

Bible Land Tour

enchanted to us, filled as they were with scenes depicting past events in Swiss history. There were gorgeous roses and geraniums blooming everywhere, making a riot of color. We all quite lost our hearts to the beauty of Switzerland. The next day we left for Interlaken, going over hairpin curves, switchbacks and the like, by Furka Pass, stopping for lunch at a lovely Swiss chalet where wine was much more plentiful than water. On our return trip we walked through the immense blue-white Rhone Glacier, going through the Grotto entrance, all of which was quite interesting and awe-inspiring.

We were on board our Swiss airplane about an hour and then landed near the city of Paris. That night some of us had a long boat ride on the River Seine, seeing so many of the famous places, such as Notre Dame and the Eiffel Tower brilliantly spotlighted. The next day we visited the Louvre which is a huge building built in a quadrangle shape with lovely gardens, holding so many art treasures. Among the most famous we saw were the Mona Lisa, painted by Da Vinci, 1501-1505; the Winged Victory, a marble statue found in a Greek island; Venus de Milo and a huge painting, Napoleon Crowned by Josephine. The Louvre is being scrubbed to a lovely cream color, a decided contrast to the drab smoke color it was before. This was the first time it has been cleaned in 300 years.

We were enchanted at lovely Versailles Palace, 18 miles from Paris. We saw the table in the beautiful Hall of Mirrors where the peace treaty was signed following World War I. There were gorgeous gardens, lakes and statuary. There are stables for 2,500 horses and carriages across from the entrance to the palace. These were used during the reigns of the emperors.

In London we visited John Wesley's Chapel which has a statue of him out front. This visit was by way of being almost a pilgrimage tour for most of us Methodists, as John Wesley was the founder of Methodism. We visited his home which is still kept as it was when he was living there. An inscription said: "The World Is My Parish." We saw huge St. Paul Cathedral where Wesley had attended services. Then down the street at Aldersgate he joined a small group meeting of Moravians and felt "his heart strangely warmed." It was after this experience that he began preaching. He was given credit for so changing England that the bloody revolution of France was averted there.

We visited the Tower of London built by William the Conqueror in 1099, London Bridge across the Thames River and saw the changing of the guards at Buckingham Palace. British weather is notably foggy and cloudy but we had lovely weather. They say that it takes only three or four sunny days to make a summer for them. We saw immense Westminster Abbey where the ruling kings and queens of England are crowned; also Big Ben, Parliament House and 10 Downing Street. That night we saw a very quaint stage play, "Oliver," by Lionel Bart and adapted from "Oliver Twist."

Our next day was spent in Shakespeare's country, Stratford on Avon. On our way there by motor coach, we visited famous Oxford University and some of the colleges. We passed Blenheim, Churchill's home, all towers and turrets. The grounds are all walled in. After visiting Stratford, Shakespeare's home, we went to the home of his wife, Anne Hathaway. This has a thatched roof and a yard full of old fashioned flowers. Every room in the house is on a different level. On our way back to London we had a huge tea consisting of buttered bread, jam, bannbury tarts, tiny decorated cakes and, of course, being in England, the ever-present tea. This lovely meal was served at an inn in Banbury, where the famous Banbury tarts originated.

Our luck of lovely weather broke on our last day in England. We had hoped for a few hours of shopping before we left but a heavy downpour of rain put an end to that. We left London on schedule, however, by TWA jet for a seven hour flight to New York. While cruising at 35,000 feet altitude, we watched a Rock Hudson movie on our way home. After reaching Idlewild Airport we had to circle the field about 45 minutes due to so much air traffic before we could get clearance to land.

It was Augustine who said: "The world is one great book but they who never stir from home read only one page." We feel that we have read another page in this great book, but we will not be satisfied until we have read more.
