J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the country's No. 1 crime fighter, calls on the Christian Church to help banish juvenile delinquency. Mr. Hoover's article was prepared at the request of "The Rural Churchman," a paper published by the Episcopal Church in Colorado.

J. Edgar Hoover, Head of Federal Bureau Of Investigation, Calls Church To Curb Crime

Says Church Attendance and Crime, Like Oil and Water, Do Not Mix — Unchurched Boys and Girls Are the Juvenile Delinquents Almost Without Exception — Disintegration of Home Greatest Cause of Youthful Crime

At the request of Mrs. E. T. Boyd, editor of The Rural Churchman, published by the Episcopal Diocese of Colorado, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, expressed his opinions on the problem of crime prevention, and emphasized that churches have an important part to play in this task.

"The churches are in the front trenches of America's crime prevention crusade," Mr. Hoover said. "Never before has there been such a challenging need for aggressive, inspirational leadership among the boys and girls of this country. At the present time only half the youth of America are being reached by the churches, and of those who are being reached, entirely too many are merely 'on the rolls.' This failure to make contact with the bulk of tomorrow's citizens is producing a fertile field for future juvenile crime. If America is to remain a Christian nation devoted to the fundamental ideals of the Beatitudes, the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule, then more adults must assume the responsibility of preparing young Americans for virile, dynamic Christian living.

"Church attendance is a vital factor in the Nation's crime prevention program. While serving as Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the past 20 years, I have been profoundly impressed with the fact that the 'church-going-people' are the most substantial group of citizens in the Nation. Church attendance and crime appear to be like the ingredients of oil and water—they do not mix.

"The Churches have an excellent opportunity to fight the causes of crime. These are many and varied—lack of proper parental guidance, lack of wholesome companions, lack of discipline, lack of respect for the rights of others, disregard for parents and constituted authorities, lack of emotional stability. The value of the church in filling many of these needs is obvious.

"Through experience we of the FBI have also observed that those who are active in some church are also the people who seem most interested in establishing a genuine 'home' for their children. The greatest single factor in crime causation among juveniles today is the disintegration of the American home. We need homes where children feel inalienably attached to the family circle, a place where questions are answered, sympathy and affection received and frequent daily family activities promoted which allow expression and participation by every member of the group. We need homes where children learn respect for their parents, respect for law, respect for God and the religious principles which must be perpetuated if America is to survive as a great nation.

"In both church and home children must be made to understand their individual responsibility for personal conduct.

"It has become imperative," said Mr. Hoover in closing, "that every American arouse himself to the urgent necessity of instituting in each community a wide variety of activities, programs and policies designed to counteract the present trend. Respect for law, personal liberty, life and property, must be preached, taught and practiced. There must be a veritable crusade against crime. The churches have a vital task in making contact with our youth, in redeeming and restoring the American home, in providing inspirational religious leadership, to make America the law-abiding, God-fearing nation our forefathers designed it to be."

Santa's Bag Full Of Gifts — Gifts Made From Empty Bags

Christmas gifts are in the bag this year—in the cotton bag, that is! Present seekers can stop their worrying, for gifts galore are right in the kitchen. With a whack of the scissors and a seam or two, the cotton flour or sugar sack is converted into wonderful Christmas presents.

Cuddly dolls for little Sue, dainty aprons for Aunt Molly and Grandma, pretty guest towels for Cousin Jane—all of these lovely gifts can be made at little expense and with little year—in the cotton bag, that it!

After a thrifty housewife has emptied the flour, feed or sugar from a cotton bag, she can make any number of attractive and useful articles from the material.

Both plain white bags and colorful printed designs are available at bakeries or feed stores. After the contents are emptied, thriftywise housewives rip up the bag, soak out the non-permanent trade label, and save the thread for later crochet work. If it's color she's after, the lady dips the plain white fabric into a dye bath and comes out with a delicate pastel shade or rich, vivid hues. Unusual shading effects are gained by a simple process of tie-dyeing.

Many Christmas treats are designed with a few cotton sacks. A 100-pound sack will make a child's cuddly doll, a pert apron, or four dainty guest towels. Two 100-pound flour bags will make lovely Christmas gifts of pillow cases when they're dressed up with a contrasting crochet edge made by using string saved from the seams of the original bag.

Why, Santa's whole bag can be filled with beautiful cotton bag gifts. Instructions for making dozens of garments and useful household articles appear in a free booklet, "Thrifty Thrills With Cotton Bags," which can be obtained by writing National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis, Tenn.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and busy irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the back of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling, and constantly tired, nervous, all worn-out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. Try Doan's Pills. Doan's hits the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

... setting a new record

Never before have we had such a tremendous demand for telephone service. Although we install a record number of telephones each month, the demand still increases. We are doing everything possible to speedily fill all requests for service. And when we have completed our job, the tremendous number of new installations will have increased the usefulness of the telephone to every subscriber in our community.
