

Firemen Called Three Times During August

Fire Chief W. J. Yates reports that during August Edenton firemen were called out three times, twice in Edenton and once out of town. For the Edenton fires the firemen were out 45 minutes and an hour and 40 minutes out of town. They were on the air 10 seconds in both Edenton and out of town.

For the Edenton fires the firemen traveled one mile and six miles out of town. No hose was laid in Edenton but 450 feet was used out of town.

In Edenton 25 volunteer firemen responded and 20 for the out of town fire. Property involved in Edenton was estimated at $4,700 and $1,500 out of town. No damage was reported in town but out of town it was $1,500 at a tobacco barn on Clarence Lupton's farm. Insurance in town was $3,500 and none out of town.

During the month the firemen held one fire drill, answered two still alarms, answered two rescue calls and refilled two fire extinguishers.

Farm Facts

Per capita consumption of processed vegetables (on a fresh equivalent basis) may exceed consumption of fresh vegetables in 1961, the U. S. Department of Agriculture notes.

Consumption of processed vegetables has been rising in the past few years and that of fresh vegetables has been falling. Fresh vegetable consumption fell off 15 per cent from 1947-49 through 1957-59. Use of processed vegetables increased 23 per cent.

Consumption of canned vegetables increased 13 per cent and that of frozen vegetables more than doubled. Per capita consumption of fresh vegetables totaled about 301 pounds in 1960 and that of processed vegetables was about 69 pounds (fresh equivalent).

The most striking change in the ten-year period was in the increased popularity of frozen vegetables. Use of frozen vegetables, excluding potatoes, increased from 4 per cent of total vegetable consumption to about 8 per cent, and all major frozen vegetables shared in the growth.

We soon may be eating more processed vegetables than fresh ones.

Over-all per capita consumption of commercially produced vegetables remained stable, at around 200 pounds a year.

FOOTBALL

Football time is here again. All over the land American males are tossing and kicking and running with footballs, all the way from the eight-year-olds in the backyard to junior and senior high and college teams to the big bruisers of the professional leagues.

Football is a rough contact sport and inevitably will produce its full quota of bumps and bruises, strains and sprains, cuts and gashes. Most of these aren't serious and the lads concerned are back in the game shortly.

A thorough physical examination is highly important for boys preparing to go out for football. Take your boy to the family doctor and ask him to make certain that the lad has no physical conditions that should be noted before he begins the rigorous training and hard knocks of the game.

Proper physical conditioning hardens the body and increases resistance to fatigue; thus helping to prevent injury. A minimum of three weeks of conditioning are recommended prior to the first game of the season. Coaches and doctors are alert to the fact that many injuries occur when the player is tiring and thus less alert. The coaches are quick to make substitutions when a player begins to slow down.

Careful coaching enables the players to perform better and thus become less prone to injury. Most of the regular school teams have proper coaching today, and the coaches are more than ever before alert to methods of safeguarding their players from injury.

Good officiating makes for better games and also helps to protect players. Officials in the organized schoolboy and college leagues must meet careful standards. Proper equipment and facilities also are important to reduce injuries. Schools sometimes fall down in this respect by using worn and decrepit equipment for practice sessions and for the B-team players. Pads that slip out of place leave knees and shoulders unprotected.

Good medical care, with a physician in attendance for practice drills and games, is a final major factor in cutting down on serious injuries.

If your boy is playing with an organized school team, the chances are good that all of these safeguards are observed. If most of his playing is done on a vacant lot in the afternoons and on Saturdays, it becomes the parents' responsibility to see that the player has good equipment and that he quits before becoming too tired.
