

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By JAMES H. GRIFFIN, Soil Conservationist

W. E. Bond, Edenton, selected his tobacco land this year using the soil survey map furnished him by the Soil Conservation Service through the local Soil Conservation District. He reports that this is the best tobacco crop he has raised in several years. He says it is one of the few times he has had his tobacco patch in the same type of soil. It works better and ripens alike.

Mr. Bond is revising his conservation farm plan which was prepared in September, 1945. All the conservation practices planned then have been carried out. Technical assistance in preparing the conservation farm plan is furnished by the Chowan Unit, Albemarle Soil Conservation District.

Mr. Bond has planned a grass-based rotation of wheat and fescue for his tobacco acreage. The wheat will be harvested and the fescue left on the land for two summers.

Other conservation practices planned include open ditch and tile drainage, coastal bermuda grass add to his present grazing program, contour rows and new field divisions to get each field as near the same land capability class as possible. Some of his present fields have as many as four land capability classes or soil types all on the same row. He says it's impossible to fertilize and cultivate with so many different conditions in the field.

Grass-Based Rotation

Richard Jackson, Yeopim community, is starting a small grain-fescue rotation for his tobacco this fall. He will seed 20 pounds of fescue per acre mixed with his small grain this fall. Next spring, he will harvest the small grain leaving the fescue through the summer.

According to a tobacco rotation experiment being conducted at the Oxford Research Station, this type of rotation is worth over $100 per acre. It controls nematodes, improves the soil structure, increases the water-holding capacity, and controls erosion.

If you haven't tried fescue in your tobacco rotation, now is the time to seed the fescue and small grain.

Burnt Mill Creek Watershed

E. C. Graham, SCS Assistant State Conservationist, Watersheds, and his party visited Burnt Mill Creek and Pollock Swamp last week following the hurricane. They reported no flood damage on Burnt Mill Creek and plenty on Pollock Swamp. The channels in Burnt Mill Creek were full but not overflowing. Some damage was done by the hurricane such as trees falling in the channels and "washes" caused by improper alignment of culverts and inadequate surface protection. Mr. Graham and his party were well-pleased with the "test" on Burnt Mill Creek.

A contract for the installation of culverts and preparing and seeding of the roadway beside the channels will be let within the next few weeks.

Pollock Swamp Watershed

The planning of Pollock Swamp Watershed has been moved up to October following the trip in the watershed last week. Wallace Goodwin, Chairman of the local landowners, and L. C. Bunch, Chairman of the Albemarle Soil Conservation District, were told by Mr. Graham that the SCS Planning Party was ready to start as soon as the local legal organization was ready. The local legal work is being stepped-up to meet the new deadline of October.

Damage from flooding of cropland was heavy in the watershed. Water crossed the roads and several "wash-outs" occurred.

Fish Ponds

SCS Biologist Ray Smith visited form ponds of M. D. Baker, Tyner, N. C., and A. C. Griffin, Edenton on Friday, September 16. Both ponds had lost most of their fish. A few bass were found in Baker's pond. It was recommended that a stocking of large fish (Bream) be obtained this fall for Baker's pond. Fertilize with 200 pounds of lime and 200 pounds of 8-8-2 fertilizer.

A. C. Griffin's pond water was low in oxygen. It was recommended to apply 25-50 pounds of superphosphate now and to use a motor boat to stir the water to increase the oxygen content.

IT'S HERE...THE NEW UNIFIED HOMEOWNERS POLICY PROGRAM

The new, improved Homeowners Policy provides the basic protection the average homeowner needs on his home, personal property and personal liability. What's more, it can be tailored to meet individual requirements. For example, the Homeowners Policy may now be written to cover a summer home or other secondary residence.

One policy provides the same coverage as four separate contracts — Fire, Extended Coverage, Comprehensive Personal Liability, Theft — and costs 15 to 30 per cent less. Why wait? Let us tell you about it today!
