System Will Bring Chowan County's Records Up-to-Date

With indexing of records in Register of Deeds M. L. Bunch's office about completed, the County Commissioners on Monday agreed to the indexing of judgments, lis pendens and liens, administrators', executors' and guardians' reports, and wills in Clerk of Superior Court E. W. Spires' office.

This indexing system will bring the County offices up to the standard of first class offices throughout the State, and while not only saving time to those obliged to search the records, they will be better preserved for future generations. The cost of the work is calculated not to exceed $1,500. The indexing of judgments and liens goes back 20 years, administrators, executors and guardians go back 50 years and wills from 1760 to date.

Negroes In County Hold Cattle Show

Affair Planned In Hope Stimulating Interest In Family Cow

In order to stimulate more interest in getting Negroes of Chowan County to own a family milk cow, a dairy cattle show was held in the St. John neighborhood with Cedar Grove and Canaan Temple cooperating. In connection with the show a community picnic with the farm families and 4-H Club members was held.

Only dairy cows were to be displayed, but because of the interest some people had in the show, they brought along a few beef cows, for they did not have a dairy cow.

Prizes were awarded to the following: Dairy heifers: First prize, John W. Coston of Canaan Temple neighborhood; second prize, William C. Granby, 4-H Club boy of St. John neighborhood; third prize, J. H. Wills, Canaan Temple.

Dairy cows: First prize, J. C. Wiggins, St. John neighborhood; second prize, H. H. Harrell; third prize, J. T. Harris of the St. John neighborhood.

Through the cooperation of the following firms prizes were awarded: Hughes & Holton Hardware Co., Byrum Hardware Co., Halsey Feed & Seed Store of Edenton and Lancaster Hatchery of Windsor.

Judges were M. W. Coleman, Negro county agent of Bertie County, and William C. Strowd, Negro county agent of Perquimans County. They were assisted by C. W. Overman and Robert Marsh, white county agent and assistant county agent of Chowan County.

Not only did Mr. Overman and Mr. Marsh assist with the placing of the cows but took part on the program by making short talks stressing the value of milk cows on the farm and the important part temporary and permanent pastures play in the livestock program. Otis Buffalo, Negro district agent of the Northeastern District of the State Extension Service with headquarters in Greensboro, was also present to witness the show and took part on the program. He, too, stressed the need of milk on farms and the production of better grazing for the livestock by the use of temporary and permanent pastures.

Mrs. Carrie Brown, Canaan Temple, Mrs. Elizabeth Byrd, St. John, and Mrs. Harina Blount, St. John, assisted with games.

Mrs. Priscilla Long, Cedar Grove; Mrs. Charlotte Wills, Canaan Temple; Mrs. J. H. Wills, Canaan Temple; Mrs. Elsie Cox, St. John and Mrs. Fred Bowser acted as hostesses. All were asked to bring picnic lunches.

Veterans Urged To Exercise Care In Paying Insurance

55,000 Payments Made With Inadequate Identification

Warren G. Knight, Contact Representative, Veterans Administration, local Contact Office, has released the following information pertinent to the payment of insurance premiums by veterans:

North Carolina veterans, who now mail their National Service Life Insurance premiums to Richmond instead of New York, were urged today to be sure that adequate identification accompanies all such payments.

Under the Veterans Administration decentralization of NSLI accounts, all records on North Carolina vets holding the insurance have been moved to VA's Richmond branch office. And, open for business hardly three weeks, the new collections unit has already received more than 55,000 payments with insufficient identification to permit crediting the money to proper accounts.

Failure to list policy numbers (the serial number preceded by "N" or "V" assigned to each NSLI policy) is the most frequent error, according to E. C. Bailey, insurance officer for the North Carolina Regional VA office. Insurance files are maintained according to policy numbers, and when that number is missing from correspondence or payments sent in they must go to the master file index in Washington for identification. Incorrect addresses are another source of trouble, Mr. Bailey said.

Colonials No Match For Big Leaguers

(Continued from Page One) onials, striking out 16 batters during the seven innings he pitched. He was relieved by Al Evans and, together, the two moundsmen allowed only three hits, singles by Little Bud Cayton and Joe Wheeler and Red Kimbrell beating out an infield hit.

While the big leaguers played good ball, they were kept very much idle by the pitching of Bryne. Little Bud Cayton and Trot Leary made the most spectacular plays of the game, Cayton making a one-handed stab of a fly which was labeled a safe hit and resulted in a double play and cut short a rally. Leary made a splendid catch in center field after chasing a long way to get to the ball.

At the bat Gil Coan thrilled the fans in the third inning when he slammed the ball far over Fred Castelloe's head in right field for a home run.

Playing for Edenton were Lester Jordan, Billy Brooks, Red Kimbrell.

Claude Griffin, Little Bud Cayton, Joe Wheeler, Garland Little, J. D. Thorne, Fred Castelloe, Trot Leary and Fred Dunstan.

The big leaguers were Gil Coan, Buddy Lewis, Bill Johnson, Ralph Hodgins, Taft Wright, Al Evans, Jimmy Brown, Aaron Robinson and Tommy Bryne.

THE TELEPHONE PUZZLE

If it takes 3 pairs of wires to connect 3 telephones and 12 pairs are needed to connect 12 telephones? The answer is 66! Puzzling, isn't it? As these pairs of wires increase, expensive central office equipment increases in proportion. Each additional telephone means wider service for you without raising your telephone bill. And here's something else. Each additional telephone installed adds to the cost of providing telephone service for you and everyone else.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Bert Childers and the Melon Patch

Bert Childers put an ad in the Clarion the other day. Here's what it said:

"Planted more melons than I can eat this year. Stop by and pick as many as you want. All free."

As you can guess, plenty of folks sent their kids over and plenty of the parents came too. Stripped Bert's melon patch in no time. And as they went away, Bert treated the kids to lemonade, and offered the grownups a glass of ice-cold sparkling beer.

Naturally it puzzled some folks... but Bert explains: "It gives me a kick to share things when I can afford to—whether it's the melons, or the lemonade, or beer. I guess I just like to indulge my whims."

From where I sit, if we had more "self-indulgent" people like Bert—who believe in share and share alike, live and let live, this tired world would be a whole lot better off!
