Corpening Named To Head "Service To Youth" Drive

Wayne A. Corpening of Winston-Salem has been named North Carolina chairman for the 1963 nationwide fund drive among banks during October to support the "Service to Youth" educational programs of the National 4-H Club Foundation. Corpening's appointment for the third consecutive year was announced by Jesse W. Tapp, chairman of the Board of the Bank of America, and Joseph C. Welman, president of the Bank of Kennett, Mo., who heads the bank program for the National 4-H Sponsors Council. Corpening is vice president of Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., Winston-Salem.

Fifty-four North Carolina banks responded to Corpening's leadership in 1962, ranking the state number 10 in the nation in amount of total contribution. This campaign gives the Tar Heel State's bankers an opportunity to broaden their traditionally strong local support of 4-H Club work, according to the state chairman.

The National 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D. C., serves to complement the work of the Cooperative Extension Service through citizenship education, leader training, international 4-H programs, and program development and research. This includes operating the National 4-H Center, conducting the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE), and operating 4-H Peace Corps projects in Brazil, Venezuela, and Uruguay.

Two young people are representing North Carolina in the International Farm Youth Exchange this year. Miss Nelita Stout of Salisbury is in Israel and will return in November. C. Preston Cornelius of Troutman will leave near the first of October for a six-month assignment to "learn another way of life by living it." Also, Warren T. Strickland of Wade is in training for the Uruguay 4-H Peace Corps Project.

RFK'S VIEWS

The Attorney General, Robert F. Kennedy, believes the Administration's civil rights stand may hurt his brother's chances for reelection to the Presidency in 1964.

In a television interview, the Attorney General said he does not consider the Administration's civil rights legislative package to be a cure-all. But, he does think it an important step forward and a necessary step.

Swine Ballot Next Tuesday

Despite words to the contrary, almost everyone has an axe to grind—and grinds it.
