

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Continued on Page 6 - Section 2 compromise. The good, indeed, in much of our human relationships is possible only through the compromise between two or more opinions of what is good. God's will is the highest possible good in our situation.

But there are many things on which we can find no compromise if we are to be worthy of the present-day conception of Christianity. We must be intolerant of that which injures or in any way hurts human life, wherever and whenever it is found.

For instance, the right of an individual to drink alcoholic beverages is commonly accepted by a large percentage of our population; and yet, 40 to 60 per cent of the automobile accidents, with untold hurt and destruction, is directly traceable to the use of alcohol.

As Christians we need to study the world situation and the problems connected with local, domestic, and national issues. While we cannot be experts in all these fields, as Christian citizens we must decide.
