THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

GOD IS EAGER TO DO WONDERS IN OUR LIVES: And Joshua said unto the people, sanctify yourselves; for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you.—Josh. 3:5.

In New Role

Edenton's Town Councilmen took on more responsibilities Tuesday night when they accepted the Beaver Hill Cemetery from Beaver Hill Cemetery Corporation and Beaver Hill Cemetery Association, both groups agreeing to transfer the property with the provision that the cemetery be maintained in a proper manner. Proper papers have been prepared for the transfer and acceptance on the part of the town provides a sigh of relief for a small group of Edenton women who have worried, and worked hard for many years in the interest of an attractive cemetery.

No little amount of praise and credit is due these few women for their interest and efforts, for they have carried on under great handicaps, especially in recent years. They have, by their work, set an example for Town Council in operating the cemetery and it should be encouraging to this group of loyal women to know that the city Fathers will do their best in keeping the cemetery attractive and even make some improvement.

While Town Council as a whole is now responsible for the affairs of the cemetery, the lion's share of the responsibility will be borne by W. M. Wilkins, who has been appointed custodian. It isn't a small job, and Mr. Wilkins would rather not have been appointed, but he has accepted the appointment and is no little interested in conducting affairs in such manner that both the cemetery groups will not regret their decision to make the cemetery a gift to the town.

It will be voted that under the town's supervision the price of lots has been increased from around $35 to $80. This price will be charged residents of Edenton or those who own property here. The price per lot for non-residents or non-taxpayers will be $120. However, under the new prices, there will be no charge for upkeep, in contrast with the former policy of charging each owner of a lot $1.50 per year for upkeep.

Explanation for the difference in price of lots is that with the cemetery under the town's administration some of the cost will necessarily have to be paid by the town, so that it was not deemed fair for those not paying town taxes to secure a lot at the same price. This is the policy followed in all of the towns where cemeteries are under the town's administration.

Not having cemetery experience, Town Council will, possibly, face some problems, at the outset, but the purpose is to maintain the cemetery in such manner as to be an asset to the town.

All Should Help

Although Easter Seals are now being sold for the purpose of aiding crippled children, another drive is also announced this week equally as important, which is to help fight cancer.

Jesse Harrell has been appointed chairman for Chowan County in the cancer drive, the county being asked to raise $325, and it is hoped this amount will be realized during the drive which will be in progress the remainder of the month.

Cancer is considered our number one enemy, it being figured that one of every eight of us is doomed to die from this dreaded disease. This means 17,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer unless we act to conquer it or bring it under rigid control. It has also been learned that 50 per cent of all cases of cancer could be cured if detected early enough and treated properly. A gift now to fight cancer may protect your home or the one next door from this terrible malady.

Both drives now in progress are very worthy, and it is expected that Chowan County will live up to its reputation for generosity in any worthy cause.

Buy Easter Seals and help make some crippled child happy. Contribute in the cancer drive to help fight a deadly enemy which kills more children between the ages of 5 and 20 years than infantile paralysis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough combined.

Worth Hearing

One of the most enlightening affairs and one which is least attended by grown-ups, who should be interested, is the triangular debates. The debate this year will be held Wednesday, April 17, in the school auditorium, the query being very timely, "Resolved that compulsory military train-

HEARD & SEEN

By "BUFF"

I'm trying to figure out who in the dickens I know in Michigan, but evidently someone lives there who reads The Herald. Just the other day the following letter post-marked Ionia, Michigan, was received:

"Dear Mr. Bufflap: I have read several of your comments on fishing in your locality. Evidently from your articles you think you're the best fisherman and have the best fishing anywhere.

"If you want to do some good fishing, Bub, and see some good fishermen who are really good fishermen it would be well for you and your experts to come up here and see what good fishing is.

"We can give you any kind of fishing you could wish for, Bub. We have some fish that are really wild, yes wild, Bub, wild as a tiger, so wild that you almost hear them growl under the water, then we have some so tame that they will eat a worm right out of your hand, Bub, you just haven't ever seen good fishing until you come up here and that goes for that feller Cal Kramer and Jim Cates you boast so much of, Bub.

"Why Bub, we never use but one worm to fish with, we take a little whiskey along, soak the worm in the whiskey, put it on a hook and drop it overboard. Why, Bub, by the time the cork hits the water the worm has gotten the fish by the neck so we pull the fish in and take it away from the worm and soak the worm some more, drop it overboard again and the worm catches another fish and so on until we get tired of fishing, Bub. So you see we don't need but one worm, Bub.

"We can always tell how much a fish weighs before we pull it out of the water, Bub, for the fish furnish their own scales. (Editor's note—That's an old one, Bub.)

"Now, Bub, if you and your expert fishing friends want to do some tall fishing, come up. You will not have to go back with stale rusty yarns about your fishing but, Bub, you will have concrete evidence of actual facts, figures and photos, Bub, to prove your statements, for photos don't lie.

"Yours for better fishing Bub,

"From a fisherman that doesn't brag or boast."

Yeah, Bub, I've tried that picture business, but because we've had Paul Olsson around here (he's an artist, Bub.) I was accused of having Friend Olsson paint the picture. In fact John Holmes said the picture actually looked like fish. Anyway, Bub, fishing is all off around here for a few weeks now, but when the season opens again—oh, boy!

At this time many Herald readers are renewing their subscriptions, having been reminded that their subscription has or will soon expire, and as a result quite a few comments accompany the checks, all of which express pleasure in receiving the paper. One of these comments came from Mrs. J. A. White, who now lives at Elizabeth, N. J. "You have no idea how I look forward each week for The Herald," said Mrs. White. "For in that way I keep in touch with dear old Edenton and my friends there." But Mrs. White also offered me a good tip on fishing, writing, "By the way, if you will get brush and wire them together, then fastening same and a bushel of corn meal to a stake in deep water, with only a small end of the stake sticking out so only you can find the spot, you will soon have a certain charm to catch all the fresh fish you want. Good luck to you. I'd like to go fishing, too." Oh yeah, I'd like to see somebody be able to have a good fishing hole around here now without the whole works knowing it after the first real catch.

Then the Rev. Frank Cale, now at Louisville, Ky., writes that he and Mrs. Cale enjoy The Herald and would not be without it, as "it is for us a link with our people back home. Please give to them our greetings. We hope to get back to Chowan for a visit during the summer." Incidentally Mr. Cale enclosed a poem which he wrote and which has been quite favorably received by students and members of the faculty at the Baptist Seminary. Here 'tis:

SAY NOT THE VICTORY'S WON

Say not the victory's won,
Though furled at last the battle flag may be
And wildly men proclaim the world is free,
The struggle's just begun.
This is not victory,
While tyranny spawns in the brains of men
And despots dream their drunken dreams again,
Alas, we are not free.
We have not yet attained
When still the few inspired by naught but self
Defeat the common good for paltry self,
With truth and justice chained.
The victory is not yet.
While mute-faced children sift the refuse-heaps
And hunger gluts with death a thousand streets,
O let us not forget,
We have not reached our goal
While any man for whom the Savior died,
For race or creed is human rights denied,
Go right these wrongs, brave soul,
Say not the victory's won,
Although 'tis true the battle flag is furled,
Until at last we are in truth "one world"
Wherever shines the sun.
The victory shall be won
When through the eyes of Christ we see each other,
And black and white and yellow cry, "my brother!"
Then shall God's will be done.

A recent news release by the National Audubon Society of New York is to the effect that the waterfowl supply is substantially less than it was a year ago and that on top of that 1,700,000 duck stamps were sold the past season as compared with 1,458,000 the previous season. Besides, according to the release, the number of stamps sold next season will be still larger due to returning veterans. The society, therefore, has decided to recommend to the Federal government to reduce the length of the open season from 80 to 30 days for the 1946-47 hunting season and to reduce the bag limit from 10 to 5 birds per day, with possession limit the same as the bag limit. Huh, the bag limit will not affect a lot of us who try to shoot the scudders.

Gosh ding, there's even more newspaper reporters now in Edenton than I mentioned last week, for I forgot all about Sam Nash, sports writer for the Binghamton Sun. I miscued, too, in saying Al Lamb was the Sun's sports writer, for he's employed by the Binghamton Press. Both of 'em are fine fellows and here's hoping they are thawed out now after Sunday's game.

Here's one who attended the meeting of newspaper folks in Jacksonville, N. C., over the week-end. My space is used up, so that all I can say is that it was a newspaper meeting.

ing should be given to every boy between the ages of 18 and 24."

Almost every person has his or her opinion about this proposition, and enlightening arguments will be heard from both angles when the debaters present their arguments. These youngsters devote a considerable amount of time to study and searching for favorable information in support of their particular view, so that it will be worth anyone's time to listen to them and benefit by what they have to say both for and against compulsory military training.

The Elizabeth City and Washington teams will debate in Edenton, and school teachers and officials will be delighted to see many adults present instead of the mere handful as is most usually the case at the annual debates.

Air Station Baseball Team Is Organized

Only Three Players Left From Last Year's Champions

Though the Edenton Naval Air Station has lost most of the players on last year's baseball team, the base has a team on the field with a schedule of several games already arranged. The team will be in charge of Lieut. E. A. Wilbur, welfare and recreation officer, who states that while the Binghamton team is using Hicks Field, games will be played on the diamond at the base, but after Binghamton returns to their home diamond games will be transferred to Hicks Field in order to be more convenient for citizens to attend. However, the public is invited to attend games played at the Air Station.

Of last year's team, which won the Service League Championship, only three players remain at the base, these being Lembo, who is well remembered as the most outstanding catcher in the league, Setran and Mason.

The team played Windsor on the base diamond Wednesday afternoon and on Saturday afternoon Harrellsville will play at the base.

On Sunday a game will be played at Cherry Point and Tuesday of next week the team will play at Hertford in a night game starting at 8 o'clock.
