

Ahoskie Indians Topple Edenton Aces From Crown Of Albemarle Conference

Hard Fought Game Friday Night Thrills Big Crowd of Spectators on Hicks Field

In one of the most exciting and hard-fought games ever witnessed on Hicks Field the Ahoskie Indians on Friday night defeated Edenton's Aces 13-7. The victory won for the Indians the Albemarle Conference championship, an honor held by the Aces for seven years which included 34 conference games.

It was a case of two well coached and capable teams playing their heart and soul out to win the game, with Ahoskie getting a break which prevented a tie score and probably an upset loss. The big break against the Aces came early in the third quarter when Carroll Forehand grabbed an Ahoskie punt and raced 79 yards for a touchdown. The play was called back, however, because a twelfth Edenton player had not gotten off the field in time. The touchdown would have tied the score with the possibility of making an extra point for an Edenton victory.

The Indians invaded Hicks Field highly favored to easily win the game by four or five touchdowns, but it was not long until they realized they would not have such easy sailing. The Aces scored first early in the second quarter on a sustained drive from their own 28-yard line with Richard Dixon going through the Ahoskie line like a battering ram to chalk up the major portion of the yardage. Forehand, too, added considerable yardage, with Wayne Ashley also gaining on a few tries. Forehand skirted left end from the 3-yard line to score. His kick for the extra point was good.

Just a few minutes before the end of the half the Indians knotted the score after Forehand kicked out on the Ahoskie 46. A pass was good to the Aces' 24 and another pass carried to the 13. On the third play Capps, with good blocking, raced around left end to score and Brett's kick was good to make it 7-7 at half time.

The Indians went ahead about midway of the third quarter. On a punt return Forehand electrified the crowd with a 79-yard run, which was nullified and the ball turned over to Edenton.

Biological Laboratory Predicts Prospects Now Appear Bright For Profitable Rock Fish Season

The U. S. Biological Laboratory at Beaufort, in cooperation with North Carolina State College, has obtained information over a period of five years which now provides predictions of future success which should be of interest to the commercial fishing industry in Albemarle Sound.

James E. Sykes, chief of Atlantic coast striped bass research for the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, released the information jointly with Dr. William W. Hassler, associate professor of zoology at N. C. State College. The research program consisted of trawling young stripers for indices of abundance, tagging adult fish for estimates of population strength and sampling size and age of fish in commercial catches.

The catch of striped bass in North Carolina consists largely of two and three-year-old fish. During the years of study prior to 1960 these two age groups combined represented from 79 to 98 per cent of the total catch in Albemarle Sound each year. On the basis of data from these years, it was predicted by the striped bass researchers that the two age groups would comprise in weight 93.2 per cent of the catch in the fishing season September, 1960, through April, 1961. When all the facts were in, the actual percentage was found to be 93.7. A total population prediction was that there would be 1,912,900 pounds of fish available to the fishery (total striped bass in the sound).

Information About Edenton's Bond Election On November 21

This is the third article in a series of five, written by City Council members explaining why we are going to vote YES on the forthcoming sewer bond vote on November 21, 1961.

There are still many citizens who regard a sewage processing plant as the one municipal improvement which brings in no revenue, as compared with the waterworks or the electric light plan. This supposition is far from accurate. An analysis of the facts shows that by complying with the pollution abatement program, the town will receive large and permanent dividends in the form of increased property value, new industries, more building, improved health and better living conditions.

Attracting good industry to this town has always been the hope of business men and public officials. Efforts in the past have been handicapped, because most industries will locate only where there is adequate sanitary sewage for the disposal of industrial wastes. Owners of industry know that the health of their employees has a direct relation to the health of the community.

Civil Defense Planning Key To Survival

By MURRAY D. ASHLEY
Chowan-Edenton Civil Defense Director

Much has been said during the last several months regarding civil defense and the need for fallout shelters. I must say now that I do not wish to become engaged in a verbal battle via this column as to the necessity for such planning. I only wish everyone would stop, think and ask yourself this question: If you should hear these words, Take Cover, Red Alert, What Would You Do? Where Would You Go? Who Would You Turn To? It is my intention to provide the answers to these and other questions you may have about your civil defense program.

Our program of civil defense is in its early stage in Edenton and Chowan County. There is much work to be done. When completed the county plan will involve some four hundred or more people who will have a direct assignment in civil defense. I will not be able to completely outline the entire program through this column, but if you can work with you in any way please call at the civil defense office located in the Johnson Building on the corner of
