

Frankly Speaking

By FRANK ROBERTS

More Notes on Various Subjects: With the closing (again) of the Sunoco station, look for an end to the gas wars for quite a while.

Will Hobowsky open a new store in the old location? Quite possible.

The Goodyear Service Store grand opening is being covered by WCDJ. We're broadcasting from there every afternoon at 1:15, with movie passes and records to all we get the chance to talk to.

Next piece of local modernization: the police station.

Don't forget the Aces' games and Carolina football. Both will be broadcast every Saturday over WCDJ. The latter will be live.

The Chowan County Fair comes up first week in October this time with completely new shows and games from an organization in Pennsylvania different from that which previously visited us. The understanding is better family entertainment.

Good luck, Aces. Good luck, Coach McGee.

How did Life magazine find out about Jimbo's Jumbos. The people at J. J. got a long distance call from New York. Through a bad connection, questions were asked, answers given. No identification as to the caller... but several weeks later, Life had a few items about Jimbo's Jumbos.

Speaking of magazines, publishers of those periodicals have really had to struggle to keep alive. So-called men's magazines have been doing fairly well, although new mags come and go so quickly. Life and the Saturday Evening Post have changed their formats, both for the better. The Post has become more controversial and Life has taken on the aspects of adult presentations, at times, resembling Playboy in its content. So far as Life magazine is concerned, though, their change has been most effective, text and pictures more exciting and interesting.

The young lady who sings the current number one song, "Lo-co-Motion," is little Eva. She hails from Belhaven. More on her in a latter column. Kind of an interesting story.

Closing Thought: People who are always taking care of their health are like misers, who are hoarding up a treasure which they have never spirit enough to enjoy.

Harry Lassiter, Jr. At Fort Jackson

Continued from Page 1, Section 1 will be introduced to a wide variety of infantry skills, along with intensive physical conditioning. He will attend classes in the traditions of the service, character guidance and the role of the Army in the world today. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict. During his seventh week of training, he lives in the field under conditions similar to a combat zone. Here, moving over rough terrain, he has a chance to participate in realistic combat situations and to apply his newly acquired skills.

Basic training is climaxed by a graduation review before the commanding general of Fort Jackson. Outstanding performances are recognized in a ceremony that is open to parents and invited guests.

More Than Words

"I don't like your dog. Every time I come he barks and I don't trust him. I'd come of tenger if it wasn't for your dog." "A dog," said the host without blinking, "is man's best friend."
