

Program Released For Cattle Raising

Nine Points Listed to Keep Cattle Thriving On Pasture

A 9-point program to help farmers keep their cattle thriving on pasture this season is issued by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

The Foundation's checklist for farmers stressed these points:

- (1) Don't let animals gorge themselves on lush, young pastures. Guard against bloat and grass tetany by making the animals change to green feed gradually.
- (2) Inspect the herd once a week for evidence of pink-eye. Remove any animals with eye troubles to a darkened stall, and get an immediate diagnosis of the trouble.
- (3) In blackleg areas, have all calves vaccinated against the disease.
- (4) Protect the herd against flies by spraying with approved insecticide.
- (5) Examine pastures periodically for the presence of poisonous plants.
- (6) Check the herd regularly for wounds through which parasites and disease germs may enter.
- (7) If suspected cases of lumpy jaw develop, get the affected animals off pasture and away from the rest of the herd. Have them treated promptly, before the condition gets worse.
- (8) When calves are unthrifty, suspect the presence of parasites. The parasite danger is especially great on old pastures and community pastures.
- (9) Bovine tuberculosis is still a problem, and cattle should be tested periodically for it, as well as for brucellosis.

Tar Heels Selected To Attend 4-H Camp

Four outstanding young Tar Heels have been selected to represent North Carolina at the National 4-H Club Camp to be held in Washington, D. C., June 14-21, it was announced this week by L. R. Harrill, State 4-H leader for the State College Extension Service.

The four are Dorothy Shields of Cherokee County, Paul Wagoner of Guilford, Bobby Cone of Nash, and Doris Marie Strickland of Halifax, all of whom were chosen because of their excellence in club work.

Miss Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields of Marble, has been a club member for seven years and has completed 35 projects. She was State winner in the dairy foods demonstration contest in 1948, territorial winner in better methods in 1949, State leadership winner for girls in 1949, and county queen of health in 1949.

Wagoner is the son of County Agent and Mrs. J. I. Wagoner, Route 1, Gibsonville, and has been a 4-H member for nine years. He was leadership winner for his county, third place winner in the State 100-Bushel Corn Club 4-H speaking contest for 1949, first place county winner in judging dairy and beef cattle, and county health king. He has won first place State honors in three projects—frozen foods in 1945, meat animal in 1947, and field crops in 1948.

Miss Strickland, a club member for the past eight years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. I. Strickland of Halifax. Her projects have included food preservation and preparation, clothing, room improvement, poultry, home beautification, and gardening. In 1949 she was State and national winner in food preservation. She has served as president of her club and treasurer and reporter of the county council.

Cone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cone of Nash County, has been a 4-H member for eight years, during which time he has completed 69 projects. He was county winner in corn for four years, cotton for two years, soil conservation for three years, wildlife conservation for five years, frozen foods for three years, dairy cattle for three years, swine for five years, farm safety for two years, forestry for one year, and tobacco for two years. He has won district awards in corn, tobacco, and cotton and was a State winner in soil conservation and 1949 winner in field crops.

Eastern Carolina Can Produce Good Pastures

Observation of pastures in Currituck, Pasquotank, and Perquimans Counties has convinced Dr. E. R. Collins, in charge of agronomy for the State College Extension Service, that Eastern North Carolina can produce pastures equal to any grown in the State.

Dr. Collins recently attended pasture tours in these counties, where he observed many acres of Ladino clover-fescue and other grazing mixtures. Most encouraging part of the picture, he says is that these pastures are being grown on land unsuited for the crops generally produced in that area.

Philip Roberts of Currituck County seeded 7½ acres which had been used in broom-sedge, fennel, and sourgrass. He used 2½ tons of lime on this low-lying, poorly drained soil and fertilized with 800 pounds of 2-12-12 and 600 pounds of 0-14-14 per acre. The Ladino-fescue mixture is making excellent growth on land which normally was not returning any income to the farmer.

Another example is found on the farm of E. V. Ballance and Son, where weeds higher than a farm tractor were turned under. Charlie Roberts also has 7½ acres of rough land doing nicely in Ladino and fescue.

T. C. Whitehurst, Route 3, Elizabeth City, was amazed at the way his Ladino-fescue came after he had decided the stand was so poor it should be plowed up. He agreed to take advice of County Agent S. L. Lowery and wait to see what happened. Now he is glad he did, for he has a nice stand and it is growing rapidly.

Dr. Collins says in some areas less vigorous pastures are seen where farmers decided to take short cuts and leave out some of the essential steps such as liming, inoculating the seed, preparing the seedbed properly, and fertilizing.

Get away from the crowd when you can. Keep yourself to yourself, if only for a few hours daily.

Why Doesn't Dr. Graham Defend The Traditions Of The South?

HERE'S WHAT SENATOR HOEY SAID:

Hoey Lashes Out Against McGrath

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Senator Hoey (D-NC) lashed out yesterday against Attorney General McGrath for participation in a segregation case. McGrath personally appeared in the Supreme Court this week for the government in the case of Elmer Henderson, Washington, D. C., Negro, against the Southern Railway.

Hoey also criticized McGrath's Department of Justice

ham. McGrath opposed action taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission after Henderson complained to it that he could not get a meal on a Southern diner.

The Southern, informed of the complaint, notified the ICC it would curtail off a section of dining room cars for Negroes. The ICC then dismissed the complaint, but Henderson went to court.

Said Hoey: "We have had the amazing spectacle this week of the attorney general of the United States appearing in the Supreme Court in opposition to another important agency of government and endeavoring to upset a decision rendered by the ICC."

HERE'S WHAT NORTH CAROLINA'S ATTORNEY GENERAL SAID:

McMullan Commends Attack On McGrath

RALEIGH, April 6—(AP)—Attorney General Harry McMullan indicated today he strongly agreed with Senator Clyde R. Hoey in his criticism of U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Hoey yesterday sharply criticized McGrath for appearing before the U. S. Supreme court to argue for an end to segregation in dining cars on trains.

The Justice department also filed briefs with the court favoring an end to segregation in State-supported colleges in Texas and Oklahoma.

END OF SEGREGATION

McMullan said that if the court rules against segregation in these cases it would mean an end to segregation in all state-supported schools in the South, including the public schools, or public transportation facilities and publicly-owned playgrounds.

"If he (McGrath) can succeed in getting the Supreme court to do what he wants, the civil rights controversy will fade into insignificance," McMullan said.

In a letter to Senator Hoey commending his criticism of McGrath, McMullan wrote:

"I also agree with your statement that this action by Attorney General McGrath indicates the extent to which the Washington government is going in its effort to utterly destroy the customs and practices throughout the South, the results of which, if successful in this instance, would wreck our public school system."

"I think when you state that the appearance of Attorney General McGrath was an ill-advised and wholly unjustified procedure, you are absolutely correct."

HERE'S WHAT WILLIS SMITH SAID:

Smith Criticizes McGrath For Part

U. S. Senatorial Candidate Willis Smith today vigorously criticized U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath for his participation in a segregation case before the Supreme court and declared:

"McGrath should devote his time to more important matters instead of trying to upset the time-honored traditions of the South."

He suggested that the attorney general "might do well to join the fight against communism in America."

Smith asserted that: "McGrath should know that the people of the South will never stand for an FEPC measure in any form, so now he's trying to use other methods to bring about a program designed merely for the Northern politicians."

The senatorial candidate, who has stated in his platform and in speeches throughout the State that he is unalterably opposed to the FEPC in any form, expressed his views in a telegram of congratulations to Senator Clyde R. Hoey for his statement yesterday in condemning the action of McGrath.

Smith's telegram to Hoey stated: "I congratulate you for your stand on this vital issue and for your efforts to uphold the time-honored traditions of the South which a few political henchmen are now trying to disrupt and destroy."

"The attorney general should know that the people of the South will never stand for an FEPC measure in any form, so now he's trying to use other methods to bring about a program designed merely for the Northern politicians. I am amazed to learn of the extent to which the FEPC proponents are willing to go to bring about legislation which would be a source of destructive influence upon real and substantial improvement in the good racial relationships which have notably existed in North Carolina in the past."

Why doesn't our Junior Senator stand up and tell the Northern political bosses to stop destroying Southern racial harmony for the sake of votes in the northern metropolitan areas?

HERE'S WHY:

Because Dr. Graham helped write the Civil Rights Report, which includes FEPC, and believes in it. Dr. Graham now says as a candidate running for office that he favors "The North Carolina Way of Life." But his past record indicates that he has always favored ending segregation.

If Dr. Graham believes in our traditional North Carolina system of "separate and equal facilities," why has he stood silent while Mr. McGrath tries for political reasons to cram his own program down our throats? He knows that the whole N. C. School system of separate schools for the races stands or falls on these cases.

Our state has enjoyed fine racial harmony and advancement, but the Northern program of non-segregation would be harmful and hateful to all the races in North Carolina.
