Former Ashe Sheriff Dies In Fla. Crash

West Jefferson, June 29—Joseph Carl Francis, 49, of Ocala, Fla., who was Ashe County sheriff from 1954 to 1958, was killed Tuesday in a car-tractor collision near Gainesville, Fla.

Francis had lived for about two years at Ocala, where he ran a vending-machine business. The accident occurred about 11 p. m. Tuesday.

He was born in Ashe County to E. C. and Ada Littlewood Francis and was a Navy veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Frances Coleman Francis; a daughter, Miss Nancy Francis of the home; and two brothers, Don Francis of West Jefferson and Raymond Francis of Harmony.

The funeral was conducted at 2 p. m. today at West Jefferson Methodist Church by the Rev. Russell Young and the Rev. Charles Rhinehart. Burial was in Helton Methodist Church cemetery.

More Depressed Wataugas

(continued from page 1, sec. A) Rock and Tweetsie, are building a luxury type year-around resort. It will include a golf course and a ski run for members only, as well as horses, swimming and other equipment, and will be known as Arrowhead Lodge, a club-type operation.

After the new ski run at Blowing Rock got going good, 10 motels and two restaurants opened up last winter to serve the visitors.

In the Shulls Mill section, the flamboyant Robbins family, promoters of The Blowing

Rock and Tweetsie, are building a luxury type year-around resort. It will include a golf course and a ski run for members only, as well as horses, swimming and other equipment, and will be known as Arrowhead Lodge, a club-type operation.

We have visited maybe 40 counties so far in 1963, and not a one of them exceeded Watauga in prosperity, independence, buoyance and confidence.

Obviously, what this state needs is more depressed counties like Watauga.
