REPORTS

From WASHINGTON

Washington — Events in the past two weeks have thrown the tobacco program into a desperate fight for its life.

It has been common knowledge for some time that the tobacco program has been a sore spot with Secretary Benson. It is the only commodity that has proven through the years that it can operate in the black under a system of stable price supports and rigid acreage controls. Tobacco is the only farm commodity that is still supported at 90 per cent of parity, by law, and the tobacco program has proven the weakness of the flexible price support program Secretary Benson has advocated for many years.

Quite naturally, any time a problem comes up in tobacco, Secretary Benson suggests that flexible price supports—or supports based on previous years' market averages—is the answer. Repeatedly, Congress has turned a deaf ear on such suggestions for the simple reason that flexible price supports have all but ruined the other commodity programs.

All along, due to the soundness and success of the tobacco program, it has been the feeling that Secretary Benson would not make a real fight on tobacco. But what has happened in the past two weeks proves that he is determined to revamp the entire tobacco program and do everything in his power to put it under flexible price supports.

Dr. Bruce Whitaker Speaks To Graduates

Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker, president of Chowan College, preached the commencement sermon to the graduates of Edenton Junior-Senior High School in the auditorium Sunday night. The speaker told the graduates to think seriously about the curriculum of life, emphasizing three D's—Democracy, Direction and Diety.

"Despite what you have learned in school and what you know," he said, "you have a difficult life ahead. In your way of living you should have certain ideas and goals and make use of what you have. Democracy is close to the heart of God."

"Know where you are going, and be careful how you get there," said the speaker. "It is important to have goals, but you might have worthy means and take the right road, not using unfair methods and practices. Try the democratic way of life and

The bill I introduced in the Senate to stabilize tobacco price supports, and which was approved by the Senate last week, turned out to be the battleground for Secretary Benson in his efforts to do away with parity supports on tobacco.

Until the last minute, in fact, up until the time the bill was being debated on the floor of the Senate, Secretary Benson had indicated he would go along with it, but reluctantly.

He had stated very clearly to the House Committee on Agriculture that the tobacco freeze bill was an improvement over present law and that it would help to regain many of our foreign markets.

Then, on the day the bill was being debated in the Senate, he sent a letter to Senator Allen Ellender, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, stating flatly that he opposed passage of the legislation.

By taking such a position, he now openly admits that he will accept nothing that he himself has not advocated.

Such an attitude accomplishes nothing, and the action of the Senate in passing by a voice vote the tobacco freeze bill, proves again that it recognized the tobacco program as the most responsible and reasonable part of our entire price support system. In spite of his efforts to destroy it, I am confident that Congress will not allow him to get a stranglehold.

direction, but unless you give your life to Jesus you will never accomplish your goal. You must look to Him who is our Saviour. You cannot do certain things and expect to succeed and you cannot play loosely with fleshly pursuits. Through the medium of service you will find God the best friend you can have. You will be widely separated, but you will find you have only a few true friends, but the greatest friend of all is God as known through Jesus Christ."

20 YEARS AGO

At a meeting of committees from the Lions and Rotary Clubs, Red Men and Masons, a softball league was organized.

Miss Millie Mae Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Saunders, was chosen as Chowan County's 4-H Club Health Queen.

In an effort to appropriately observe Memorial Day a combined memorial service was announced to be held at Beaver Hill Cemetery by Ed Bond Post of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary.

Following six consecutive victories, the Edenton baseball club lost its first game in the Albemarle League to Plymouth.

Over 200 members of Chowan Tribe of Red Men and their wives attended a fried chicken supper at Ernest Lee's restaurant. The meal was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Craig Haste, assisted by a group of Red Men.

Mrs. T. C. White died in a Norfolk hospital following a brief illness.

Superintendent John A. Holmes reported that 98 students in the Edenton school had a perfect attendance record for the year. Flu, mumps and whooping cough greatly reduced the figure, which compared with 161 perfect attendance students the previous year.

C. L. McCullers, band director, announced that he will conduct a summer class for band beginners.

No Comment

Assistant Vice President, Government Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers

"NO COMMENT" is a report of incidents on the national scene, and does not necessarily reflect NAM policy or position.

Washington, D. C. — Economy forces in Washington are now convinced that they have a vastly improved opportunity to hold the line against the astronomical spending programs of the New Dealers.

There are a number of reasons for this increased confidence. Of major importance is the effective "grass roots" campaign against wasteful and unessential government spending stimulated by President Eisenhower and by industry.

Economy advocates are quick to point out that their ultimate success depends on the degree of support received from the people back home between now and the adjournment of Congress. Members of Congress are responsive to such sentiment.

The prospects of obtaining a balanced budget for the fiscal year beginning next July are greatly increased, too, by the strong upward movement of the nation's economy.

Indications are that this will boost the Government's tax revenue considerably above the amount forecast in President Eisenhower's budget message last January.

But the economy advocates emphasize that they want to hold spending to essentials, regardless of the amount of revenue, and use surplus funds for tax reduction or for lowering the national debt.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

BELIEVE AND YOU WILL SEE

"Show me a miracle. Then I will believe," many people say today.

This attitude is the opposite of the Bible teaching on the subject of faith. "Seeing" is not "believing," but "believing" is "seeing!"

The Scripture says, "If thou wouldest believe, thou shouldst see the glory of God" (John 11:40).

When Lazarus died, his sister, Martha, said: "Lord, if you had been here [physically], so I could have seen you, my brother would not have died." Seeing is believing! That is what she thought.

Jesus said, "Believe and you WILL SEE the wonder of what God can do."

"Believe and you will see!" Your eyes can see only what your heart believes. If your mind rejects the possibility of a miracle, then the eyes cannot see a miracle when it happens. God says, "Believing is seeing." True sight is of the soul.

A friend saw a little blind child receive her sight through prayer. He said, "All my life I have believed God can heal.

Now I see it with my own eyes."

When Jesus said, "Blessed are the eyes that see these things," he was speaking of spiritual as well as physical sight.

The Bible teaches us that God is a Spirit. Therefore, while God cannot be seen physically with the eyes, he certainly can be "seen" mentally and felt with the heart by those who have faith and believe that he exists.

Some people do not have to see any visual sign to believe but, unfortunately, many people must see something "concrete" in order to believe.

As the friend mentioned above said, "All my life I have believed. . . Now I see it with my own eyes." He had the ability to exercise his faith.

From his words, he believed "all his life" although he hadn't actually "seen" any miracles happen. But once he DID see the miracle, he gave God the credit . . . because he knew that God has the power to heal.

Oh, that all of us today would turn our faith loose and say, not "show me a miracle and I will believe," but rather, "I believe, and I expect to see a miracle!"

Mr. Eisenhower, encouraged by the prospective increase in tax revenue, has raised his financial sights. In addition to a balanced budget, which he has been advocating for some time, he now wants to begin paying off the debt.

Here are his views, as expressed to a recent news conference: "We are on an upturn in our economy. And at this very time we are talking about a balanced budget like it was something evil. My attitude is entirely different. I say a balanced budget is a minimum target that we are looking for. At this kind of time, we ought to be getting some surplus, we ought to be paying off something on our debt."

There is considerable opinion also that tax rate reform at this time would remove formidable road blocks to further economic expansion. Industry supports identical bills introduced by Representatives Herlong (D-Fla.) and Baker (R-Tenn.) which, among other things, would lower personal and corporation income tax rates to a maximum of 47 per cent by a series of five annual reductions.

Tax rate reform could result for an intensive inquiry into income tax laws to be started on November 2 by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The upturn in the economy, together with an amazing improvement in the employment situation, definitely has taken some of the steam out of the New Dealers' big spending program to combat the late recession.

It is a matter of record that the New Dealers and the AFL-CIO were demanding huge government spending as an anti-recession measure, while the Eisenhower Administration and conservatives in Congress were vigorously resisting such proposals as unessential.

In his budget message last January, Mr. Eisenhower told Congress that "we are now entering a period of national prosperity and high employment" and that continued improvement in business conditions is expected to provide the $77.1 billion budget-balancing revenue which he predicted for the next fiscal year.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower was proved right, at least up to the present time, has made it easier for him more recently to challenge the Congressional attitude toward some of his legislative proposals.

He is bolstered, too, by the knowledge that he frequently can expect support from a coalition of conservative Republicans and Southern Democrats—and that a veto of really drastic legislation would, not likely be overridden by the required two-thirds vote of both branches of Congress.

Plans Progressing For Variety Show

Plans are shaping up nicely for the variety show which is being sponsored by the Center Hill Home Demonstration Club which will be held Friday night, June 26, at 8 o'clock in the Chowan High School auditorium.

The Center Hill Home Demonstration Club has the distinction of being the only organization of its kind to sponsor a Boy Scout troop and Explorer post and proceeds of this show will go to the Explorer post to help defray expenses of five boys to Philmont Ranch in August.

Any person or group who cares to volunteer for this show are requested to contact Mrs. E. P. Jones, Mrs. B. P. Monds or Mrs. H. T. Hollowell, Tyner.
