REMEMBER LAST DECEMBER!

FOOD FOR FREEDOM

A PLEDGE fulfilled...

As we entered the war last year American farmers voluntarily pledged to step up the food production of the nation 60 percent. The harvest this fall is proof that their pledge has been fulfilled with extra measure and that there will be plenty of Food for Freedom during the months ahead.

Every American owes a debt of gratitude to the farmers who have fulfilled their pledge to provide the food for our fighting men, our civilian population and for our allies. They've delivered the goods this year and they'll be right there next fall with the required food. Here's a well earned tribute to these men and their families, who have contributed so nobly to our war effort.
