THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

YOU MUST HEED TOO: Blessed is the man that heareth men, watching daily at my gates.—Pvs. 8:34.

Another Bull's Eye

It is encouraging to note that Chowan County has again met and even exceeded its quota in the Red Cross Fund Raising Campaign, Chairman J. Clarence Leary reporting early this week that contributions totaled $3,000, which is $500 above the $2,500 quota set for the county.

The drive was rather discouraging at the outset when early reports failed to come up to expectations, and but for persistent efforts on the part of Chairman Leary and his co-workers, Chowan might have defaulted for the first time in meeting a Red Cross quota. While somewhat disappointed early in the drive, Mr. Leary did not give up hope for he felt certain Chowan County people would again rally to the Red Cross appeal and contribute their fair share.

This year's quota was considerably below that of last year, which no doubt had some effect on individual contributions, but when contributions appeared lacking to meet the quota, it didn't take long for the people of the county to dig down in their jeans and raise enough to maintain the county's long record of meeting Red Cross quotas.

Chairman Leary is very appreciative for the time and effort given by canvassers and for the contributions made by people all over the county, and The Herald joins in complimenting Mr. Leary and all concerned for another job well done.

In The Limelight

Two Edenton youngsters are in the limelight this week, one being Miss Charlotte Bunch and the other Philip McMullan, Jr.

Miss Bunch has been honored by her election as president of the Eastern District of the North Carolina State Student Council Congress at a meeting held at Kinston. Her election came as a surprise, though Miss Bunch merits the honor. She is one of the most active and popular students we've seen at the Edenton school in a long time, having taken part in many activities since she, as a tot, graced the Edenton High School Band as a drum majorette. She has done a splendid job in all of her undertakings, so that it is a safe bet she will perform her new duties with credit to herself and the school.

The Herald congratulates her upon the election and joins with her fellow students and teachers in a feeling of just pride.

The other youngster is Philip McMullan, Jr. According to information received by The Herald from Detroit just as The Herald forms were being closed, young McMullan is an entrant in the 1946 competition of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild for building model automobiles and Napoleonic coaches. Thousands of youths throughout the country will compete for prizes which total $75,000, including eight university scholarships.

Philip is one of the most loyal Edenton Boy Scouts, who takes his work seriously, and even if he doesn't win one of the awards, he can be depended upon to give a good account of himself in the contest.

The Herald, too, congratulates him for being ac-

Maybe it's no need to have an election in May, for about a dozen returned veterans the other night held an "election" in Ed Habit's beer parlor. I couldn't learn the whole slate of officers, but found out that Robert Rawls was "elected" Mayor; James Bond, Treasurer (he works in the bank), and William Barrow, Street Commissioner. When all in the group had an office, they realized that they had no Sheriff, so they decided the next returned veteran who entered the place would be the Sheriff. John Skiles happened to be the next one to put in an appearance and was "elected" Sheriff. The group went into a huddle and immediately issued an order to the new Sheriff to go out and collect enough taxes for another round of beer.

A sign which is attracting quite a bit of attention these days is the one in the former Ziegler Building now owned by S. W. Taylor. The large sign is to the effect that the building will be transformed into another theater which will seat 450 people, thus giving Edenton two picture shows. The work will get under way as soon as materials are available.

Yep, the weather has been splendid lately, but even then some of the boys going fishing get fooled. Take Henry Gardner, for instance. He tried his luck Saturday afternoon down Yeopim River way and wore an old pair of basketweave pants. After the sun began to go down and a stiff breeze continued to blow, Henry said the meshes in his pants felt as large as those of a herring net. At any rate, he was shivering about as much as a herring when caught in a net. Oh, yes, the result of the trip—seven fish caught by three fishermen.

Chief Petty Officers and their guests had a big time at the CPO Club Saturday night when an old time square dance was featured. The dance floor was filled with dancers for each set, but the trouble is that it's too much dancing at one time. The bloomin' orchestra played pieces which had about 90 verses to them, and I don't see how Sid Ward could hold out much longer showing the bow back and forth across his fiddle. But then, that's the square dance way, I reckon.

At the Edenton base there are the Officers' Club, the Chief Petty Officers' Club and the Enlisted Men's Club, which equals the clubs in Edenton—the 'Possum Club, the Black Whip and the latest one, the Coffee Club. I know the principal function of the 'Possum Club—eating, while I never have learned anything about the Black Whip. However, I understand members of the Coffee Club gather each morning to sip a cup o' coffee and discuss or cuss things in general in Edenton.

Edenton has lost one of its most loyal "employees," all because Frank passed away the other day. Frank was only a dog but he had just about as much intelligence as a lot of people. For about 10 years he followed equipment of the Street Department and was as regular to report every morning, except Sunday, as any human could be. Frank, who was owned by John G. Small, evidently sensed his death, for when leaving on that day he went to Mr. Small and placed his head in his lap before going to "work." In fact Mr. Small for many years let Frank out about 4 o'clock each morning, and many times the dog awakened someone in the house to be turned out. A fitting burial was held by members of the Street Department, Frank being interred near the Town's trash pile, where he had gone time and again with the town's equipment. Frank had a lot of friends in Edenton, and he will be greatly missed by all who work on the Street Department.

Which reminds me of what Chief of Police George Dail said the other day, after he had occasion to speak to a local man, who, he said, apparently didn't have any reason. "I'd rather talk to my dog than some stubborn people," said the Chief. "For the dog will wag his tail." George was accepted into the contest, and hopes he will be able to land one of the prizes.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear why you call that an old fashioned idea, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard on the subject."

"JES' SQUEEZE NATCHEL, SONNY!"

This is a drawing of one of the eight fine paintings by Hy Hintermeister

A LOT OF GOOD COMES FROM THE EARTH

Sonny was sayin' that ol' bossy cow is jes' a natchel factory for making milk out o' fodder. But I tell him that making good milk begins when mother nature gave us the fertilizer to help the fodder grow. I was referrin' to the natchel soda us farmers uses on all our crops.

Natchel soda comes right from the earth. Nobody knows for sure quite how it got there. But they does know the wonderful things natchel Chilean soda does for crops.

Seems like jes' being natchel makes Chilean soda different from any other kind. Maybe folks won't be able to get all they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get, it may do.
