

Creech Leading Drive For Opening College

$100,000 Sought By January 14 to Reopen Old Chowan

The Rev. Oscar Creech, pastor of the Ahsokie Baptist Church and Moderator of the West Chowan Baptist Association, was given the unanimous permission of his, the largest congregation in the association, to accept a position as public relations director of the drive now under way to raise $100,000 by January 15 for reopening Chowan College in Murfreesboro.

Creech, who is also the director of the drive to raise $76,000 in his association for the removal of Wake Forest College to Winston-Salem, at a recent meeting which launched the drive to reopen Chowan, stated "our first obligation is to Chowan. Wake Forest to us is secondary."

Creech will work in close coordination with the Rev. Lonnie Sasser of Murfreesboro, who is directing the drive and with the trustees of the college who asked Creech to accept this position.

In asking permission of his congregation to accept this job Sunday, Creech pointed out the great need for the reopening of the school which celebrates its 100th anniversary next October.

The property is owned by the Chowan and West Chowan Baptist Associations. These two associations embrace the Baptists in Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Gates, Northampton, Bertie and Hertford counties.

The school has been closed for four years and this move now afoot is the most concrete that has yet been made to reopen its doors.

Formerly a school for girls, it is planned to reopen it as a co-educational institution.

114 In County On Old Age Assistance List

According to Mrs. J. H. McMullan, superintendent of public welfare, 114 persons in Chowan County received old age assistance during November, the amount distributed being $2,293.50. Seventeen aid to dependent children cases received $573 and 10 blind cases $204.

General assistance in the amount of $65.25 was given six cases, and $70 was used for hospitalization for one person outside the county, two medical cases at Chowan Hospital and boarding home care for two persons.

During the month six adult parolees were under supervision, one adult mental case on probation under service, 13 received care from VR in cooperation with DPW, 8 child labor certificates issued. Other activities included sending dressings to a cancer patient, crippled person referred to the Rotary Club for transportation to clinic, family referred to churches for Christmas gifts, family referred to the Junior Woman's Club for dressings, clothing and mattresses distributed, one person referred to the Lions Club for a glass eye, baskets of food distributed over Thanksgiving.

Mrs. McMullan told the Commissioners that there is a need for clothing among some families and urged various organizations to contribute clothing which may be discarded.

Soil Conservation Supervisors Being Elected This Week

Three Will Be Chosen From List of Five Candidates

During this week—all six days from Monday through Saturday—the election of Chowan County Soil Conservation Supervisors is being held. Candidates for election to the Chowan Soil Conservation Committee are: Lloyd C. Bunch, R. H. Hollowell, both of Edenton, Route 1; Joe A. Webb, Jr., Edenton, Route 2; I. Lester Harrell, Edenton, Route 3; and L. E. Twine, Tyner. Farmers wishing to cast votes in this election may vote for any three—but not more than three—of these candidates. The three candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be elected; the one receiving the highest vote count will serve for three years, the one receiving the next highest will serve for two years and the one receiving the third highest will serve for one year.

An election committee composed of C. M. Evans, T. A. Berryman, T. O. Asbell, Guy C. Hobbs and T. C. Byrum has made arrangements for this election. Ballot boxes have been placed at Henry Bunch's store in the Rocky Hock area, at Lloyd Briggs' store in the Gliden area, at V. Boyce's store in Tyner, at T. C. Byrum's store in Edenton and at Neal Hobbs' store in the Yeopim area. Farmers may cast their votes at the point most convenient to them and are urged to do so by the election committee. The successful candidates in this election will represent their county in all matters pertaining to soil conservation. Any resident of the county who votes in regular elections may cast a ballot for his committeemen. The chairman of the Chowan Soil Conservation Committee will automatically become a member of the Albemarle Board of Supervisors for the Albemarle Soil Conservation District of which Chowan County is a member.

Soil conservation districts are subdivisions of State Government, which are authorized by the soil conservation districts' law enacted by the 1937 State Assembly. This was the first law of this kind to be enacted in the United States, and the Brown Creek Soil Conservation District in Anson County was the first district to be organized in the United States. Today all 48 states have soil conservation district laws and 1900 districts have been formed.

According to R. C. Jordan, Soil Conservationist for Chowan County, these elections will be held this week in the 84 counties of North Carolina which have been organized into Soil Conservation Districts.

HEALTH FOR ALL

FINDING TUBERCULOSIS

More than 50,000 people in the United States die each year from tuberculosis. Furthermore, half a million people are estimated to have the disease in active form.

Of these cases, only half are known to health authorities. The other quarter million are unreported cases and constitute a grave threat to the health of the entire population.

They are a threat because tuberculosis is a communicable disease, spread by people with open cases. The unreported, or "unknown" cases are the chief source of infection. Frequently, people with early tuberculosis do not realize they are ill because of the symptomless onset of the disease, yet they are not only losing their own health but may be transmitting their disease to others.

These unknown cases must be found if tuberculosis is ever to be eradicated. In other words, the unknown case is a source of infection to others and must be located. Precautions can then be taken to prevent the spread of the disease while the individuals affected are placed under treatment.

We know how to find the unknown cases of tuberculosis. They can be found by chest X-raying apparently healthy people over 15 years of age. The X-ray is the most important aid in finding tuberculosis for it can detect the presence of the disease even in that early stage before the symptoms are apparent.

With the development of X-ray equipment, using small films, it has become possible to X-ray large groups of people within a short period of time.

Throughout the country the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated state and local associations are cooperating with official health departments in mass X-ray examinations to screen out the unknown cases. When suspicious shadows are found on the films in these mass examinations, further X-rays must be taken and tests made before a definite diagnosis of tuberculosis can be reached.

Mass X-ray examinations are a practical way of finding unknown tuberculosis and wherever such programs are planned they should receive the wholehearted support of the people of the community. Experience has proved, too, that the majority of cases found in these mass X-ray programs are still in that early stage when tuberculosis is easiest to cure.

The case-finding work of the tuberculosis associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association as well as all other services of the associations, is supported by Christmas Seal funds. The sale of seals, which provides the sole income of the associations, opened Monday of last week and will be continued until Christmas.
