Request Made For More Class Rooms At Negro Schools

Four More Additional Rooms Needed at the Edenton and White Oak Schools

John A. Holmes, superintendent of Edenton schools, and W. J. Taylor, superintendent of the county administrative unit, appeared before the County Commissioners Monday requesting additional class rooms for the colored elementary school in Edenton and the White Oak Consolidated School.

It was pointed out that conditions are very much crowded at these two schools and to remedy the situation it will be necessary to add four class rooms at each school.

It was estimated that the addition of the extra rooms at each school will cost approximately $40,000, and that with the new rooms the needs of the two schools would be met for probably six or seven years.

Both Taylor and Holmes suggested application to the State Literary Fund for the necessary money to construct the additional rooms, to which the County Commissioners readily agreed. The applications, therefore, will be made to secure the funds for this work.

2,534 Are X-rayed At Mobile Unit

During the visit to Edenton of the mass chest X-ray unit, which concluded its work Saturday afternoon, 2,534 people were X-rayed. While those in charge of the project were hopeful that as many as 2,000 would take advantage of this opportunity to be X-rayed, they are very well pleased with the number who turned out.

Unless anyone who was X-rayed is not notified by June 2, it is an indication that nothing was discovered by the X-ray picture. However, those whose picture showed any kind of infection will be notified and requested to have a larger film made for further diagnosis.

According to information from the local Health Department, 3,133 persons were X-rayed when the unit was in Edenton about five years ago. However, at that time the visit was here for a much longer period.

Those in charge of the X-ray visit want to thank all who were X-rayed, as well as members of the various organizations who served as hostesses during the visit.
