Recreation Important

Monday night the Varsity Club will stage their first sports banquet, honoring some 60 athletes of Edenton High School. The purpose of this banquet is to acknowledge the accomplishments of these athletes and to encourage more students to participate in athletics.

Three All-Americans, Dick Dickey of State; Charlie Teague of Wake Forest, and Darrell Royal of the University of Oklahoma are to attend the banquet as representatives of the sports in which they have excelled in college. Bill Cox, sports editor of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, will deliver the principal address. Several awards and presentations will be made during the night.

The program lined up by the Varsity Club is one that should prove interesting to all persons interested in athletics. It is the desire of the Varsity Club to help Edenton's school and the town as a whole get a first class recreational program lined up. Most towns the size of Edenton have good recreational programs. Programs of this sort are becoming increasingly popular and the reason for this must be that more and more towns are realizing the tremendous amount of good it is doing. Over at Elizabeth City the Boys Club is of untold value for it is using recreation to help mold the minds and bodies of the youth into fine clear-thinking, sportsman-like citizens. Edenton should have something of the same.

As George Thompson, high school coach, told the Varsity Club at a recent meeting, "The importance of health and physical education is being realized more and more each day in the modern trends of our educational program. If we are to gear our educational program with the modern programs, we must place more emphasis on this part of our curriculum."

The seven cardinal objectives of education which are accepted by thousands and thousands of teachers and school administrators are headed by health. Yet, until recent years, very little attention was given to this objective, although it heads the list.

"None of you have ever seen a mind enter a classroom seeking an education," said Mr. Thompson. "This mind is always transported by a body. An individual must be educated mentally, physically and socially. We cannot afford to deny him these opportunities. Each of these phases has equal importance. If an individual gains his share of knowledge and loses his health, he is unable to derive much benefit from that knowledge. Adequate facilities and equipment are necessary to conduct a program in physical education which will be mentally stimulating, socially sound and physically wholesome. The general public needs a better understanding of the importance of physical education in the development of youth. Physical education provides more opportunities to display cooperation, leadership and sportsmanship than any other phases of the curriculum."

The sentiments of Coach Thompson are likewise the sentiments of the Varsity Club in their movement for a recreational program in the county.

Game Warden R. E. Evans played havoc with the pleasure of four Erwin fishermen Saturday. Herman West, Thurman Dorman, Hayward Hollingsworth and W. S. Parker were having a wonderful time at Bennett's Mill Pond, but it cost them 63 bucks and, worse than that, they went home without any fish. The quartet, according to the game warden, had almost caught the limit at noon when they came ashore to eat. They iced up the fish and went out again after eating. The fish apparently were biting good, so that again they met up with the limit. But upon their return about dusk they met up with a very unwelcome visitor—Game Warden Evans. As the result of the meeting, the fishermen were obliged to turn over everyone of the fish—147 of 'em, which were in turn given to the local Welfare Department. The four men were arrested and tried before Justice of the Peace J. L. Wiggins, with the fine and costs amounting to $63. It wasn't the cash so much that the fishermen regretted to fork out, but the fact that they were unable to take the fish back home to prove the sport they had. Moral of this paragraph is: Be darn sure you have a license when hunting and fishing, and comply with the game laws. Game wardens get about, you know.

Mrs. Bill Privott is in trouble, for again she lost her cat. Once before the cat was found after mention of its loss was made in this column, and here's hoping Mr. or Mrs. Cat is found this time. The cat is black, with green eyes and has no tail—poor thing!

I must be a regular Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. On Sunday I was talking to a certain lady and the conversation resulted in the lady saying: "Bufflap, sometimes I think you're running over with religion and then sometimes I believe you don't have a darn drop of religion." Oh, me! And I wasn't telling a convention joke either.

Captain L. A. Patterson and family will spend the summer at Nags Head. Of course, the Captain doesn't care so much about fishing, so if any friends visit him for a meal and expect to eat fish, they'll eat roast beef or sumpin'.

Two fellows were arguing the other day about bottled and fountain Coca Cola. In his argument that fountain drinks are better, one of 'em said the Coca Cola even smells better from the fountain. The other fellow claimed that was no argument at all. He said, "Shucks, vanilla smells better than beer, but I still would rather drink beer."

John L. Goodwin is a very good natured fellow, no doubt. At the Masonic meeting the other night Johnny Curran happened to step on Friend Goodwin's foot, and Curran proceeded at once to be pardoned. "Oh, that's all right," said Goodwin, "I've been walking on 'em all day." Well, maybe that's what you call Masonic brotherly love, for there's plenty of guys who would have something different to say if anyone stepped on their feet.

My family is pretty well broken up now, for with a new house not yet completed and an old one being torn down, my daughter is living at the hotel and I'm living in the country—yep, out at Ernest Lee's cabins, where my neighbors on one side are a group of bullfrogs. There's some good bass voices in that bunch of frogs, but we're getting along all right. I want to get intimate enough in order to get a mess of frog legs for a square meal.

Edenton's band will play at the baseball game tonight sponsored by the local VFW Post for the benefit of the Daisy Alice Ward Fund. Local people have been responding splendidly to the appeal for help, so how about going to the game tonight, and thus give another little boost to the fund?

Miss Carolyn Elliott In Recital Monday

Miss Carolyn Elliott, soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Elliott was presented in a graduation recital Monday night by the Conservatory of Music at Flora MacDonald College, Red Springs, N. C.

Attending the recital were her father and the Rev. Harold W. Gilmer, rector of St. Paul's Church. The latter was high in praise of the recital, saying Miss Elliott's performance was wonderful.

The numbers sang by Miss Elliott were: "My Heart Ever Faithful" by Bach; "She Never Told Her Love" by Haydn; Aria; Batti from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart; "Per la Gloria d'Adorarvi" by Bononcini; "Der Mussbaum" by Schumann; "Serenade" by Strauss; "Riounelle" by Chaminade; "Niemand Hat's Gesehn" by Loeme; Aria; Je Suis Titania from "Mignon" by Thomas; "A Birthday" by R. Huntington Woodman; "If No One Ever Marries Me" by Liza Lemann; "Blackbird's Song" by Cyril Scott; "The Nightingale Has a Lyre of Gold" by Benjamin Whelpley.

Miss Ann Britt of Harrellsville was one of the marshals at the recital, after which a reception was held in the college parlors.

WHATEVER CROP GROWS HERE

THE FARMALL C WILL BE THERE ALL THE WAY!

Grains, grasses, field row crops, vegetables—whatever is planted in this mellow, weed-free seed bed, the new Farmall C Tractor with Touch-Control will be on the job all the way. The Farmall C is shown here with the McCormick-Deering No. 10-A Disk Harrow.

For the Farmall C delivers practical 5-way power: (1) at the drawbar, for pulling trail-behind machines; (2) at its mounting pads, for pushing forward-mounted implements; (3) at the belt pulley; (4) at the power take-off; (5) at the Touch-Control power arms for raising, lowering and regulating mounted implements by hydraulic power. All at surprisingly low operating cost!

Available for the Farmall C is a full line of matched, quick change implement units. New and simple in design, each low cost implement mounts on the tractor to form a compact operating unit. Rear-mounted implements, likewise, are quick change.

Implements for the Farmall C are under the complete, 2-way hydraulic control of the Farmall Touch-Control. The Farmall C pulls one 16-inch or two 12-inch bottoms; cultivates two rows of wide-planted crops. Ask for full information.
