

What Have We To Be Thankful For?

By TERRY JONES

That men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! Psalm 107:21.

As we view the world in this thanksgiving season and see that man has made of man we might ask ourselves, "What have we got to be thankful for?" And for a fleeting moment this may seem a logical question. Yes, our young President has been slain, we are cringing under the iron hand of atomic weapons, a large part of the world is hungry, we are filled with tension and stress. But we still have a mountain of blessings to be thankful for. For instance most of us have such things as homes, families, good health and friends. But we also have many other things we never stop to see with the mind's eye. We all share the beauty of a winter's first snow, the first blossom of Spring, a baby's smile. We all live in the greatest country of freedom in the world. If we are Christians we share a faith in living forever, in an ever present God and the redeeming power of Jesus Christ. So this Thanksgiving day forget the world's troubles and turn to Heavenly Father and say, "Thank you God for the truly great things in life."
