THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

BE SYMPATHETIC AND UNDERSTANDING: Rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with them that weep.—Romans 12:15.

Venture Worth Considering

Good music is a vital factor in the growth and development of a community, so that The Herald regrets that Edenton has for several years now been without a High School Band. Now, however, an opportunity will be presented to enjoy a series of concerts in which the best artists in the world can be heard, depending upon the number of people who are interested and buy memberships in the Community Concert Association. The more memberships secured, the higher type artists will appear in Edenton.

Each member will pay annual dues which entitles him or her to attend all of the concerts presented each season without any further expense. It is a non-profit organization, every dollar secured going toward paying the artists and any necessary local expenses. Admission to the concerts will be only by memberships, so that no admissions will be sold after the concerts are scheduled. Thus there is an assurance of an audience before any talent is engaged. The artists will also be chosen by the local association.

A preliminary meeting was held last week and so much interest developed that the association was organized and a meeting called for tonight (Thursday) in the Hotel Coffee Shop at 8:15. Representatives from the various organizations have been appointed to attend this meeting in an effort to sign a contract and to further discuss the idea, but any others who are interested in having the concerts are cordially invited to attend.

These concerts by world famous artists and musical attractions add prestige and distinction to any city, so that The Herald hopes that enough interest will be aroused to sign a contract and that after that enough memberships will be secured to warrant scheduling the most outstanding artists among the long list available.

"Feed My Lambs"

It is reasonable to assume that if a starving person appeared at any home in Chowan County asking for food he would be given something to eat. But while everyone in Chowan County apparently has plenty to eat, there are millions in war-torn countries who will starve unless the people of the United States come to their rescue by sending enough food for them to survive.

Scores of thousands in Europe and Asia appear certainly doomed, but many other lives can be saved if we get behind the Emergency Food Collection, for which J. L. Chestnutt is chairman in Chowan County. During the drive our people are asked to contribute canned food to be sent overseas as soon as possible. In event there is no such food on the pantry shelves, cash contributions will be equally as acceptable which will go toward purchasing food centrally and in large quantities.

If we help to feed those who now starve we may well be protecting our own children and grandchildren from the burning bomb, the shattering guns, the slow or sudden death.

Centuries ago it was ordered by a compassion that knew neither race, creed nor color, "Feed My Lambs." Can we afford to ignore this plea, knowing we are all children of God?

In the name of humanity we are asked to give something to eat in order to help prevent starving and famine. We in Chowan who have never known hunger should give to those who are dying of it.

HEARD & SEEN

By "BUFF"

Well, the Democratic Primary is over, and here's one who can now tell who was elected. Of course, I've met up with a number of the boys who "knew" all the time who would be elected. Wise guys, some of 'em. Anyway, now that the election is a thing of the past maybe a fellow can hold a conversation without the injection of politics before the conversation is scarcely more than started. Of course, hard feelings in some cases developed, but here's one who voted without being influenced by any of the hot air going the rounds, and treated all candidates alike, so that I can continue to be as friendly with those who lost as those who won. I value friendship too much to lose it because of an office holder trying to hold his job and another trying to get in. Here's congratulations to all of the winners.

I've always considered Wade Cashion as an honest man, but I can't quite figure out his explanation for having one of his hands all bandaged up. First he told me he hooked a big bass up the creek and the bloomin' fish pulled and jerked so hard that his wrist was sprained in trying to land it. Of course, Cal Kramer was nearby at the time, so that Wade changed his story a little, saying that he fell at the USO Club, landing on his mid-section and in trying to prevent falling injured his wrist. "My hand is all that you can see bandaged," he said.

A few days last week, I attended the Great Council meeting of Red Men and, of course, met up with folks from all over the State. Naturally, some of 'em were impressed with seeing so much water and several conversations developed relative to conditions in various counties. The Edenton group put in a good word about Chowan County, which brought a remark from another delegate that his county was so poor that the crows carry their lunch when flying over. Another said some sections of his county are in such bad shape that rabbits strap a carrot across their backs in order to have something to eat while roaming around. All of which makes me glad I live in little old Chowan.

"I have been hankerin' to see our old band get together after a four-year 'recess' for sort of a reunion," wrote Charlie McCullers the other day. Mac will be remembered as director of Ednton's crack High School Band several years ago and is willing to run over from Kinston to stage a concert on the night of July 4. He has had a number of favorable replies, so let's send him some more in order to induce him to pull off the stunt. Maybe it will be an incentive to revive the Edenton band, which was and would continue to be an asset to the town.

Maybe I could have gotten an ad from J. N. Pruden in connection with Saturday's Primary election. You see, Prudy got only eight votes in the Center Hill precinct to 158 by Weldon Hollowell, and Prudy would like to know who they are. Maybe he'd entertain 'em at a steak supper or sumpin', but then if he advertised the chances are that 158 would turn out instead of the 8—so no ad.

Friends will be interested to know that C. D. Stewart has moved from Florida to Hampton, Va., where he is in charge of an office of the Fish and Wildlife Service. "I think there is more different kinds of seafoods here per square inch than any other place I've seen and I'm trying to eat them all up during the first few days of my stay here," he wrote. "The fishing grounds are rather enticing, too," he says, "and I'll guarantee it won't be like fishing up Fish Hatchery Creek." With plenty of seafood and good fishing, methinks C. D. will be having company from Edenton before very long.

School will close next Tuesday, but the preachers will have to prepare a sermon for Sunday night as usual, for there will be no baccalaureate sermon for which church services are usually called off. Neither will there be class day and graduating exercises, all because of the eleventh grade having to take another year due to the adoption of a 12-year course. Besides, friends and relatives will not receive the usual invitations calling for presents for the graduates.

Ever been really hungry? Think of the millions who are victims of famine-stricken countries gradually starving to death unless food is provided. A few cans of food will not be missed from Chowan homes and there's no telling how much good it will do. Let's all help in this cry of humanity for food.

Mrs. Dail Speaks To Daughter In Egypt

Mrs. J. C. Dail received a thrill Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when she had a telephone conversation with her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Dixon, who is now in Cairo, Egypt. Mrs. Dail said her daughter's voice was very plain and that the conversation was carried on just as though both parties were speaking in Edenton.

Mrs. Dixon informed her mother that she and her husband expect to return to the United States some time in August.

Class For Nurses At Rocky Mount Hospital

Announcement is made of the opening of a class for nursing at Park View Hospital, Rocky Mount, in September. To be eligible for enrollment a candidate must be 17½ years old, in good health, good character and a graduate of an accredited high school.

The hospital senses the gradual growing need for nurses and is offering an attractive plan to interest young women. Any information can be secured from the Director of Nurses at the hospital.

Town And County Offices Closed Today

Today (Thursday) being Memorial Day, County and Town offices will be closed in observance of the holiday. Members of the Street Department will also be given a holiday, so that collection of trash will not be made until Friday morning.

HELPS TONE UP BIRDS

After COCCIDIOSIS

Not a "cure" for coccidiosis, but many local poultry raisers report remarkable results in getting birds back in condition. Chek-R-Ton stimulates birds' appetites and helps them get more quickly to a normal level of feed intake and growth. Add Chek-R-Ton to the mash at the rate of 1% of the total feed. "I'm a MARINE!"

Never has Service in the Marine Corps offered so Many Advantages in Education, Specialized Trainings, Advancement and Travel. Enlistments Accepted for 2, 3 or 4 Year Periods.

High School and College Courses are available to Marines through the Marine Corps Institute. A wide range of subjects is covered and a formal diploma is issued at the completion of each course. More than 80,000 Marines have already enrolled in these courses to broaden their education.

Aviation Training

is an important factor in the training program now being launched. Marines have not only served on land and the sea but have made an unexcelled name for themselves in the air. Aviation is playing a big part in post-war Marine Corps activities.

Many young men are looking into the wide variety of opportunities offered by a career in the Marine Corps, and never in the long history of this world famous organization have opportunities for education and training been better. There are a lot of young men who would like to join the Marine Corps for the training, comradeship, travel and immediate pay that it offers but who plan to return to civilian life after a number of years. Right now is a particularly good time for this large group to look into what the Corps offers especially to young men of 17 and 18, as a splendid "training ground" for a useful and profitable civilian career. The United States Marine Corps is right up to the minute in its equipment and methods. Here you have a chance to learn the very newest in radar, electronics, engineering, motor transportation, aviation, etc. You learn under the direction of experts and you get paid while learning, paid not only in money but in a splendid, healthy, active life, and also in the companionship of the finest group of men, bar none, ever assembled in any military organization anywhere.
