

Overman Gives Poultry Pointers

Care of Pullets Stressed By Chowan County Agent

Poultry raisers are urged to avoid spreading poultry manure too thickly or leaving it in piles on hand. It should be preserved and used wisely on the farm as it will be a valuable source of nitrogen next season, especially since the chemical nitrogen supply for fertilizer will be greatly curtailed.

Wet mash should not be fed or lights used on early hatched pullets soon after they start laying. These practices should be held in reserve for use after some signs of a break in production have appeared. Early hatched pullets may show some break in production after 60 to 90 days of laying. That is the time to start the wet mash at noon each day. When another slump in production is noticed after starting the wet mash, then lights should be used. Morning lights are preferred and the birds should not be given more than a 13-hour day. Lights and wet mash may also be used to help old hens in production.

With the arrival of September, County Agent C. W. Overman says that since the extremely hot weather began in July, flocks with egg breeding back of them have come up in production after the slump more satisfactorily than the broiler production strains.

As hens are culled out and sold, advises Mr. Overman, combine the ones left and start cleaning and repairing laying houses. Floors and side walls should be scrubbed with hot lye water, using a 13-ounce can of lye to not more than 15 gallons of hot water. In case of wood floors, it would be well to paint the floor with a wood preserver.

Laying houses should be kept as open as possible, providing through ventilation for the pullets that have been out in the open range shelters or trees. Houses should not be closed up until cool weather arrives, and then they should be closed gradually, a little of the ventilator space at a time. If pullets are transferred from range to a tight, poorly ventilated laying house, they are much more subject to a neck molt.

Funeral Wednesday For William Thomas Davis

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for William Thomas Davis at the home near Sign Pine. The Rev. J. T. Byrum, pastor of Ballards Bridge Baptist Church officiated and interment was made in the family burying ground.

Pallbearers were: Active—James Ward, Leland Ward, William Ward, Paul Ward, Fermoer Ward and Elton Ward; Honorary—W. T. Smith, E. E. Boyce, T. J. Boyce, A. T. Perry, E. T. Brinkley, G. A. Boyce, J. D. Ward, and T. W. Berryman.

Mr. Davis, who would have been 54 years old Saturday, died Monday morning, August 24, at 5:30 o'clock, following a cerebral hemorrhage. While his health had not been good for some time, he seemed unusually well on the Sunday preceding his death, spending the day with his son and attending services at Happy Home at night. Soon after returning home he was stricken and never regained consciousness.

Always willing to help his neighbors he will be missed in his community.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sallie Parks Davis; two sons, Thomas Davis, now with the U. S. Armed Forces, and Carson Davis, of near Gliden; two daughters, Mrs. Jesse Craft and Mrs. Thomas Ashley, of Newport News, Va., and one brother, Charlie Davis, of near Center Hill. Four grandchildren also survive.

Weekly Newspapers Chosen To Advertise Livermon Pickers

Three hundred weekly newspapers throughout the south and southwestern Peanut Belt states have been selected for an advertising campaign lasting several weeks by Cary R. Livermon Company of Roxobel, manufacturers of peanut picking machines. The Herald is one of the 300 chosen for the campaign.

"In selecting key weekly newspapers in 300 communities throughout the peanut belt," said Mr. Livermon, "I was influenced by the belief that the weekly newspapers furnish the best contact with the people because they are closely read, and their circulation is centralized. There is no lost circulation scattered over wide areas; you get the reader interest you pay for."

The Livermon Company has for many years manufactured peanut pickers and is one of the leaders in the field. At the Livermon plant is an experimental laboratory which is devoted to the interests of the peanut growers, where experts are constantly at work devising means of bettering their product so as to make the peanut crop easier to handle and more profitable for the grower. This year there is wide-spread interest in peanut growing and development of machinery to handle the crop due to the fact the government has contracted with farmers to plant more than 4,000,000 additional acres in order to provide peanut oil and peanut food vitally needed in the war effort.

J. H. Haskett Patient In Norfolk Hospital

J. H. Haskett is now a patient in the General Hospital, Norfolk, Va., where he was taken early last week. Mr. Haskett underwent an operation Friday and while showing some progress, his condition is not as satisfactory as his relatives and friends would like to see. Mrs. Haskett is also in Norfolk to be near her husband during his confinement.

Let's Talk About Money

... and WAR

When you hear that bombing planes cost $335,000, tanks $75,000, anti-aircraft guns $50,000—And when you hear, too, that America needs 60,000 planes, 45,000 tanks, and 20,000 anti-aircraft guns at once—

It doesn't take much figuring to see that winning this war calls for every dollar all of us can scrape together. With our freedom at stake—with our farms, families, even our very lives depending upon the outcome, we'd gladly give this money.

But we aren't asked to do that. Our Government asks us only to lend the money—to put our increased earnings into War Bonds—month after month—until this war is won. In doing so, we save for our own security as well. For we get back $4 for every $3 we invest, when the Bonds are held 10 years. And if we need the money, we can get it all back any time after 60 days from issue date. This is the American way—the volunteer way—to raise the billions needed for Victory. And the money can... will... must be raised.

So let's show them that the farmers of America are helping to win this war in two vitally important ways—by producing more Food for Freedom and by saving more in War Bonds. Make Every Market Day "Bond Day"—Invest At Least 10%.
