

Part Time Jewish Chaplain Is Named For Marine Station

Rabbi Paul Reich, Norfolk, Now Servicing Men

Rabbi Paul Reich, of Cong. Beth El, Norfolk, Virginia, is now serving as the part-time Jewish chaplain at the Naval Auxiliary Station, Edenton, according to Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the Division of Religious Activities of National Jewish Welfare Board (JWB), which is the body through which the American Jewish community recruits and ecclesiastically endorses to the government full and part-time Jewish chaplains for Army, Air Force, Navy and the Veterans Administration.

Because of the few full-time Jewish chaplains still on active duty with the armed forces in this country and their concentration overseas where local rabbis are not available, JWB's Division of Religious Activities makes it possible for existing needs in this country to be met through the use of part-time chaplains.

Vets' Question Box

Q—Why did the VA contact representative refuse to advise me at my request on the best form of converted National Service Life Insurance for me? All he did was give me information on various types of policies.

A—Contact representatives are not permitted to advise veterans as to best forms of converted insurance. They are required only to supply the veteran with all information available. The decision then is up to the veteran.

Q—I receive compensation for a World War I service-incurred injury. May I also receive compensation for an injury I sustained in World War II?

A—Disabilities incurred in World War I may be combined with disabilities incurred in World War II for the purpose of establishing the total rate of compensation.

Q—If I have been advised that I am overpaid on my compensation, must I pay it back?

A—Yes, unless recovery is waived. The waiver, if granted, will be based on the determination that the overpayment was without fault on your part and recovery would defeat the purpose of benefits otherwise authorized or be against equity and good conscience.

Q—The father and mother of a deceased veteran are divorced, and living apart. Should a claim be filled by each of them if dependency is alleged to exist?

A—Yes.

Edenton 7, Colerain 3

On Hicks Field Wednesday night of last week the Colonials toppled Colerain to the tune of 7-3.

Stanley Johnson was Edenton's moundsman and hung up his third consecutive victory. Nat Flythe was the Colerain hurler.

Bohonko was the leading Colonial swatter with two doubles.

Edenton 2, Colerain 5

In Colerain Thursday night the Colonials lost to the Trappers 5-2. It was a slugfest for both teams, the Colonials chalking up 10 hits, while the Trappers made 12 hits.

Ernie Johnson, Colerain pitcher, went the entire route while Herman, Lynch and Goodwin were used by Manager Gashouse Parker in order to halt the Bertie aggregation.

The Colonials scored a run in each of the first and second innings, but in their half of the second, Colerain had a merry-go-round to score all of their five runs, as the result of eight hits.

Murphy led at bat for Edenton, being credited with three hits. Phillips followed with two. For Colerain, Austin was high man with three hits.

Edenton 0, Plymouth 5

In Plymouth Friday night, the Colonials were handed a goose egg, when the Rams won a 5-0 decision. While Plymouth scored 10 hits to 9 by the Colonials, the Edenton aggregation was unable to connect when hits produced runs, while the 10 Plymouth hits netted five runs.

Schadel started on the mound for Edenton but the Rams took a liking to his slants and scored four runs in the first inning. He was relieved in the first inning by Bill Herman.

Tutson went the entire route on the mound for Plymouth and kept the nine hits so well scattered that he kept out of serious difficulty. Murphy led the Edenton attack with three hits, while Parker and Bohonko each had two. Neither team was charged with any errors during the game.

Edenton 2, Plymouth 4

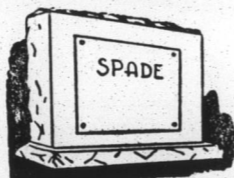

On Hicks Field, Saturday night, the Plymouth Rams again defeated the Colonials by a score of 4-2. The Rams got next to Stanley Johnson in the third inning for four hits which netted four runs. Schadel relieved Johnson in this inning and held the Rams scoreless the remainder of the game. In fact the Rams were held hitless by Schadel until the ninth inning, when Holliday and Johnson singled in succession. Walker fanned and Wolfe hit into a double play which ended the rally.

Lanky Carl Johnson, Plymouth hurler, silenced the Colonials' bats, allowing only four hits. Two of these hits were made in the ninth inning, when the Colonials threatened. Parker was safe on an error and Howerton was out on a fly. Phillips singled and Pavlich followed with a double, scoring Wheeler, who was running for Parker. Phillips raced home when Murphy grounded to second base. Earl Goodwin, pinch hitting for Schadel, fanned to end the rally.

Plymouth's Johnson had the Edenton batters at his mercy during the entire game and from the third inning on the game was a pitchers' duel between Johnson and Schadel, who also silenced the Plymouth bats.
