

SENATOR Sam Ervin SAYS

Washington—Congress is prepared to conclude its work for this session. Senate action on the much-talked-about Trade Bill, and House action on the Farm and Foreign Aid Bills have paved the way for adjournment. As this week began, the Senate and House had yet to act on a number of conference reports and legislative bills, but quick action could come on most of them. These included Senate consideration of the Farm, Foreign Aid, and Postal Revision-Employee's Pay bills.

Trade Bill—Last week the Senate passed the Trade Bill by a 78 to 8 vote. I voted for a number of amendments to the bill which were defeated. I regarded these provisions as necessary protections for American workers and industries. On final passage I voted for the bill, because I am convinced that trade is the lifeblood of commerce between nations.

Under the bill the President receives authority to cut our tariffs as much as 50 percent over the next five years. It allows the President to cut tariffs further on products which the United States and Western Europe account for practically all of the world market. It empowers tariff negotiators to bargain on groups of commodities whereas heretofore they have bargained on an item by item basis. The bill grants certain loans to eligible import affected industries, and unemployment benefits to workers who lose their jobs by reason of import competition. This provision was highly controversial because it could prove extremely difficult to determine when an industry has unemployment by reason of imports and when the unemployment arises for other reasons.

The success or failure of the Trade Act of 1962 will depend upon how it is administered. If the administrators are unrealistic in their approach, if they do not fight for American trade outlets, if they do not drive good bargains for American industries, the bill could create more problems than it solves. Properly administered the Act can help American trade.

The Trade Act of 1962 like any trade bill has many limitations. It cannot take the place of wise tax policies, nor prudent governmental operation within federal budgets, nor cooperation by labor and management to allow American products to compete with foreign goods. The attitude that develops in these related policies certainly will affect American trade also in the years to come.

Higher Education Bill—On September 20, the House voted to recommit the Higher Education Bill to a Senate-House conference. This probably means that no further action will be taken on this bill at this session of Congress. House debate indicates that the House took this action because a substantial percentage of its members are convinced that the bill violates "the establishment of religion clause" of the First Amendment in that it authorizes loans and grants to church-owned and church-controlled institutions of higher learning.

When this bill was before the Senate some months ago, I anticipated that it would probably meet this fate if its proponents insisted on keeping in the bill the provisions extending the benefit of federal tax monies to church-owned and church-controlled institutions of higher learning. It was for this reason that I sought in vain at that time to persuade the Senate to adopt an amendment which would have restricted aid of this character to publicly-owned and publicly-controlled universities and colleges.

Plans Complete For Chowan Fair

nearly complete according to W. A. Perry, president of the fair, sponsored by the Edw. G. Bond Post No. 40 of the American Legion.

Wednesday has been designated as school day and 10,000 tickets have been distributed in Chowan and surrounding counties.

The Reithoffer Show, here for the first time, will have 16 rides with some especially for children, 40 concessions and five side shows.

Over 1,200 cash prizes valued at $2,000 will be offered for individual exhibits. There will be 15 non-commercial booths competing for the grand champion trophy and about 20 commercial booths are expected to have displays.

The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will operate a kitchen, popcorn will be sold by the Edenton Business & Professional Women's Club, the Center Hill Home Demonstration Club will have a food booth and the Edenton Jaycettes will specialize in cakes and pies.

For the first time craft demonstrations will be held each afternoon and night beginning Tuesday night by members of the Chowan Home Demonstration Clubs.

All exhibits are to be entered on Monday and the judging will take place Tuesday. There are 20 departments for various entries. Perry said, he hoped to have a large number of quality exhibits from the town and county.

"So make your best and enter it in the fair and do your best not to miss the Chowan County Fair," says Mr. Perry.

Aces Preparing To Play Scotland Neck

should be a decided underdog. They played a 6-6 tie game with Williamston's Green Wave, who were easily defeated by the Aces 4-0 last Friday night.

However, Coaches Jerry McGee and Billy Hardison are not taking too many things for granted, so that the Aces are going through stiff practice sessions this week in order to be ready for an inspired group of "Fighting Scots".

The Aces came through Friday night's game unscathed so that, barring any injuries during practice sessions, they should be in tip-top shape physically.

The band and cheerleaders, of course, will also be ready for the game in order to add color and entertainment for the spectators. The game will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and it is hoped a large number of fans will turn out to watch the Aces display their wares.

OUTDOOR TIPS

from the Ancient Age Sportsman's Idea Exchange

DEER TIP

Here's a canny way to outsmart an old buck that's lived long enough to know all the standard tricks. Get to know this oldster well by walking up on his bed and noticing carefully the route he prefers to escape by. Then (oh, this is a dirty trick) the day before season opens, wrap an alarm clock in plastic, set the alarm for 8:30 A. M., and conceal it in his bedding area. Next morning at 3, settle down on escape route, wait for the alarm to scare Big Boy your way.

STORE FISH HOOKS

Safety pins make excellent storage bins for loose fish hooks. Size variety lets you match right size pin to right size hook.

CAMPERS MEDICINE WARNING

Person medicine can be dangerous to others. Guard against the possibility of someone fishing a headache pill out of pack bag by feel and in the dark taking a deadly dose. Glue sandpaper to the sides of the bottle. Can't be mistaken for other bottles or jars. Helps you locate bottle without emptying pack.

HOW TO PHOTOGRAPH A RATTLESNAKE

Won't vouch for this one. We haven't tried it. Don't have any intention to. In fact we won't even go along when you try it. Thus disclaiming positively that if you like to photograph rattlesnakes that's your business (but we think you're nuts), we submit the following: Soak a burlap bag in water and leave it until it makes a damp spot on ground. Then cut a 2-inch by 8-inch slit on one top. Upright box and place over damp spot (so snake can crawl in slit). Set camera about 4 feet in front of box on side opposite to slit. Wait until rattler crawls in to seek out dampness. Then tap on box with a stick in front of camera lens. Have someone lift box away from opposite end. (This is the job we don't want). According to experts, the rattler will be there coiled right where he should be to get his portrait taken. You should live so long!

DIRTY TREES

Parents camping in pine, or gum tree areas will appreciate this one. A quick trip tacking newspapers at small fry height around the dirtiest trees will keep the kids cleaner, won't hurt the trees and the local newspaper office will like the display.

October 4, 5 And 6 Are Proclaimed As 'Hero's Island' Days

Theatre-goers in this area will be interested to learn that the outstanding picture "Hero's Island" will be shown at the Taylor Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 4, 5 and 6. In the cast are such stars as James Mason, Kate Manx, Neville Brand, Rip Torn, Warren Oates, Brendan Dillon, Robert Sampson, Dean Stanton, Morgan Mason, Darly Hinton, Robert Johnson, Bill Hart and John Huddkins.

The picture was filmed on Catalina Island, 20 miles off the coast of Southern California. The island is a world-famous playground, but tourist activities are confined to the city and bay of Avalon. Producer-director-writer Leslie Stevens took cast and crew to the primitive wilderness areas of the island, never open to the public, and there they filmed the exciting story.

So outstanding is this picture that Mayor John Mitchener has issued a proclamation setting aside Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 4, 5 and 6 as "Hero's Island" days in Edenton in the hope that many people will see the picture.

Let it thereby be known far and wide through these United States, that I John A. Mitchener, Jr., Mayor of the City of Edenton, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 4, 5 and 6 in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty two, as HERO'S ISLAND Day throughout the City of Edenton.

JOHN A. MITCHENER, JR.,

Edenton, North Carolina

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN NORTH CAROLINA 2,000 ill-equipped Confederates made a gallant defense of Roanoke Island against 15,000 Union invaders with an armada of 80 vessels. Ratons of beer were enjoyed by soldiers of both armies during the war—just as North Carolinians today continue to find pleasure in beer.

For then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry contributes more than 8 million tax dollars to North Carolina each year—money that helps support our hospitals, schools, and highways.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.
