

Final Appeal For Contributions For '57 Easter Seals

County Residents Requested to Help Reach Quota

A final plea went out this week to citizens of Chowan County who have not yet made their contribution to the 1957 Easter Seal campaign.

Ernest J. Ward, Jr., chairman of the appeal in Chowan County, urged residents of the county to participate in the annual campaign so that the society's goal might be reached for this year.

"So much depends upon the success of the appeal," Ward declared. "The future of every crippled child in Chowan County is at stake. The Chowan County Easter Seal Society has accomplished tremendous strides throughout the years, and as few advances in treatment for the handicapped are made, we must keep in step with them, providing the best possible services."

Approximately 90 per cent of the funds raised during the annual Easter Seal campaign finances services within the state where raised. The remainder goes to help support a national program of service, education and research.

Pickle Demonstration Interests Club Women

"How do you make good pickles?" That was the question everyone asked Miss Marjorie Shearin, Food Conservation Specialist from State College, Raleigh, as she prepared to give a demonstration on making pickles at a special Home Demonstration Club meeting.

Miss Shearin said, "Pickle-making begins with the brine, and to carelessly make or carelessly maintain a brine is the reason for most of the soft and unfit pickles." She suggested that they use a stone or glass container for brining pickles and if they used a stone jar to be sure it had not been used before. "Never use a churn that has been used for milk because milk is absorbed in stone and will get in the brine," stated Miss Shearin. She said, "A brine in which a fresh egg just floats is approximately a 10 per cent solution and maintain this per cent through the entire brining period." Those attending the pickle demonstration were Mrs. Roland Evans, Mrs. A. S. Bush, Mrs. Woodrow Lowe, Mrs. Jarvis Skinner, Mrs. H. H. Lane, Mrs. T. L. Ward, Mrs. Gordon Boyce and Mrs. H. I. Ward.

Visitors are always impressed, one way or the other, when they pass through your town or community. They may not have time to stop and enjoy your friendliness and hospitality, but they do have a chance to observe your homes, yards, streets and certain places of interest which may have been called to their attention. They also see the trash dumps and wrecked car lots.

Many things can and should be accomplished by group action but, in my book, nothing can take the place of individual responsibility. This is especially true as far as our immediate home surroundings are concerned. Need we be reminded of our obligations as home owners and parents by: "Clean-up Weeks"; "Paint-up Weeks"; and such proddings? Could not we resolve, as individual citizens, to devote 52 weeks in the year to the improvement of our surroundings? I can think of no better medium of advertising North Carolina. I am not an idealist in this respect. It is just something I would like to see accomplished.

Don't envy your neighbor's pretty lawn and well landscaped grounds! Get in competition with him. It will boost your own morale and please your neighbor no end. Don't have time? One of the busiest men I know has one of the most beautiful homes in our neighborhood and he does all the work himself, with the assistance of an occasional helper.

Since I began writing this column I have been more observant as I travel over the state. A couple of weeks ago I passed through a small town which I have always admired. The homes are well kept, the main street lined with maples, and most of the yards well planted and maintained. A few could stand a little help. While not too bad, they detract from the other by comparison. Get in friendly competition with your neighbor.

Timely reminders: Prune flowering shrubs after blooming. Mow your lawn often and never too close. Top dress your grass with quickly available nitrogen often enough to promote growth and good green color. Side dress leafy vegetables with nitrogen to make them tender and succulent. Keep your sprayer or duster in good condition so that you can keep insects and diseases in check.
