

AROUND THE FARMS IN CHOWAN COUNTY

By C. W. OVERMAN, Chowan County Agent

Four Referendums Next Tuesday Will farm people recognize their privilege and assume their responsibility to go to the polls and vote next Tuesday? Will the vote cast represent the desire of the people or the desire of a few who showed interest?

These questions will be answered when the votes are tallied on Tuesday night. The count will show how many of the over 1,000 eligible voters were interested enough to cast their ballots.

The four referendums to be voted on are Peanut Assessment, Cotton Marketing Quota, Tobacco Assessment, and Tobacco Assessment. Growers of these crops are eligible to vote on the crop they grow.

Tobacco and cotton growers will determine whether they want marketing quota and acreage allotment programs continued on these crops.

Peanut growers will determine whether they want to continue assessing themselves two cents per bag or 100 pounds to

Let's keep America strong by going to the polls and voting next Tuesday, December 12.

Polling places for Community "A", largely constituting Yee-pim, Edenton, Advance and Enterprise, are the ASCS Office and Grover Cates Store. Kocky Hock, Cross Roads and Center Hill constitute Community "B", and will vote at Earl Smith's Store and M & R Service Center. Community "C" includes Ryland and Gliden with polling places at H. R. Peele's Store and Lloyd Briggs' Store.

Hog Killing Time Is Here: Hog killing time is here and the weather is right. We should expect good meat curing weather for several weeks.

Remember, it takes 40 to 50 days in cure for hams, depending on size, and another 40 to 50 days for the salt to equalize thoroughly. This means we need 75 to 100 days of good curing weather to be sure hams will have high quality and keep.

Extension Circular No. 405 entitled "Curing Hams Country Style" is available at our office. Call, write, or come get a copy. It covers information on the type hog to select, chilling carcass, cutting out, uniform cure, salt equalization, smoking, preventing insect damage and many other proven practices and suggestions.

Get all the facts you can on the referenda affecting the crops you grow. Study these facts carefully. This is America.

Limit Is Raised On Buying U. S. Bonds

Effective January 1, 1962, the purchase limit on Series H Savings Bonds by any one buyer in any calendar year will be raised to $20,000. Since 1957, $10,000 has been the annual limit.

The annual limit on both Series E and H Bonds was reduced from $20,000 to $10,000 on May 1, 1957, after having been set at the higher figure in 1952. The new ruling will not change the present limit of $10,000 on Series E bonds (face value) for any calendar year.

Interest on these bonds is payable by check semi-annually and amounts to an investment yield of 3 3/4% when held for the full ten years to maturity.

"Both Series E and Series H Bonds can be purchased through commercial banks in North Carolina, which handle Savings Bonds sales as a patriotic service to their country," Mr. Andrews said.
