

Children's Day At State Fair Oct. 24th

Free Tickets to Be Distributed By School Principals

School children of North Carolina will again this year be guests of the N. C. State Fair on Tuesday and Friday of Fair Week, October 20-24, it is announced by Dr. J. S. Dorton, fair manager. Free tickets, good without payment of any admission tax, will be distributed by their school principals.

Dr. Dorton said that Tuesday, October 20, the opening day of the Fair, has been formally designated as "Wake County School Day" on the fair program, and Friday, October 23, will be "Young North Carolinians' Day."

"We would prefer," the fair manager said, "for Wake County students to use their tickets on Tuesday and for children from other schools to come on Friday to divide the crowds. But, if schools outside Wake County cannot obtain buses or other forms of transportation on Friday we will honor their tickets on Tuesday." Dr. Dorton added that school tickets will not be good on days other than Tuesday and Friday.

The Fair Office has sent out letters to each county and city superintendent asking them how many students from their systems plan to attend the Fair. There are nearly one million school children in the State, including private schools which are also invited, and Dr. Dorton expects nearly 200,000 of them to attend the Fair.

"We are also happy to announce," the fair manager said, "that the Department of Public Instruction school exhibits in the main educational building will be better than ever this year and they occupy the most prominent location in the building. Likewise, a special class for school art exhibits has been established and other divisions of the Fair's premium list have been revised to 'put more accent on youth'."

Dr. Dorton urged school superintendents to return their requests for the free tickets as early as possible so that distribution may be affected in plenty of time for the children and their trip-leaders to plan for transportation.

Whammy Now Checks Speeding On Highways

Speeds on North Carolina highways are being checked by radar. Safe speeds are okay by the electric timer but the Highway Patrol, which is announcing the new enforcement device in signs posted along highways, is most anxious that no visitor to the State get his picture on a Highway Patrol radar showing a traffic law violation. The mounting accident rate on the State's 70,000-mile highway system brought the more rigid traffic law enforcement for the protection of all users.

Legal maximum speed is 55 miles an hour for cars except in specially designated areas where it is set lower because of congestion or special factors. Drivers are asked to be especially cautious in passing schools and school buses, of which North Carolina operates more than any other

EXTRA SPECIAL BUTTER CAKE

This tempting, feather-light, butter cake makes a party! It's an enchanting dessert for any meal. Its delicate flavor and texture are a result of the choice ingredients used. Golden butter carefully blended with sugar, rich milk, fresh eggs, cake flour and other ingredients give the cake a velvety texture.

For best results in cake making, have butter at room temperature, cream until very light. Blend with sugar, adding a tablespoon at a time. Add the other ingredients according to the recipe given.

Layers are put together with an orange custard filling made from the yolks of the eggs. Spread the top and sides of the cake with fluffy whipped cream frosting. Fresh orange sections make the daisy petals on top—with chocolate shot for the center.

BUTTER CAKE: 2 1/4 cups cake flour; 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup butter; 1 1/2 cups sugar; 3/4 cup milk; 1 teaspoon of vanilla; 4 egg whites.

For Frosting
1 cup whipping cream; 2 tablespoons sugar; Chocolate decorations; 2 oranges, peeled and sectioned.

Sift flour, measure; sift 3 times with baking powder and salt. Cream butter until soft and smooth, and gradually blend in sugar. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk in several portions, beginning and ending with flour; beat well after each addition. Stir in vanilla and fold in egg whites which have been beaten stiff. Pour into three, 8-inch cake pans, buttered and lined with wax paper in the bottom. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., for 25 minutes.

Remove to cake racks, let stand for 10 minutes, turn out, and cool before filling and frosting. When cooled, spread orange custard filling (made with the 4 egg yolks left from cake) between layers and cover top and sides with cream which has been whipped until stiff and sweetened with the 2 tablespoons sugar. Sprinkle chocolate shot in center of cake and arrange orange sections around them petal fashion.

IT ISN'T TRUE!

"He's too old to get TB." When you hear anyone make that statement speak right up and say, "It isn't true."

There is no age limit on tuberculosis. The germ can and does attack babies, children, young adults, the middle aged, and the aged.

It is true that TB causes more deaths than any other disease in the age group from 15 to 25. Fifty years ago, tuberculosis was considered a disease primarily of young people. The reason for this may have been partly because in the old days a TB patient didn't have a chance to grow old.

Death within a few months or years was the usual result.

It may also be true that for some reason there is greater susceptibility to tuberculosis infection in adolescence, just as there seems to be greater resistance to the disease in children from five to 15. When TB strikes children under five, it may cause the dreaded tuberculosis meningitis.

In recent years tuberculosis has become more and more a problem of middle-aged and old men. It may be that modern life places especially heavy strains on these men or that they are careless of their general health.

However, a heavy bombardment with TB germs combined with a poor state of health can cause tuberculosis to develop at any age.

Money is not as important as a lot of young people think it is.
