JEAN'S PERSONAL COLUMN Dear Jane And Rachel

It was mighty good to talk with both of you yesterday . . . the next best thing to seeing you. So glad you and Art are coming for a visit soon, Jane. And Rachel, we are proud as can be that you have had two by-lines in the Columbia Missourian during the last two weeks. We would have been pleased with two for the entire year. Congratulations! That took some doing.

I went to a bridge-luncheon at Lucille Newton's home last Tuesday. She lives in that large rock house overlooking the gorge . . . near The Blowing Rock. It was a delightful day . . . just wonderful to look at such a beautiful view between the game and conversation. And, the luncheon was a work of art.

The Ninth District Democrats met here Saturday night for a dinner meeting at Appalachian Elementary School. A lot of mighty nice people came from all over the district and we especially appreciate their presence because they had to come in a downpour of rain. Doubt that I would have made the effort they made. Mrs. Wiley Smith prepared the dinner and it was exceptionally good, as always. My only regret is that we had to rush through everything. At the other meetings we have had leisurely visits before and after dinner and that gives all a chance to find out the latest happenings over the district. The next meeting will be held in Salisbury and I imagine this will be the biggest of any to this date. We have been feeling our way for several weeks, but when we are ready for the proper sort of publicity we expect tremendous crowds. State Democratic Chairman Lusford Crew will speak at the Salisbury meeting.

Glenn and Evelyn Lewis of Merritt Island, Fla. surprised us with a visit Friday. It was wonderful to see them after such a long absence. The last time they were here was in 1955. It was interesting to hear them tell of the amazing things that are going on in their home town. It would take pages and pages to cover all, but the highlights are that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will spend $750 million dollars on Cape Canaveral's newly-acquired Merritt Island Launch Area. This will be the moonport from which the first Apollo astronaut team will rocket toward the moon. Construction will soon begin there on the vertical assembly building, where five Saturn rockets can be assembled at the same time. It will be the world's largest building . . . 32 stories tall, 670 feet long, 515 feet wide and 324 feet tall at the highest point. The building will enclose 128 million cubic feet of space, and will be 50 per cent larger than the Pentagon. This will cost over $100 million dollars and is supposed to be completed in 1965. Whee! Isn't this something to think about? Certainly would like to see it one of these days. Glenn and Evelyn can stand in their home and watch all the rocket shots, and they say they are beautiful at night. Just hope all of them continue to go in the right direction.

I'm sure this pie recipe has been around for some time, but I hadn't seen it before. Found it in Al Resch's Chatham News, and it is a dandy.

German Chocolate Pie
1/2 pkg. German chocolate
1/2 stick butter
4 eggs, separated
1 small can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar

Melt together the chocolate and butter. Beat the egg yolks; add sugar and milk, then vanilla. Beat well. Then add the chocolate mixture and beat well. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake at 350 for 35 to 40 minutes or until done.

For meringue, beat egg whites until stiff, adding two tablespoons sugar for each white. Put meringue on pie and bake until brown.

For variety, you may add one-half cup chopped nuts and/or one-fourth cup coconut to the pie before baking.

Mrs. Boone and I rode over to Blowing Rock Sunday afternoon to see the lovely colored leaves. Surely they won't improve this season, though I am told they will.

Love,
Mom
