

VFW Meets Snag For War Memorial

Members Say Cooperation Lacking With Legion

According to members of the local VFW Post, the organization has encountered a snag in the plans for the erection of a memorial honoring the war dead of Edenton and Chowan County. In February, 1950, William H. Coffield, Jr., Post, 9280, Veterans of Foreign Wars began making plans for the erection of a beautiful monument on the Court House grounds to honor the battle dead of World Wars I and II. The cost of this erection would be approximately $1500 and the local Post has asked for the release of the Memorial Fund appropriated in 1944 by the County Commissioners and Town Council. This fund of $1,000 plus interest is being held in trust at The Bank of Edenton and the VFW post has offered to take the obligation of paying the balance of the cost if this will be released for the purpose.

A letter of proclamation was read to the County Commissioners and the Town Council asking for the release of the memorial fund for the purpose of honoring the war dead with an appropriate memorial. Both bodies considered the request and advised the local post to contact the other veterans organization in Edenton and decide on the type of memorial wanted, then both organizations appear before them for the official release of the fund.

A committee of VFW members have on two occasions contacted the other veterans organization but cannot get any assistance or cooperation.

It was announced after the VFW meeting Tuesday night that the local post has not given up on their project. However, if some interest and cooperation is not shown by other organizations in the near future the VFW will be forced to alter their plans.

This group of boys are the ones who saw dead heroes fall. They know, as only they can know, why their fallen comrades should be honored; and it was announced by the VFW memorial committee that these boys will have a memorial of some type if the William H. Coffield, Jr., Post, 9280, has to hand carve a monument of wood.

The local post asks the public this question? "Do you want to honor the boys who honored you enough to pay the supreme price for our freedom, your happiness, your peace, your life, or would you like to see us drop our plans?"

The post has no intention of dropping its memorial plans and VFW members are still begging for cooperation in the erection for those who gave so much for so many but have been remembered by so few.

Correspondence and cooperation on this matter will be greatly appreciated by William H. Coffield, Jr., Post, 9280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Edenton, N. C.

Play In Albemarle League Is Halted

(Continued from Page One) tied the score in the fifth. Each team added another run in the sixth inning, with the Colonials breaking the tie and winning the game in the eighth.

Pasteris led at bat for the Colonials with two hits.

In one of the most thrilling games of the season, Plymouth evened the series count on Hicks Field Tuesday night by winning an 11-inning game 2-1. The game developed into a mound duel between Jobey Griffin for the Colonials and Carratt for the Rams. Griffin allowed only six hits during the 11 innings, while the Colonials collected eight safe bingles off Carratt's offerings.

Both teams played a splendid brand of ball before one of the largest crowd of fans during the current season. However, the visitors scored their winning run in the 11th inning on an overthrow at third base.

TAR HEELS DON'T DRINK ENOUGH MILK

AVERAGE YEARLY CONSUMPTION OF MILK PER PERSON

One of the many reasons why North Carolina needs more improved pasture and more livestock on its farms is that consumption of livestock products in the State falls far short of what nutritionists recommend for good health, says D. W. Colvard, head of the Animal Industry Department of the North Carolina Experiment Station.

The State would need half again as much milk if its citizens consumed the amount of milk and dairy products recommended by nutritionists, says Colvard. They recommend 301 quarts of milk or its equivalent in dairy products per person annually. The average person in the United States consumes 284 quarts, but the average in North Carolina is only 228 quarts.

Fluid milk was once a classic example of North Carolina's livestock deficiency. During the past 10 years, local Grade A production has equalled or exceeded the demand during the summer of "flush milk" season. However, to meet the State's needs the year round, says Colvard, dairy herds and the pastures to support them will probably require a further increase.

Grade A milk isn't the only product falling short in State consumption. Only about a fourth of the beef consumed in North Carolina is produced here. About a tenth of the eggs and the poultry products consumed come from out-of-state sources.

Under our present economic system the desire to be self-sufficient is not a justifiable motive, Colvard continues. However, there are other reasons for producing all the livestock products we consume.

Such products are the most perishable foods we have. When they are shipped into the State, sometimes from great distances, they lose some of their flavor and food value. Also livestock products are bulky, meaning that a large part of the price paid for them is transportation charges.
