she sailed today (Wednesday) on the S. S. Stavangerjord from New York after visiting there a few days with friends and relatives who went to see her off.

Miss Akers recently received a Danforth grant to study literature of Ibsen and Bjornson for six weeks at the University of Oslo. In addition to this she will take a course in the culture and background of Scandinavia. I'm real excited for Ruby, who has to be an outstanding teacher to get this award in the first place. More power to her!

Pat Dowling, whose marriage to George Davis of Hickory will be held at the Methodist Church July 13, was honored with a breakfast given by Sarah and Jane Gaither at the Farm House in Blowing Rock Thursday morning. I expected a breakfast in the true sense of the word and it was a feast instead. Everything was delicious. Don't know when I have had a more relaxed, enjoyable morning.

Some of our town employees recently cleaned that deep ditch and patched the street in front of our house. It is wonderful not to have to look at that mess any longer and to be able to drive home without having to dodge all those deep holes in the pavement. It was murder trying to dodge them after a heavy rain. Anyway, thanks to those responsible. I appreciate it so much.

Roberta Hargrave gave me another real good recipe. I think she said it was given to her by Mrs. Boyce Brooks, but it will be worth your precious time to make it soon.

ANGEL DELIGHT

1 large Angel Food cake broken in bits

2 packages lemon jello. Let set until syrupy and whip a few minutes

1 pint whipping cream or 1 envelope Dessert Whip

1 cup crushed pineapple

1 teaspoon Schilling's Orange Peel (improves flavor)

Whip cream and add all ingredients to lemon jello and pour over cake. Top with Snowflake Coconut. Chill for 24 hours.

Jane, I'm terribly disturbed that you found your mother-in-law so ill when you were in New York last week. Tell Art we are thinking of him and sincerely hope she will be well soon.

Love,
Mom
