

Speaking Of Golf

By JOE MAPLES

About fifty people enjoyed a fine evening of entertainment during the fifth annual awards banquet held Monday night at the Dan'l Boone Inn. Alfred Adams did his usual fine job as master of ceremonies and everyone enjoyed his witty comments.

Winners in the recent club tournament were presented their trophies, including Ernest Hayes who defeated Jack Groce in the finals on Sunday. In the other match that was decided Sunday, John Broyhill defeated A. E. Hamby for the first flight championship.

The second annual ASTC Alumni Golf Tournament was played over the local course Sunday with thirty-eight contestants taking part. Ernest Hayes won medalist honors in this event with a three over par 74 followed by Billy Cook with 77. Winners in Class "A" were, first, with a net score of 70, Sam Travis followed by Jack Groce second and A. E. Hamby third. In Class "B" Ted Barnett shot a net score of 72 for first, followed by Tracy Bellou second and Roy Blanton third. Carl Meeks shot a net score of 73 for first in Class "C" and he was followed in second place by Ray Walker and R. D. Hodges, Jr. in third. First place in the ladies' division went to Earle Thomas with a net score of 72. Pearl Dowling was next, followed by Fran Weber third. All winners can pick up their prizes at the Golf Shop except out of town winners and they should contact Coach Francis Hoover for theirs.

Harvey Ayers took the "booby" prize, a pack of broken tees, for his score of 100 plus. By the way, Harvey and Bob Masten are planning a match in the near future. Harvey is going to play right handed and Bob is going to switch over and play from the port side. This should draw quite a crowd.

Boone Ladies Golf Assn. Eight ladies played in the weekly Ladies Day event last week and took part in a blind bogey tournament with Jo Jones and Fran Weber winning the prizes. Jo had the low score for the day, a 92. A "new look" is gradually taking place in the ladies locker room. The girls have worked hard this summer to make some nice improvements including new carpet and a fresh coat of paint. When finished, the girls will have something to be proud of.

Apps Go To La. To Meet N. W. State

The Appalachian Mountaineers take to the road this week as they make the long journey to Natchitoches, Louisiana, to meet the Demons of Northwestern State College in an inter-sectional clash. The game pits the current leader of the Carolinas Conference against last year's champions of the powerful Gulf States Conference in the first meeting ever between the two schools.

Appalachian and Northwestern won victories in Homecoming battles this past weekend. Appalachian downed Carson-Newman College 24-0 while Northwestern beat Florence State 33-14. The Mountaineers currently own a 5-2 season record with the Demons now at 2-4.

Little is known about the Northwestern offensive attack except that football in the Gulf States Conference is usually a wide-open affair with plenty of razzle dazzle. Emphasis is placed upon speedy backs operating behind a huge forward wall. The Mountaineers will be countering with one of the top defensive rushing units in the nation. The Appalachian line, led by Little All-American candidate Greg Van Orden and Larry Hand, has allowed opponents an average of 52.6 yards per contest on the ground.

End Larry Harbin and Van Orden are battling for top ball-stealing honors. Harbin has intercepted six enemy passes while Van Orden has intercepted five. Van Orden also has two fumble recoveries to his credit and one blocked punt. The senior guard has scored three touchdowns this year, two on pass interceptions and one blocked punt return.

The Mountaineers uncovered a potential offensive star last week in the person of fullback Larry Lawing. The Mt. Holly junior has been used mostly this season as a defensive end, but has really performed brilliantly on the few plays he has been used on offense. With halfbacks Nikki Helms and Tom Culbreth sidelined because of injuries, Lawing got his chance Saturday. He proved himself by rolling up 80 yards rushing on 20 carries and scoring a touchdown.

Bowlers Of The Week

By JAKE JACOBS

Georgia Smitherman stood out in the ladies competition for the week by hitting the pins for a 496 set on games of 188, 164 and 144. Georgia three game average of 165 was 21 pins over her league average.

In the Boone Jaycees Junior League, David Thomas maintained his league leading average with a three game set of 474 and a high game of 182. David's average in league competition is 158, followed by Jay Jacobs at 153.

Marvin Deal continued his hot bowling with a second straight 800 plus set in the Boone Ten Pin League. Marvin hit games of 197, 180, 223 and 228 for a fine 828 set. His 207 average for the night gave him a tie for high set in the league.

Devils Roll Over Taylorsville, 32-0

By RONNIE HUNT

The Appalachian High School Blue Devils rolled over the Bears of Taylorsville High School last Friday night by the impressive margin of 32-0. It was the Devils' third straight win and it brought their season record to 7 wins and 1 loss. Appalachian's running attack was bottled up by the larger Taylorsville line, but their passing attack and defensive play was more than enough to make up for it. An example of Appalachian's defensive prowess was the fact that the Bears did not move the ball within the Devils' 30-yard line all night long.

In the first quarter, neither team was able to advance the ball, and the score was 0-0 at the end of the period. Early in the second quarter, quarterback Jim Reary rolled out to his right and threw a pass to Phi Hampton who sprinted into the end zone to complete a 22-yard scoring play. Wingback Jackie Roten ran around his own left end for the extra point. Later in the quarter, Taylorsville attempted a fake punt and pass on fourth down, but alert linebacker Gary Storie was there to stop the play short of a first down. From there (midfield) the Devils drove down to Taylorsville's 8-yard line where Reary threw over the middle to end Ronnie Hunt for the score. A running attempt for the extra point failed. With time running out in the first half, Appalachian took over once again and on first down Reary threw a long pass to end Bob Wilson on a play which carried the ball to the Taylorsville 16-yard line. After a running play was stopped for no gain, Reary rolled to his left and threw to Hunt who weaved his way into the end zone to give Appalachian a 10-0 halftime advantage.

Midway through the third period, safetymen Johnny Parker picked a Taylorsville fumble out of the air to give the Devils possession of the ball in Taylorsville territory. From there Appalachian marched down to the 3-yard line where fullback Wayne Clawson boomed in for the TD behind the blocking of Buddy Storie and Gary Brown. Jim Reary then passed to Ron Hunt for the extra point. Late in the game, Taylorsville dropped back to punt, but a bad snap from center was fumbled. Sophomore Steve Hampton picked up the loose ball on the Taylorsville 25-yard line and scampered all the way for the touchdown, giving the Devils their 32-0 final score.

Appalachian passed 14 times and completed 9 for 141 yards. On Friday, Appalachian will journey to West Jefferson where they will take on the Beavers of Beaver Creek in their final regular season game of the year. The Beavers are enjoying their best season in recent years, so the game should be an interesting one.

DILLON PLEADS TAX CUT

Secretary of the Treasury Dillon, after twenty days of closed hearings, finally got his chance of selling President Kennedy's tax-cut package to Senator Byrd and his Senate Finance Committee.

Senator Byrd (D., Va.) has made no secret of preferring to hold up action on the cut until the 1964 session. It was this that Dillon argued strongly against.

App—P. Hampton 22 pass from Reary (Roten run); App—Hunt 8 pass from Reary (run failed); App—Hunt 16 pass from Reary (pass failed); App—Clawson 3 run (Hunt pass from Reary); App—S. Hampton 25 recovered fumble (run failed).

Comment On Sports

By PETE FRITCHIE

Washington, D. C. — The boisterous and shouts of joy rang loudly through Los Angeles and other towns and cities when the New York Yankees had their noses rubbed in the mud, but good, in the World Series.

Now the popular pastime is to say the Yanks will never be the same. Just as so many flocked to the slogan that the Yankees couldn't be beaten, now the crowd is embracing the theory that the Yankee dynasty is collapsing.

Neither extreme is true. The Yankees can be beaten, of course, for the Los Angeles Dodgers have just done it, in four straight games, and limited this team, which was supposedly the best-over Yankee team, to fewer runs than any other team ever scored in a four-game Series.

So, are the Yankees' finished? Not true; the Dodgers had superlative pitching. Actually, New York pitching in the Series was not bad. Whitey Ford had an off day in the first game, and the Dodgers scored five runs that day—but they never did thereafter. In the third game the Dodgers were held to one run and in the fourth they got two but only one was earned. The Dodgers scored but twelve runs in the Series themselves, many of those not earned.

The Series proved again, as it will in future years, that great pitching will win. If it is great enough, it checks the hitters. And the Dodgers had great hurling, though Don Drysdale, the only righthander to work for the Dodgers, probably pitched the best game of the Series. Not so spectacular, just the best!

Many baseball folk, like Charlie Dresen, of the Tigers, was impressed at the job left-handers did on the New Yorks. But Drysdale did well too. Dresen says he wants five left-handed starters on the Tiger team next year. But Frank Lary, the most famous Yankee killer of recent years in the junior major loop, is also righthander. So the lefthanded thing could be overrated.

The Yankees played good ball generally, in the field. They had good pitching, not wonderful, but good. They failed to hit, and the Dodgers got most
