Between Five and Seven Thousand Will Be Mailed To Individuals on File With Pilgrimage Mailing List

Ten thousand folders rolled off the press of The Chowan Herald last week giving detail information about the 1961 Pilgrimage of Colonial Edenton and Countryside, to be held April 14, 15 and 16th.

Between five and seven thousand of the folders will be mailed to individuals whose names are on file with the Pilgrimage mailing list. This week folders will be distributed locally to service stations, motels, restaurants and other businesses frequented by the traveling public. A large quantity of the folders will be placed from Washington, D. C., south to Charleston, S. C. Any one locally desiring folders to mail to friends are asked to contact Mrs. R. J. Boyce, general chairman.

The black and white folders feature a silhouette of a Colonial soldier standing next to a silhouette of a woman in a long dress. The folders will be distributed locally to

School For Sewing Machine Operators Opens In Hertford

Program Is Expanded To Include People Who Live In Chowan County

A school for sewing machine operators will get under way in Hertford in the very near future, according to Milton Bass, manager of the Edenton office of the North Carolina Employment Security Commission. The school, which was originally limited to residents of Perquimans County, has now been expanded to include residents of Chowan County.

Mr. Bass stated that at the completion of the course, if satisfactory progress is made by the student, work will probably be available as sewing machine operator. The school will be administered by the Perquimans County School Superintendent, J. T. Biggers. Students will be supervised by a qualified instructor who is experienced in needle trades.

The school will be open to women from age 16. Anyone interested in this school, which is free, should contact the Employment Security Commission's Edenton office as soon as possible. The first class will start as soon as enough students are available. The office is located at Room 204, Citizens Bank Building in Edenton.

As Found in the Files of The Chowan Herald

At a meeting of the Albemarle Schoolmasters Club held at the Chowan High School about 75 members in attendance went on record as favoring a nine months school term. A resolution was sent to Senators Herbert Leary and Merrill Evans urging them to give full support of the bill. Information reached Edenton that two National League farm teams would not make Edenton spring training headquarters. Many visitors inspected the remodeled and refurbished lodge room of Unanimity Lodge No. 7, A. F. & A. M., at an open house observance. R. C. Holland headed a delegation of persons present in Washington to the interest of

Deadline Is Nearing To Make Decision On Cotton Acreage

Farmers Should Decide If They Expect To Plant or Release Cotton Acreage

Cotton farmers don't have much longer to decide whether they will plant their cotton acreage or release it. A. C. Griffin, chairman of the Chowan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, expressed the hope that all cotton farmers will get a clear picture of the choice they have to make before the deadline for releasing cotton acreage. Griffin says that he hopes all cotton that will not be planted will be released to the ASC County Committee during high week, February 20-24, or before that time if the farmer has already decided what he intends to do.

Chowan Hospital Gets Money From Duke Endowment

Local Institution Will Receive $1,143 From Fund Distributed to Many Hospitals

The trustees of the Duke Endowment have voted appropriations of $1,111,320.94 for 137 hospitals and 43 child care institutions in North and South Carolina, on the basis of their charitable work during the fiscal year ended September 30, 1960. Thomas L. Perkins, Endowment Chairman, announced late last week.

The latest appropriations—marking the thirty-sixth consecutive year that the Endowment has provided such hospital and child care aid—bring to a total of $31,689.35 the funds furnished by the Endowment for these purposes alone since its creation in 1924.

The latest appropriations are for 96 hospitals and 29 child care institutions in North Carolina, and 41 hospitals and 14 child care institutions in South Carolina.

Hospitals are aided at the rate of one dollar for each free bed day of care rendered and child caring institutions received assistance at the rate of approximately forty-seven cents per day for each day of care rendered orphan and half-orphan children during the fiscal year ended September 30, 1960.

The 137 hospitals received $718,207.00 and the 43 child caring institutions $393,095.94. Additional hospitals whose applications had not been completed will be considered for appropriations at the February meeting of the trustees, it was stated. Among the hospitals to receive an appropriation was Chowan Hospital, which was given $1,143.

Full Agenda Faces Town Council At Monthly Meeting

Town Assessment Policy and Dog Nuisance Again Bob Up For Consideration

Town Council disposed of a goodly amount of business at its meeting held Tuesday night so that Mayor John Mitchener's recent decision to adjourn about 10:30 went by the board and the Town Fathers remained in session until almost midnight.

Dick Dixon, representing the Tourist Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, requested permission to place attractive historical markers on town property in front of various places of interest. His request was granted.

The matter of an assessment policy for water and sanitary sewer again bobbed up and the Councilmen were of the opinion that the Electric & Water Department should submit a proposed policy to replace the one which was rescinded some time back.

Another explosive situation, the dog nuisance, also again claimed the attention of the Councilmen following a number

Honored at Club's Annual Bosses' Banquet Held Last Tuesday Night

Mrs. Lydia Lee Holder Daniels was named "Woman of the Year for 1961" by the Edenton Business and Professional Women's Club at its annual Bosses' Night Banquet held Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple. The announcement was made by Mrs. Lena Leary, who presented the honoree with a dozen red roses.

Mrs. Daniels was born at the Cherry homeplace in Bertie County, the third child of a family of five children. She spent her childhood in Bertie County and was educated in Bertie County schools.

She was married to W. J. Daniels by the Rev. E. S. Barnes in Perrytown, N. C., and in 1919 moved to Edenton, where her husband was employed by the Post Office Department. About this same time she began employment with the J. H. Holmes Company as a clerk and a stock buyer, where she worked for many years.

In the early 1940's Mrs. Daniels became the owner and operator of a retail department store for children known as Tots and Teens, which she successfully operated until she retired a few years ago.

For the most of her adult life she has taught a Sunday School class at the Edenton Baptist Church, where she is still an active member. She also sang in the church choir for many years and was most active in Missionary Society work.
