A LIFT FOR TODAY

All power is given into me in heaven and in earth.—Mark 28:18.

Only a risen Christ could affirm—"He who believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live and whoever lives and believes in me shall never die."

Our loving Father, may the Easter life—eternal life—begin in each one this very day.

Law Enforcement And The Press

Law enforcement and the press, in their separate pursuits, have an essential relationship in helping to preserve our nation's priceless heritage, says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in connection with the observance of National Newspaper Week, which will be observed October 14 through 20. "Freedom of the press is one of the indispensable adjuncts of a democracy," says Mr. Hoover. "Our forefathers felt so strongly on this point as to enact constitutional safeguards, stating, 'Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press . . .'" The American people, not the newspaper editors and publishers, are the real beneficiaries of this honored principle.

"The free flow of legitimate information, unshackled by censorship, is a basic right not always fully appreciated by the public. Without it our society, as we know it, could not long survive.

"Misinformation and suppression of news are deadly enemies of a free people. In our world today these dangers are exploited by those who would destroy our way of life. Accordingly, the newspaper's role in keeping the public informed becomes increasingly significant.

"Integrity in journalism, as in law enforcement, cannot be a matter of percentages. It must be complete and impregnable. As guardians of American liberty, the press and the police are charged with a sacred trust. Operations which closely affect the lives of millions of people must be exemplary and above reproach.

"In addition to its innate responsibilities, the press is morally obligated to promote the furtherance of justice and the perpetuation of law and order. Indeed, much of the progress of our profession has made in raising its standards to professional status is directly attributable to the support of editors and publishers who recognize the need for effective law enforcement. On occasion, to be sure, the penetrating eyes of the press have spotted evidence of abuse of authority and corruption within enforcement ranks. However, fair and objective reporting of such matters has proved to be beneficial to both law enforcement and society.

"Actually, most public service campaigns conducted by newspapers aid the enforcement of law. Such worthy causes as traffic safety, slum clearance, drives against obscenity; and promotion of youth programs are a few examples. This is in addition to the gratifying results achieved by the press, and other news media, in locating fugitives from justice. For instance, since the inception of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" program, more than one-third of 157 criminal apprehended were located as a result of publicity.

"It is only fitting, therefore, that we of law enforcement join in special tribute to the Fourth Estate during National Newspaper Week, October 14 through 20. As America's first line of defense, law enforcement is fully aware of the contributions to the welfare of our country made by conscientious editors and newsmen. We have come to welcome and to depend on their competent cooperation.

"In discharging its responsibilities, law enforcement could not wish for a greater ally."

There's No "Right" To Steal

It is reported that passage of a foreign aid bill restriction against seizures of American property abroad has become a likely prospect. The provision would cut off aid to any nation which seizes property owned by United States citizens and does not take adequate and proper steps toward fair compensation or arrange for settlement.

It's hard to see how anyone can oppose such a policy. Foreign governments, including those which are communist dominated, have cynically confiscated American properties of huge value—namely utility and oil companies—and either paid nothing, or made payment

Jack Thomas, general manager of Perlin Packing Company, was the principal speaker at last week's Rotary meeting, when he spoke about the activities and plans at the former Edenton Marine Auxiliary Air Station. The company purchased about 234 acres, a portion of which will be used in preparing cattle for slaughter at the company's plant in Norfolk. Mr. Thomas gave some idea of the magnitude of the operation which is expected to eventually handle 40,000 head of cattle. It was a very enlightening and informative talk as Mr. Thomas went into detail how the cattle and their keep would be handled. An interesting remark made by Mr. Thomas was that here in the east folks desire western beef (if they can cough up enough cash) and out west the folks want eastern beef. Wonder what the difference is anyway!

Edenton's Aces looked like many previous editions Friday night when they ran rough shod over the Williamston Green Wave to the tune of 41-0. Wayne Ashley, Hiram Mayo, Harry Spruill, Douglas Sexton, H. L. Edwards and Dickie Cobb looked very good in the backfield. Though not so heavy, this sextet made up for their lack of weight in speed, so that they easily outran the Williamston boys. Young Sexton, too, has the earmarks of an asset long lacking with the Aces. He made five attempts to kick for the extra point after touchdowns, and four times the ball sailed perfectly between the uprights. Here's one who remembers several games the Aces lost due to that extra point, so that maybe Sexton's educated toe will help materially in making that precious point. The line, too, proved a virtual stone wall for the Williamston ball carriers, with big Hurley Mitchell figuring on most of the plays through the line. Friday night the Aces will seek a second conference victory when they meet Scotland Neck on Hicks Field. The following Friday night the Aces are scheduled to meet their arch football rival, the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets on the latter's gridiron. Wish it were possible to save some of the points scored against Williamston to use against the Yellow Jackets. To be sure a large crowd from Edenton will be on hand to see the game.

More and more I hear women expressing more or less dismay about their weight (Yep, at home, too) and concern about what to do to prevent the addition of avoirdupois. In this connection I read the other day that when a woman refuses to tell her weight, you can be sure she weighs a hundred and plenty.

With all the talk and reading matter about speeding on the highways, did you ever notice that no matter how fast you drive, someone is always ahead of you?

Time was when a fellow knew just about every teacher in the schools in Chowan County. But of late years here's one who does not know quite a few of them (of course everybody knows Miss Lena Jones). So, in order for at least every Rotarian to know the teachers, a banquet will be held tonight (Thursday) in the Masonic Temple, when the teachers will be special guests of the Rotarians. The teachers will, no doubt, be introduced by Cecil Fry, Ernest Swain and R. H. Copeland so if we don't get to know them, we will get a squirt at them. Rotary Annes will also be guests of their husbands, so that they will, of course be on their good behavior—even Izzy Campen.

Sometimes it's a pain in the neck to be Mayor of Edenton, but then sometimes, apparently, it pays off. For instance Mayor John Mitchener was among the crowd on hand Thursday night at the Chowan County Farm Bureau's annual meeting. A delicious fried chicken dinner was served and the Mayor "just happened" to get the largest half chicken than anyone at the table I was sitting. Yep, he got rid of it all.

Something went wrong with the loud speaking system at Friday night's football game, so that Rudolph Dail—could not give a running account of the game until near the end of the first half. Thanks to Carlton Jackson, the rig was fixed up so that Rudolph could inform the spectators what was going on down on the field. Hope the thing is in working order Friday night, for what's a football game without a band, cheerleaders, a loud speaker and, of course, hot coffee like the weather was Friday night. Two things will surely happen next Friday night—I'm taking coffee and the Missus is taking a heavy blanket to help keep warm.
