Vows Spoken In Williamsburg Church Saturday at Noon

Miss Nell Nelson Powell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jess Averett Powell, and Vachal Thomas Cheers, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cheers, were united in marriage Saturday at noon in the Methodist Church at Williamsburg, Va. Only members of the immediate families were present for the ceremony.

The bride wore a powder blue linen dress trimmed in matching satin with a small flowered hat and draped veil pinned at the shoulder with a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. Her accessories were black velvet. For traveling she wore a toast silk shantung suit with brown accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Duke University and of the Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School in New York City. She has recently returned from Europe, where she served as Post Real Estate Officer for the Corps of Engineers in Salzburg, Austria.

Mr. Cheers was graduated from the University of North Carolina and from the Law School of the University of Virginia. He is associated with an investment firm in Richmond, where the couple will make their home.

Demand For Chicks Continues To Be Good

Commercial hatcheries in North Carolina report that April chick output was 4 per cent below April hatchings a year ago. The 7,851,000 chicks hatched in the State during April compare with 7,885,000 hatched a year earlier.

Hatchings during the first four months of 1953 totaled 27,771,000—2.4 per cent greater than the number of chicks produced during the first four months of last year.

The number of chicks produced by commercial hatcheries in the United States during April totaled 301,870,000—4 per cent more than in April last year and 1 per cent above the 1947-51 average.

There was a good demand for chicks for both flock replacement and broiler production during the month. About 9 per cent more chicks were placed in the 11 principal broiler areas during April than in the same month last year.

NORTH CAROLINA GETS HIGH RETURNS ON ITS CONTRIBUTIONS FOR FIGHTING POLIO

In spite of five straight million-dollar plus campaigns in North Carolina, many counties in this State have received from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, "thousands of dollars in excess of every dollar they have raised for this cause."

This fact is revealed by Secretary of State Thad Eure, who served as State Chairman of the 1953 March of Dimes this year, which raised a total of $1,236,000, an increase of more than six per cent over last year's contributions. North Carolina raised 30½ cents per capita, Chairman Eure said.

"During the last five years North Carolina has given a total of $5,784,680 to the polio fight," he reported. "Half of this has remained in local communities for financial help to our own infantile paralysis cases. Large sums of money have come back to North Carolina local chapters from the National Epidemic Aid Fund. In 1948 alone our chapters received back from the National Foundation more than a million and a half dollars, and in 1949 they received $1,040,000. Every year, without fail thousands come back into the State."

Chairman Eure said "North Carolina's mothers and fathers realize, as National President Basil O'Connor says, that this great program, through rapid strides being made on the research front has reached the point where redoubled effort is essential for final victory. They have responded in line with the need."

President O'Connor reports, Chairman Eure continued, that eighty million Americans contributed $51,500,000 in this year's March of Dimes. This is a new record, being 24 per cent higher than the 1952 total, O'Connor said.

Chairman Eure points out that North Carolina is below the national average in per capita contributions, with 30½ cents compared to the national average of 34 cents. Both figures are based on the 1950 census, he added.

The preliminary financial figures showed that all 48 states exceeded their 1952 contributions, with Nevada showing the largest percentage of increase. Other large increases were reported from Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska and New Mexico, O'Connor said. The top per capita figures were recorded by Nevada, which averaged 94 cents, while Wyoming, with 69 cents, and Idaho, with 65 cents, came next in order.

President O'Connor paid tribute to the 2,000,000 March of Dimes volunteer workers who conducted the fund-raising crusade in 100,000 communities throughout the nation.
