

James Bingham Is Given High Army Commendation

Has Distinguished Record

Specialist Four James R. Bingham of Boone (left) is congratulated for his distinguished record at the Seventh United States Army Noncommissioned Officers' Academy, by Lt. Col. Wesley J. Simmons, Commandant.

Specialist Four James R. Bingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bingham of Boone, has recently graduated from the Seventh Army Noncommissioned Officers' Academy, in Bad Toelz, Germany, with a distinguished record.

A letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Bingham from Wesley J. Simmons, Commandant of the Academy, says of their son, in part:

"He was designated as an Honor Graduate and in addition, he was cited for attaining the highest leadership standing within his platoon. For this accomplishment he earned the 'General Douglas MacArthur Award for Leadership.' He achieved further honor by winning the Commandant's Inspection, thereby earning the 'General Bruce C. Clark Award.' The ability to achieve distinction in competition with fellow soldiers is commendable; the ability to accomplish this in competition with the finest soldiers in Europe is an accomplishment from which you may draw real praise and satisfaction.

"This Academy judges its graduates not only in the light of academics, but predominately in the development of essential, practical characteristics vital for those who will lead other men. Your son has made a fine contribution to himself, his Army and his country. My congratulations to you."

Coin Club To Hold Meeting

The Daniel Boone Coin Club will hold its regular monthly meeting today (Thurs.) at 7:30 p. m., in the old elementary school building. A trading session will be held, and members are urged to bring a friend who might want to buy or trade old coins. A special feature of the meeting will be the auction, where several hard-to-find coins will be placed on the block, according to the announcement.

QUEEN EXPECTING FOURTH

London—Britons cheered the news that Queen Elizabeth II is expecting her fourth child. The news that Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip will be parents of four children is expected to have a personal meaning for many young British couples who look to royalty to set a pattern for family life.

New Draft Rules Cited By Chairman Todd

Married men between the ages of 18 and 26, in Watauga County and throughout the nation, can breathe a little easier as regards the military draft, announced Joe W. Todd, chairman of the local Selective Service Draft Board.

By a special executive order made by President John F. Kennedy on September 10 of this year, the order of selection for military induction has been changed, and will exclude married men.

This does not mean that married men in general have received a special collective deferment from army duty. It means merely that married men have been placed in a postponed status regarding the draft. They may be reclassified at any time, especially in times of national emergency or crisis, or in case of an acute shortage of prospective draftees from other groups.

Previously the rule applied only to men who had children.

The new directive requires local draft boards to obtain marriage certificates from young men claiming to be married. Anyone eligible for the draft who has married recently should recognize that this effects a change in his draft status, and should report the fact to his local board.

In fact, Mr. Todd pointed out, young men should be cautioned to keep in closer touch with their local boards regarding other changes in status. "College students, for instance," he said, "usually are under the impression that the very fact of their being in college will keep them from being drafted. This simply isn't true, unless they have reported the fact to a local board. If one who hasn't done so receives an induction notice, he may of course be deferred; but the deferment would raise his age of eligibility automatically to 35."

Mr. Todd also pointed out the importance of keeping one's local selective service board informed of changes in place of residence, especially since draft regulations may vary from state to state. "There is no such thing as more as dodging the draft," he said. "Either you're legitimately deserving of a deferment, or you're not."

The surest way to enjoy life is to provide your own security by saving something every month.
